

What is the LIFE Institute Jack Brown Award?

This award was created in recognition of The LIFE Institute, one of the largest program partners in The G. Raymond Chang School of Continuing Education at Ryerson University, in memory of Jack Brown, past President, for his dedication and commitment to lifelong and high quality of learning for older adults.

The award will provide financial support to students registered in a certificate program at Ryerson University's G. Raymond Chang School of Continuing Education who are committed to studies and activities designed to improve the life of seniors in the community at large.

What is the value of the LIFE Institute Jack Brown Award?

Each recipient will receive a cash award of $1,000.00 to be deposited directly to their student's tuition fee account.

Who is eligible to apply?

To be eligible to apply for the LIFE Institute Jack Brown Award you must meet all of the following criteria:

1. Be registered in a certificate program or in a Gateway for International Professionals program at The Chang School
2. Be a Canadian Citizen, Permanent Resident, or Protected Person (with valid PPSD)
3. Be pursuing an interest in and/or can demonstrate involvement in studies or activities which enhance the quality of life for seniors
4. Can demonstrate financial need (see Part 5 - Financial Information)

Who is ineligible to apply?

You are ineligible to apply if you have received the reward in the past.

How will students be selected?

Students will be evaluated and ranked according to the following criteria:

- Demonstration of involvement in studies or activities which enhance the quality of life for seniors (see Part 4 – Additional Information to Include With Application)
- Demonstration of financial need (see Part 5 - Financial Information)

Students are expected to be honest in providing information on the application and in any subsequent discussions. If there is clear evidence that a student has misrepresented their circumstances or achievements, the award will be refused or withdrawn.
