Accounting

Whether you want to learn the fundamentals of accounting, progress to a more advanced level, earn a professional designation, or develop expertise in specialized business applications, the following accounting courses, along with the courses listed under Finance and Financial Planning, will meet your needs.

Accounting

All CACC course fees include a $10 fee for materials. For further information, see Material Fees. Related certificate(s): Accounting – Finance, Business Management I, Business Management II, eBusiness, Facility Management, Financial Management in Canada, Financial Planning, Hospitality and Tourism Management, Human Resources Management

* Introductory Financial Accounting  CACC 100

Antirequisite(s): CACC 110

The course is designed to give students a basic understanding of accounting for business decisions. Accounting is the language of business. The course will emphasize how transactions impact the accounting equation (Assets = Liabilities + Shareholders’ Equity). Detailed journal entries will not be emphasized. Accounting 100 will emphasize the decision-makers or users. The course should be taken by students who don’t want to become accountants, but want to gain a basic understanding of accounting.

* Financial Accounting for Accounting Majors  CACC 110

Designed for Accounting and Finance Majors, this course will introduce you to the interesting and challenging field of Financial Accounting. Financial Accounting is a language designed to capture, summarize, and communicate the economic facts about an organization in a set of financial statements and the related descriptive notes. The course will focus on the principles of accounting and reporting to various users that are external to the organization. Accounting 110 will emphasize the decision-makers or users. You will learn what information is provided in financial statements and the uses and limitations of this information to various decision-makers.

Arts and Contemporary Studies

These courses give you the opportunity to develop your learning, research, ethical, and literacy competencies - important ingredients for success in any pursuit. They combine traditional education in the humanities with practical skills and theoretical approaches to deal with relevant societal issues. Arts and Contemporary Studies courses may be credited towards Ryerson University's full-time degree program, which stresses foundational skills and a broad liberal arts education.

Contemporary Study

NEW!

Introduction to the Humanities CACS 103
In this course students learn to identify a humanistic perspective, and analyze how this perspective can infuse our understanding of the world around us. Students are also introduced to the various ways in which this perspective is applied in Arts and Contemporary Studies - in particular in the program's subject-based and interdisciplinary options - while gaining some of the academic skills relating to effective research, writing and expression that they will require to excel in a university setting.

42 Hours Fee: $504
Winter 2011
Tuesday 18:00-21:00 Jan 11-Apr 12

Introduction to Culture Studies CACS 302
This course introduces the concepts and debates about the nature of culture and the development of culture industries. Students will examine a range of perspectives on the 'invention' of art and the boundaries between high and low culture. The various meanings of 'entertainment' will be explored. The creation of ideas outside the dominant culture will also be addressed.

42 Hours Fee: $504
Winter 2011
Thursday 18:00-21:00 Jan 11-Apr 12

Introduction to Research and Statistics CACS 401
This is a one-semester course within the Arts and Contemporary Studies program with a format of two one-hour lectures and a one-hour lab per week. No familiarity with the fundamental elements of research or statistics is assumed. The course gives students the practical methods needed to statistically describe and analyze phenomena and to present those results. Emphasis throughout the course is on practical uses and application of these techniques, rather than on their mathematical derivations.

42 Hours Fee: $495

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.
Biology

Biology is the study of living organisms and systems, including tissues, cells, and the structure and function of macromolecules. These courses introduce you to the basic principles of biology, ecological and environmental issues, human biology, and microbiology.

Biology

★ Anatomy and Physiology  CBLG 10A/B

A systematic approach to the complexity of the human body. Lectures include integumentary system, defense mechanisms, cardiovascular, lymphatic and respiratory systems; exercise; the male and female reproductive systems; pregnancy; skeletal, muscular, nervous, endocrine, digestive and urinary systems; senses.

Wednesday 18:30-21:30  Jan 12-Apr 13
and alternate Mondays (lab) 18:30-21:30  Jan 17-Apr 11
Attendance at labs is mandatory. Labs begin the first week of classes. You will need to activate your Ryerson email account in order to receive communication from your lab instructor. Come prepared for your lab. You will need a lab coat, safety glasses or goggles, nitrile gloves, and a lab notebook. You should dress appropriately: no shorts, no skirts, no sandals, no open toed or open heeled shoes, and no high heels.

Microbiology I  CBLG 151

Prerequisite(s): CBLG 144

This course introduces the student to the principles of microbiology. Topics include the history of microbiology, a survey of the different types of microorganisms, prokaryotic cell structure and function, microbial nutrition and growth, control of microorganisms, and microbial metabolism and genetics. An introduction to taxonomy in the microbial world will also be presented. The laboratory exercises complement the lectures and introduce the student to basic microbiological techniques and applications.

All CQMS course fees include a $10 fee for materials. For further information, see Material Fees. Related certificate(s): Accounting – Finance, Business Analysis, Business Management II, Business Management II, Financial Management in Canada, Financial Planning

* Business Statistics I CQMS 102
Antirequisite(s): CQMS 204, CQMS 400

This course consists of an introduction to business statistics including methods of describing, summarizing, graphically presenting, measuring and analyzing statistical data, probability distributions, covariance applications, sampling distributions and control charts. The course emphasizes how to apply various statistical techniques in the support of managerial decisions in the various functional areas of business. Students will be required to use appropriate computer software and/or calculator to present and analyse statistical data.

* Business Statistics II CQMS 202
Prerequisite(s): CQMS 102 or CQMS 204 or Direct Entry

This course builds on the concepts introduced in QMS 102. Some of the topics to be studied follow: confidence interval estimation, hypothesis testing of means, variances, proportions, independence, and simple/multiple regression with applications to forecasting. The course emphasizes how to apply various inferential statistical techniques in the support of managerial decisions in the various functional areas of business. SPSS and/or programmable calculators are used.

* Business Optimization CQMS 521
Prerequisite(s): CQMS 202 or Direct Entry

This course is designed to help the prospective manager define the management decision-making process and become familiar with the Operations Research and other linear techniques in practice today. Students will learn to recognize decision situations amenable to O.R. analysis through exposure to the analysis of business problems using model formulation and problem-solving techniques. Analysis will be done using appropriate of software and platforms with an emphasis on output interpretation.
Business Mathematics

These courses will help you develop the expertise to make effective use of the vast amount of data available in business today.

Linear Algebra

This course applies Matrix Algebra to the modelling of Linear Business Systems. Topics include Matrices and Linear Transformations, Determinants and Subspaces. This course should be of interest to students planning graduate studies in Business Administration or Economics.

Calculus for Business

This course is an introductory course in calculus. Its purpose is to make the student familiar with the basic concepts and appreciate the various applications. The course will be of value to students who wish to further their understanding of business and economic model building. It will also give the student an insight into one of the most powerful and widely used of mathematical tools. Although little prior knowledge will be assumed, the student should have analytical interest. Many graduate business schools now require at least one undergraduate level calculus course. It is strongly recommended that students select QMS 702, Calculus for Business, as an elective in fourth year if they are considering graduate studies in business.

Caribbean Studies

These courses will explore topics of culture, race, ethnicity, religion, and the social, economic, and political developments in the diverse Caribbean region.

Caribbean Studies

Introduction to the Caribbean
CCRB 100
This course will focus on the similarities in historical development of the different societies in the Caribbean region and the common institutional structures and challenges that persist, despite the diversity of language and culture, race, ethnicity and religion. The course will examine the relationship between physical resources and social, economic and political developments within the colonial and neocolonial context and the resulting systems of inequality. Restriction: Criminal Justice, Politics and Governance, Psychology, Sociology, Undeclared Arts. (LL)

Families in the Caribbean
CCRB 500
The Caribbean region is composed of peoples from different geographic and cultural areas of the world. This course will explore the major historical influences which define the present diverse structure and composition of families within the Caribbean region. It will examine how these structures have changed in response to globalization, the declining influence of religion, shifts in migration, changes in economic conditions and state policies, and in gender, race and ethnic relations. Racism and Caribbean Peoples in Canada
CCRB 501
The immigration of Caribbean peoples to Canada will be analyzed within the context of Canadian immigration laws and practices, labour market demands, and institutional responses to racial and ethno-cultural diversity. The major focus of the course will be on the establishment and growth of the Caribbean population in Canada, including employment, business and settlement patterns, changes to family structure, development of Caribbean organizations and community development activities, and issues of systemic and individual racism. Cultural Traditions in the Caribbean
CCRB 502
This course analyzes the evolution and social significance of cultural traditions in the Caribbean, leading to an understanding of contemporary popular traditions. The course examines the ethnic, racial and cultural diversity of the area, as a source of distinct cultural traditions; the impact of foreign influences; and the export of Caribbean cultural forms to the international area. Chemistry

These courses are of interest to professionals in the chemical and biological fields as well as those seeking to upgrade their skills and theoretical background in specific topics.

Advanced Chemistry

The following courses address the demand for structured and comprehensive training in Good Clinical Practice (GCP), Good Laboratory Practice (GLP), and Good Manufacturing Practice (GMP), collectively known as GxP. The courses are designed for graduate and undergraduate scientists, laboratory technicians, internationally-trained scientists and MDs, industry scientists, and those interested in a career in the regulatory field.

♦ Introduction to $\text{GxP}$  CKCH 901

This course will introduce you to the terminology, regulations, and processes involved in regulatory compliant research. Focusing primarily on pharmaceutical development, topics include: drug development process, ethics in research, the history and development of the modern regulatory environment, and GCP, GLP and GMP principles.

42 Hours  HST  Fee: $836

Fall 2010  Monday  18:30-21:45  Sep 13-Dec 13

♦ Analytics and Biomarker Development  CKCH 902

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 901

This course is a comprehensive overview of the regulations (GCP, GLP, and GMP) involving the ethical acquisition, handling, shipping, storage, and analysis of human samples. You will learn the regulations and processes involved in ethics submissions, informed consent for genetic and proteomic research. You will also be introduced to government guidelines related to the development and validation of biomarkers.

42 Hours  HST  Fee: $836

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

♦ Clinical Drug Development and Good Clinical Practices  CKCH 903

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 901

This course will give you a thorough background in the regulations that apply to each phase of clinical research. Topics include: GCPs, ICH, 21CFR, the Declaration of Helsinki, the Principles of Informed Consent, and other relevant regulations and guidelines.

42 Hours  HST  Fee: $836

Winter 2011  Monday  18:30-21:45  Jan 10-Apr 11

♦ Pharmaceuticals: Chemistry, Manufacturing, and Controls  CKCH 904

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 901

This course is designed to provide you with a solid understanding of pharmaceutical product manufacturing regulations. Topics include: formulation development, stability testing, content uniformity, and other elements critical to the manufacturing process.

42 Hours  Fee: $836

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

♦ Organic Chemistry II  CCHY 242

Prerequisite(s): CHY 142

This course includes the mechanistic approach to the study of organic reactions and includes condensation reactions, aromatic chemistry and pericyclic reactions. Also included are spectroscopic methods of structure determination, organic synthesis and the use of organometallic reagents.

42 Hours  Fee: $510

Winter 2011  Thursday  18:30-21:30  Jan 13-Apr 14

Spring/Summer 2011  Tuesday & Thursday  18:30-21:30  Jun 23-Aug 9

♦ Physical Chemistry I  CCHY 381

Prerequisite(s): CCHY 113

The three laws of thermodynamics; free energy and chemical equilibria; thermodynamics of solutions.

42 Hours  Fee: $510

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

♦ General Chemistry I  CKCH 106

Atomic structure, stoichiometry, gases, chemical equilibrium, acids and bases, aqueous equilibria, thermochemistry, and energy. Equivalent to CHY 103 lecture.

42 Hours  Fee: $540

Fall 2010  Tuesday  18:30-21:30  Sep 14-Dec 14

Winter 2011  Tuesday  18:30-21:30  Jan 11-Apr 12

Spring/Summer 2011  Tuesday & Thursday  18:30-21:30  May 3-Jun 16

Students must have taken Grade 12U Chemistry, OAC Chemistry, CCHY 90A/B, or CKCH 108 and CKCH 109, prior to taking this course.

♦ General Chemistry Laboratory  CKCH 107

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 106

Experiments cover the following topics: determination of water hardness, solution preparation, acid-base titration, calorimetry, solubility equilibria, and chemical kinetics. Laboratory portion of CHY 113.

42 Hours  Fee: $537

Winter 2011  Thursday  18:30-21:30  Jan 13-Apr 14

Spring/Summer 2011  Monday & Wednesday  18:30-21:30  May 2-Jun 20

Attendance at labs is mandatory. Labs begin the first week of classes. You will need to activate your Ryerson email account in order to receive communication from your lab instructor. Come prepared for your lab. You will need a lab coat, safety glasses or goggles, nitrile gloves, and a lab notebook. You should dress appropriately: no shorts, no skirts, no sandals, no open toed or open heeled shoes, and no high heels.

Introductory Chemistry I

This course is an introduction to chemistry; topics will include the following: atomic structures, electronic configurations, bonding, formulae, nomenclature, the mole concept, chemical reactions, and stoichiometry.

Note: Formerly part of CCHY 90A/B.

42 Hours  Fee: $547

Fall 2010

Wednesday  18:30-21:30  Sep 15-Dec 15

Spring/Summer 2011

Monday & Wednesday  18:30-21:30  May 2-Jun 20

An Academic Bridging Course. Both CKCH 108 and CKCH 109 are required to meet the Grade 12 U Chemistry requirement for Ryerson admission purposes. Please note that mature student applicants will be considered on an individual basis. Please contact Undergraduate Admissions and Recruitment for details.

Introductory Chemistry II

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 108

This course continues the introduction to chemistry; topics will include the following: gases, liquids and bases, chemical equilibria, electrolymetry, nuclear chemistry, and organic chemistry.

Note: Formerly part of CCHY 90B/B.

42 Hours  Fee: $547

Winter 2011

Wednesday  18:30-21:30  Jan 12-Apr 13

Spring/Summer 2011

Monday & Wednesday  18:30-21:30  Jun 22-Aug 10

General Chemistry II

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 106 or CHY 103

Electrochemistry, atomic theory, bonding, liquids and solids. Solutions, representative elements, transition metals, nuclear chemistry. Equivalent to the lecture portion of CHY 113.

42 Hours  Fee: $520

Winter 2011

Tuesday  18:30-21:30  Jan 11-Apr 12

Spring/Summer 2011

Tuesday & Thursday  18:30-21:30  Jun 23-Aug 9

Organic Chemistry I

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 106

This is an introductory course based on the mechanistic approach to the study of organic reactions, and includes functionality, IUPAC nomenclature, structural and stereoisomerism, oxidation and reduction, nucleophilic additions, nucleophilic substitutions, eliminations, electrophilic additions of aliphatic compounds. Lecture portion of CHY 142.

42 Hours  Fee: $537

Fall 2010

Thursday  18:30-21:30  Sep 16-Dec 16

Spring/Summer 2011

Monday & Wednesday  18:30-21:30  May 2-Jun 20

Organic Chemistry Laboratory

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 107 and CHY 103

This laboratory course will cover the techniques involved in using the primary wet chemical tools: distillation, extraction, recrystallization, filtration, and rotary evaporation. Measurement of refractive index, melting point, and boiling point as well as some simple syntheses; isolation and purification operations will be carried out. Laboratory portion of CHY 142.

42 Hours  Fee: $593

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Analytical Chemistry I

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 106 or CKCH 104

This entry-level course concentrates on noninstrumental analytical methods and includes the following lecture topics: gravimetry; equilibria and titration applications of acid-base, redox complex formation and precipitation reactions. Lecture portion of CHY 213.

Monday  18:30-21:45  Sep 13-Dec 13

Analytical Chemistry Laboratory I

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 107

This laboratory course includes experiments based on the topics discussed in Analytical Chemistry I (CKCH216). Laboratory portion of Analytical Chemistry I (CHY213).

42 Hours  Fee: $557

Fall 2010

Wednesday  18:30-21:30  Sep 15-Dec 15

You should dress appropriately: no shorts, no skirts, no sandals, no open toed or open heeled shoes, and no high heels.

Analytical Chemistry II

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 216

This course is a continuation of Analytical Chemistry I (CKCH216) but concentrates on instrumental analytical methods. The course introduces the student to the theory, instrumentation and applications of atomic and molecular spectroscopy, potentiometry (including ion-selection), electrodes and chromatography. Lecture portion of Analytical Chemistry II (CHY223).

42 Hours  Fee: $537

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Analytical Chemistry Laboratory II

Prerequisite(s): CKCH 217

This laboratory course includes experiments based on the topics discussed in Analytical Chemistry II (CKCH223). Laboratory portion of Analytical Chemistry II (CHY223).

42 Hours  Fee: $593

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

* Biochemistry I
Prerequisite(s): CKCH 142 or CHY 200

This course deals with the structures, functions, chemistry and food applications of proteins, carbohydrates, lipids and nucleic acids. Also included is an introduction to enzymology (coenzymes, nomenclature and classifications of enzymes and enzymatic control of biochemical reactions). Lecture portion of CHY 261.

42 Hours
Fee: $540

Spring/Summer 2011
Monday & Wednesday 18:30-21:30 May 2-Jun 20

* Science Mentorship
Prerequisite(s): Department consent

This course will provide students with practical skills and tools needed to become effective peer mentors and leaders. Students will also develop skills to enhance their individual career, academic, and personal goals. Students will participate in a reflective learning process where their mentoring experiences are shared with other students. They will learn how to transfer these skills (learned through mentoring and course work) to career and academic objectives.

Note: By in-person registration only. For further details, please contact Grace Panourgias, Administrative Assistant, First Year and Common Science Office at the Faculty of Engineering, Architecture, and Science at 416.979.5000, ext. 4101.

Child and Youth Care

Child and youth care is a practice-based discipline, with roots in psychology, sociology, medicine, social work, and education. The following courses will allow you to explore a field focused on research and practice which integrates developmental, preventative, and therapeutic requirements into the life space of children, youth, families, and communities. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/co/cyc.

Child and Youth Care

* Management in Human Service Organizations
Prerequisite(s): CCYC 605

Introduces students to the concepts and vocabulary of organizational behaviour and its application to the practice of management and supervision in organizations that serve children and youth. Topics include organizational theories and structures, job design, work motivation, performance appraisal, staff recruitment, training and retention, and organizational leadership and supervision. Case studies will facilitate applications of course material.

Note: Completion of second year of Child and Youth Work Diploma or permission of the instructor is required to enroll in this course.

Fall 2010
Distance: Internet
Sep 11-Dec 11

* Children’s Rights
Prerequisite(s): CCYC 605

The United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child is examined. The convention is explored within the framework of human rights principles and citizenship. Policy and practice implications will be considered through the lens of child rights approach. Consideration will be given to understanding children’s development as “citizens” and children’s participation in society.

Note: Completion of second year of Child and Youth Work Diploma or permission of the instructor is required to enroll in this course.

Fee: $506

Winter 2011
Distance: Internet
Jan 15-Apr 16

* Advanced Therapeutic Interventions
Prerequisite(s): CCYC 401 or Direct Entry

The range of therapeutic procedures is examined with a focus on behavioural disorders of children and adolescents. A primary goal of the course is to enable students to critically evaluate a variety of therapeutic techniques, the theoretical assumptions underlying those techniques and the reported results of the interventions. The aim is to permit the student to work effectively in a range of organizational settings in which a variety of therapeutic techniques may be employed.

Note: Completion of second year of Child and Youth Work Diploma or permission of the instructor is required to enroll in this course.

42 Hours
Fee: $506

Both Internet and classroom sessions are required. The classroom session may be off-campus. Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010-2011.

* Ecological Perspectives in CYC
Prerequisite(s): CCYC 702

Introduces students to the concepts and vocabulary of organizational behaviour and its application to the practice of management and supervision in organizations that serve children and youth. Topics include organizational theories and structures, job design, work motivation, performance appraisal, staff recruitment, training and retention, and organizational leadership and supervision. Case studies will facilitate applications of course material.

Note: Completion of second year of Child and Youth Work Diploma or permission of the instructor is required to enroll in this course.

42 Hours
Fee: $506

Both Internet and classroom sessions are required. The classroom session may be off-campus. Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010-2011.
This course builds on previous knowledge of theoretical orientations to therapeutic relationships. Crisis theory is examined within a development-ecological perspective. Introduces students to critical incident debriefing protocols and first and second order crisis intervention responses to catastrophic situations. The focus is on interventions with children and youth within their milieu by front line children’s service personnel.

42 Hours Fee: $510
Winter 2011
Distance: Internet Jan 15-Apr 16

This course examines self, direct service, and policy advocacy.. Explored are advocacy principles, types of advocacy, partnership approaches and ethical dilemmas. Tactics and strategies utilized in case and policy advocacy are evaluated. Students will be able to identify situations of advocacy, critically examine the agenda and develop an advocacy strategy.

Note: Completion of second year of Child and Youth Work Diploma or permission of the instructor is required to take this course.

42 Hours Fee: $510
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Pastoral Case Management
Prerequisite(s): CCYC 602 and CCYC 605

Child and youth care practitioners are often required to liaise with other professionals and placed in a case management/co-ordination role by virtue of their contact with the child/youth and his/her family in the day to day environment. This course will develop knowledge and skills in inter-disciplinary consultation; understanding and using assessment reports; documentation case planning; accessing resources; service co-ordination and an introduction to multi-disciplinary teamwork.

42 Hours Fee: $510
Fall 2010
Distance: Internet Sep 11-Dec 11

Special Issues: Program Development
Prerequisite(s): CCYC 608

The development of specialized programs for groups of children and youth will be addressed. The processes of inception, needs assessment, planning, implementation and evaluation of program effectiveness will be examined using current examples in the areas of prevention and/or postvention programming from the literature and the community. Students will develop an understanding of both the current trends in service programming and how to critique the strength and weaknesses of a program.

42 Hours Fee: $510
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Advanced Placement
Prerequisite(s): CCYC 608

This placement enhances the student’s skills in a specialized area of child and youth care practice not previously experienced. Students are expected to identify a mentor and choose a placement based on their future career interests. Students are required to complete 200 hours of direct client contact hours and submit a portfolio documenting learning.

42 Hours Fee: STBA
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Residential Care Techniques
Prerequisite(s): CCYC 608

This course, founded in contemporary, competency-based Child and Youth Care practice, explores approaches, strategies, and techniques in residential care. Areas covered will include: approaches to group care, characteristics of effective programs, family involvement; intervention planning; needs based interventions; therapeutic discipline, crisis and opportunity; activities; and the role of supervision. This course is equivalent to CVCC 104.

Communication

These courses can help you develop a high level of skill in written and oral communications and are especially relevant to business and government environments. They focus on building and integrating writing, analytical, and research skills so that your business presentations make your point and achieve your purpose.

Communication

* Oral Communication in Fashion CCMN 103
  In this workshop course a variety of speech delivery methods are practised. Students learn how to analyze their audiences, and prepare and present their messages. Speeches are videotaped, replayed and critiqued. Listening and peer evaluation are an integral part of this course.

42 Hours Fee: $706

* Short Management Reports CCMN 114
  This writing-intensive workshop course helps students gain the proficiency needed to meet the communication demands of contemporary management tasks. Participants learn to focus their purpose, analyze their audiences, and compose a variety of informative and persuasive documents, such as instructional and motivational memoranda, policy change reports, and new venture proposals. A module on planning, outlining and delivering professionally-related oral presentations to peers, management and industry partners completes this workshop designed to refine key written and oral skills for success in today’s workplace.

Organizational Problem Solving and Report Writing CCMN 313

Organizational Problem Solving and Report Writing focuses on the selection, treatment and solution of a complex problem in an organization, through the development and preparation of a formal, analytical report. Students learn how to identify a problem, define its purpose, customize a message for multiple audiences, create a work plan, apply primary and secondary research methods, and structure an argument logically and persuasively. Students will strengthen their critical thinking skills as they evaluate findings and formulate conclusions and recommendations.

Professional Presentations CCMN 314

Successful professionals achieve their objectives by consistently delivering high-impact presentations to diverse, demanding audiences. Rising expectations and extensive technology often complicate rather than improve the presenter’s ability to communicate effectively. In this essential course, students learn to cope with fear, develop poise and confidence, structure content coherently, and employ technology in a sophisticated way to connect meaningfully with their audiences.

Issues in Communication and the Contemporary Workplace CCMN 315

Effective communication has always been an essential component of business. It is particularly important today, when business people communicate in increasingly complex and diverse workplaces. They must deal with ethical dilemmas, intensifying organizational change, global and multicultural partners, increased specialization, and constant technological developments. Using practical examples and case studies, this course both explores communication challenges that business professionals face today and helps them develop strategies and practices designed for the contemporary workplace.

Fashion Communication: Professional Approaches CCMN 373

In this course for the Fashion Communication and Design options, students learn fundamental concepts which are applied to correspondence, reports, oral presentations, media relations, and the job search. The emphasis is on analyzing audience and purpose; controlling language, style, and tone; and choosing communication strategies appropriate to a variety of professional situations.

Corporate Communications CCMN 413

Prerequisite(s): Any CMN or CCMN course or Direct Entry

How does a company communicate its reputation and image and manage these intangible features when damaged? Through examining high-level communication strategies and products, students develop sensitivity to the language, formats, and images organizations use to manage their concerns. Students also practice skills corporate communication professionals employ to communicate with a variety of audiences.

Interpersonal Communication in Management CCMN 414

Prerequisite(s): Any one CMN course or Direct Entry

In this workshop course, students participate in a variety of group and individual exercises designed to develop the interpersonal skills necessary for effective management. Emphasis is placed on understanding how varied backgrounds, personalities, and cultural perspectives affect group processes such as problem solving, decision making, resolving conflict, and negotiating. Some sessions may be videotaped.

Promotional Communications CCMN 415

The art of promotion is fundamental to the selling of products, services, and ideas. In this innovative course, students use a range of media and communication strategies to put the theory and ethics of promotion into practice. Students learn how to meet the challenges of bringing a new product or service to market from beginning to end and how to communicate with internal stakeholders and target audiences to promote the new initiative successfully. This course enables students to experience firsthand the dynamics of conceiving, developing, and executing a promotional campaign, as well as equips them with the skills needed to engage effectively in the marketing communications process.

Communication in the Engineering Professions
CCMN 432

Communication lies at the heart of what engineers do. This course introduces students to the unique and varied communication challenges of their profession. Through a combination of lectures, readings, and workshops, students are exposed to the types of communication they will engage in as professionals and given the opportunity to refine their analytical, writing, presentation, and problem-solving skills.

Communicating in Virtual Environments
CDCM 279

This course introduces students to the unique opportunities and challenges of communicating in virtual environments. Experiential exercises and individual and group assignments will help students develop effective interpersonal skills for tele-, audio-, and video-conferencing and computer-mediated teamwork. Topics covered include effective remote leadership, building trust, global project communication, concision, and persuasion and disclosure in emails and instant messaging. The delivery of this course will allow students to practice both virtual teamwork and in-person collaboration.

Professional Etiquette and Networking Skills for Business and Social Success
CDCM 907

Do you want to make a great first impression? Displaying good manners and social skills makes an enormous difference in how you are perceived by superiors, peers, friends and family. This workshop covers: formal dining, shaking hands, exchanging business cards, making introductions, conversation and toasting skills. Through lectures, role plays, simulations, discussions, videos, and group interaction, participants will improve their etiquette and learn how to handle business and social situations with confidence and grace.

Prerequisite(s): Any one CMN course or Direct Entry

Communication and Law
CCMN 447

Communication practitioners must be sensitive to the legal risks and implications of their messages. They must consider ethical responsibilities to clients, employees, and themselves. Clear and accessible documents, in language and design, help the company manage internal and external relations. In this essential course, students study such communications as contracts, briefs, client letters and proposals, to gain a firm understanding of the legal dimensions of organizational communication and to contribute that knowledge to the company’s enterprise and obligations.

Introduction to Visual Communication
CCMN 448

This challenging course introduces students to the study of Visual Communication. Students explore how visual images persuade us to act and think in certain ways. They learn a vocabulary of visual meaning-making (i.e., a visual language). Building upon the vocabulary, they learn how images can be rhetorical and persuasive within a professional communication context. Further, they learn how visual images manipulate and become manipulated by a surrounding visual culture. It is recommended that students should be in their third or fourth year of study.

Community Engagement Series

These courses can help you develop a high level of skill in written and oral communications and are especially relevant to business and government environments. They focus on building and integrating writing, analytical, and research skills so that your business presentations make your point and achieve your purpose.

Community Engagement Series

Community Engagement Series  CVES 100
The Community Engagement Series is a creative, collaborative offering from key activists, leaders, and educators who have spent many years exploring strategies for social and political change, including successfully building coalitions to achieve policy and political change while exploring the intersections of leadership.
Note: Educators include: Akua Benjamin, Annahid Dashtgard, Judy Rebick, Corvin Russell, and Alan Sears.

Spring/Summer 2011  Tuesday & Thursday  18:00-20:00  Jun 28-Jul 26
No class on July 1.

Computer Science

The following courses can develop your computer expertise in two key areas. Some courses focus on language programming and operating systems; these are particularly recommended if your interests lie in technical or system support. Other courses focus on using computers to solve engineering or technical problems. In these, the emphasis is on learning how to translate problems into an appropriate mathematical form.

Note: Written approval is required before undergraduate degree program students can register in these courses. For more information, see Engineering Students on the Chang School website at www.ryerson.ca/ce.

Computer Science

☆ Computer Science I  CCPS 109

☆ Digital Computation and Programming  CCPS 125
The C programming language is used to develop good programming techniques. Topics covered include: C program form, language statements, pseudo-code algorithmic representation, numeric data types, flow of control with selection and repetition, standard C libraries, functions and call modes, arrays, pointers, sorting, matrix operations, character and string data types, dynamic storage, structures and linked lists, file I/O. Only regular first year students from the Faculty of Engineering, Architecture, and Science may preregister for this course.

70 Hours  Fee: $989
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

☆ Computer Science II  CCPS 209
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 109

A continuation of CPS 109. Emphasis is placed on code optimization, algorithm and program correctness. Fundamental Computer Science Algorithms will be introduced.

* Object Oriented Programming and Design
CCPS 393
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 209 and CCPS 393

This course further explores the Object-Oriented paradigm emphasizing the Object Model and relationships between the various artifacts. The pure Smalltalk language is introduced to reinforce the OO paradigm. The Unified Modeling Language to capture the objects, classes, and their relationships is studied in considerable depth with a major analysis and initial design project done in teams. A reasonably complete coverage of C++ is presented. Time permitting, OO features of other languages will be discussed.

42 Hours Fee: $550
Fall 2010
Monday 18:30-21:45 Sep 13-Dec 13

* Introduction to C and UNIX
CCPS 393
The course covers various aspects of the C language such as: Arrays, strings, pointers, structures, etc. The second part of the course introduces UNIX operating systems. Topics include: I/O, redirection, processes, shell scripts, etc.

56 Hours Fee: $527
Fall 2010

Spring/Summer 2011
Monday & Wednesday 18:00-22:00 May 2-Jun 20
It is recommended students take CCPS 109 before CCPS 393.

° Database Systems I
CCPS 510
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 305

Advanced file management techniques involving fundamentals of database organization, design and management. Emphasis is given to Relational Database Management Systems including relational algebra, normal forms, physical Database Structures and their implementation, and Relational Database Languages. Other types of Database Managers are also discussed such as Hierarchical, Network and Inverted Files.

56 Hours Fee: $671
Fall 2010
Monday 18:00-22:00 Sep 13-Dec 13

* Component-Based Programming for the Web
CCPS 530
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 209

This course presents the concepts and applications of component-based Web programming. Part 1 of the course covers the creation of Web pages to hold the components (XHTML, CSS). Part 2 covers the concepts and applications of server-side programming (CGI, SSI, Perl). Part 3 covers the development of components in Java (Java Applets, JavaBeans). Part 4 introduces activeX components.

42 Hours Fee: $550
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

° Introduction to Operating Systems
CCPS 590
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 393 or Direct Entry
Corequisite(s): CCPS 510 or Direct Entry

Introduction to O/S (system calls, interrupts, synchronous and asynchronous traps, O/S structure), using processes (process communication and synchronization), primitive communications (signals and signal management calls), pipes, messages, semaphores, shared memory, memory management, file systems, and (time permitting) remote procedure calls.

56 Hours Fee: $714
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

° Database Systems II
CCPS 610
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 510

56 Hours Fee: $671
Winter 2011
Tuesday 18:30-21:30 Jan 11-Apr 12

° Human-Computer Interaction
CCPS 613
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 209 or Direct Entry

This course introduces the concepts of human-computer interaction and usability testing. Topics include: human information processing, usability principles, models of interaction, user interface paradigms, design of user interfaces. Students will also learn how to develop Graphical User Interfaces using a specific User Interface Management system. (2 hr. Lab every other week).

56 Hours Fee: $671
Winter 2011
Monday 18:00-22:00 Jan 10-Apr 11

° Introduction to Data Communications
CCPS 706
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 590

Introduction to basic concepts of data communications. Topics covered: Transmission Media, Multiplexing, Data Encoding, Circuit Switching, Packet Switching, Local Area Networks and ISO and IEEE Standards.

42 Hours Fee: $490
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

° Software Engineering I
CCPS 731
Prerequisite(s): CPS 406

Essential methods for the Systematic approach to the development, operation, maintenance, and retirement of Software. Software Life Cycles, process modelling, configuration management, managing Software quality, requirements analysis, specification, verification and validation, Software design, implementation, testing and maintenance. Software Tools, CASE tools and documentation. (2 hr. Lab every other week)

56 Hours Fee: $671
It is recommended that students take CCPS 109 prior to taking this course.

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

° Software Engineering II
CCPS 831
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 731

Prerequisite(s): CCPS 731

This course is a continuation of CPS 731. Topics include: Formal specification, algebraic specification, model oriented specification, Software reliability, fault-tolerance, Software tools, programming environments, Toolkits, Method based Environments. Software development work benches, Software reliability, Software metrics, software standards, complexity measures, Software quality assurance, automated programming, CASE Tools. (2 hr. Lab every other week).

36 Hours  Fee: $671
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Introduction to MatLab  CKCS 210
The goal of this course is to provide a simple overview and introduction to Matlab. The course is broken up into some of the basic topics. The first includes a few examples of how Matlab makes it easy to create and manipulate vectors. The course moves from simple topics to more advanced topics.

42 Hours  Fee: $955
Fall 2010  TBA 18:30-21:30

Introduction to SPSS  CKCS 220
The goal of this course is to provide a simple overview and introduction to SPSS. The course will cover the basic topics such as entering and manipulating data, analysing data and describing relationships, and creating charts and outputs.

42 Hours  Fee: $955
Winter 2011  Monday 18:30-21:45  Jan 10-Apr 11

Object Oriented Applications Programming  CKCS 612
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 311

This course continues the study of C++ and object-oriented programming. The course provides an in-depth look at the C++ programming language including expressions, statements, declarations, declarators, classes, derived classes, member access control, special member functions, overloading, templates, exception handling, and pre-processing directives. The standard C++ library, including strings, localization, containers, integrators, algorithms, numerics, and input/output, will also be examined.

42 Hours  Fee: $955
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Object Oriented Project Development  CKCS 613
Prerequisite(s): CCPS 311

This course applies object-oriented concepts to the design and development of a real-world application. The complete OO software development life cycle is realized through a series of lectures and hands-on workshops. Course topics include CRC modeling, use-case scenarios, OO project management, and OO user interface development. A term project using Java is an important component of the course.

42 Hours  Fee: $955

Mainframe Computing

Mainframes are large, complex computer systems used by large corporations and government institutions for mission critical applications, intensive data processing such as management information systems, financial transaction processing, manufacturing control systems, and censuses and statistics. The following courses provide a thorough overview of the mainframe environment, including hardware systems, workflows, end-user interfaces, programming, and data management. Related certificate(s): IBM Mainframe System z Computing

Introduction to Mainframe Computing z/OS Environment  CKCS 191
Prerequisite(s): Department consent

The purpose of this course is to introduce students of information technology to the mainframe computing environment. Upon completion of this course students should possess the knowledge and skills necessary to begin using the basic facilities of an IBM mainframe computer. Topics will include the use of a terminal emulation program (Vista 3270) to interact with the mainframe environment with special attention to the TSO/ISPF and SDSF facilities. Students will learn about the history of mainframe computing and its resurgence as a powerful processing tool for large corporations and government institutions. This course is designed to offer a thorough overview of the mainframe environment, including data management, data processing, application program development and maintenance, IBM utilities and end-user interfaces.

Fall 2010  Saturday 9:00-16:00  Sep 18-Oct 30

Mainframe Application Programming ASSEMBLER  CKCS 192
Prerequisite(s): CKCS 194

Created for future application and systems Assembler language programmers, this course will introduce students to the Assembler programming language on the z/OS platform and provide a thorough overview of the architecture to programming at the Assembler level. The architecture of IBM System z will be examined, including storage addressing, the use of registers, and instruction formats. Topics to be discussed include: Assembler Language and Machine Language instructions formatting; the operation of the Assembler program, which translates the Assembler language to machine instructions; decimal and binary arithmetical operations; hexadecimal number conversion; basic Assembler Macro instructions; and standard programming techniques.

Winter 2011  Saturday 9:00-16:00  Jan 15-Feb 26

Mainframe Application Programming COBOL  CKCS 193
Prerequisite(s): CKCS 194

This course will introduce students to the most widely used mainframe application programming language, COBOL. This course will cover all of the basic COBOL elements, with segments on structured programming and design, debugging, data validation, Boolean logic operations, table processing and sequential file maintenance. Students will also learn about the history of this powerful programming language and its evolution in the area of commercial data processing. A segment of the course will focus on the future of this language and its interoperability with the Web and Object-Oriented technologies.

Mainframe Batch Programming JCL
CKCS 194

Prerequisite(s): CKCS 191

In this course students will be introduced to Job Control Language (JCL). Students will learn to code JCL statements using proper syntax and coding rules, including JCL statements for: creating new datasets, referring to existing datasets, testing condition codes, using conditional phrases, coding in-stream and catalogued procedures, using symbolic parameters in procedures, using utility programs, and recognizing and resolving common problems. Students will also learn about the role of JCL in the mainframe environment and its relationship with application programs.

Mainframe Online Programming: CICS
CKCS 195

Prerequisite(s): CKCS 193 and CKCS 194

This course will focus on the application development and implementation process for online mainframe systems. In-depth coverage of the Customer Information Control System (CICS) and the methods for employing it to perform Online Transaction Processing (OLTP) tasks in a mainframe environment will be provided. A review of the overall structure and purpose of CICS will be discussed and command levels for CICS in the following areas will be introduced: management of data (VSAM files), data communication, application development, and system management. Learners will examine the COBOL programming techniques used to create basic and complex systems, and will learn how to debug CICS application programs.

Mainframe Database Management Systems DB2

Prerequisite(s): CKCS 194

This course will provide learners with a comprehensive overview of the widely used IBM mainframe database management system, DB2. This course will focus on how DB2 operates in a mainframe environment. Students will learn how to access DB2 objects using SPUFI, QMF and Application Programs. The establishment of the appropriate execution environment for programs that reference DB2 databases will be discussed. This is an advanced course; while not required, prior knowledge of the relational data base model and SQL is strongly recommended.

42 Hours

Spring/Summer 2011

Websphere Application Server on z/OS
CKCS 197

Prerequisite(s): CKCS 191

This course will provide a technical overview of Java-based development integrated with batch processing on mainframe and midrange systems. Students will work with IBM Websphere Application Server (WAS), and Message Queue (MQ), and explore their relationships to Service Oriented Architectures (SOA) and enterprise applications. In addition, students will examine the relationship between DB2 and enterprise applications delivered on WAS. CICS Transaction Gateway as a strategic interface between Websphere and CICS TS will be discussed.

ARCHIVE: Courses 2010-2011
Computer/Information Technology Studies

Information technology is a rapidly changing and growing field, and training in this field must address the needs of the learner and the business community. The high-end courses offered through Information Technology Studies have been specially designed to meet the needs of the adult learner. Whether you need to develop leading-edge computer skills to advance your career in business or simply have a personal interest in computers, you’ll find suitable courses are available in Internet, programming, and networking technologies.

Please visit the Information Technology Studies website for the most up-to-date information on course offerings, schedules, and fees.

.NET Application Developer

The learner will gain hands-on experience with tools for web application development within the .NET family of products. These courses are appropriate for learners with a programming background.

Candidates who complete all required courses for the .NET Application Developer program and earn an overall average of 70% or higher are eligible to earn a .NET Application Developer recognition from Ryerson University. (See www.ryerson.ca/ce/its for further information.)

Programming With C# and the .NET Framework CXC 300

This course provides a detailed overview of the C# language, its syntax, and its implementation of object-oriented concepts. It also introduces the C# Framework, which is a Microsoft platform for building all types of applications from high-performance websites to rich Windows clients. Students will learn how to use C# to build simple Windows applications, read and write files, interact with relational databases, parse and update XML files, and filter data using LINQ.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students have prior experience with an object-oriented programming language, such as C++, Java, or Visual Basic prior to taking this course.

Programming with Visual Basic Net and the .NET Framework CXC 302

This course will provide learners with a detailed overview of the Visual Basic language and its implementation of object-oriented concepts. It introduces the .NET Framework, which is a Microsoft platform for building various types of applications from high-performance websites to rich Windows clients. Topics to be addressed in this course include arrays and collections, creating and destroying objects, inheritance, polymorphism, events, and accessing data with Microsoft ADO.NET.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students have prior experience with an object-oriented programming language, such as C++, Java, or Visual Basic prior to taking this course.

Developing DB Solutions using SQL and .NET CXC 305

This course provides learners with skills required to develop a database solution using Microsoft SQL Server as a database and Visual Studio as a development tool. Topics include data sources and data sets, data set designer, parameters and stored procedures, user-defined functions, triggers, transactions, XML, LINQ, and Entity Data Model. (Formerly: Designing and Implementing Databases with Microsoft SQL Server Enterprise Edition)

Note: It is strongly recommended that students be familiar with database normalization and programming concepts, have completed CXCP 216 or CXC 300 or CXC 302, or have equivalent database and/or MS.NET experience before taking this course.

Developing Web Applications with ASP .NET CXC 309

ASP.NET is Microsoft’s premier technology for creating server-side web applications. This course will provide professional developers who know a .NET language such as C# or VB with a complete overview of ASP.NET, using Visual Studio as a design tool. In addition to ASP.NET fundamentals, students will learn how to build secure sites, use LINQ data sources, and use ASP.NET in conjunction with relational database products like SQL Server. Microsoft’s AJAX library and controls will also be examined in depth.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXC 300 or CXEC 302 or have equivalent programming experience in C# or VB.NET before taking this course.

Students taking this course should familiarize themselves with HTML/CSS/JavaScript before the course begins.

WCF in the .NET Framework CXC 304

In this Windows Communication Foundation (WCF) course, students will learn how to develop distributed applications in the .NET framework. Topics to be discussed include service contract implementation, transport, message, and user level security, hosting and exposing services, consuming services through proxies and agents, and management of the service life cycle, including instances, sessions, transactions, and concurrency. (Formerly: Developing XML Web Services and Server Components with the Microsoft .NET Framework)

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXC 300 or CXEC 302 AND CXEC 309, or have equivalent Microsoft .NET programming experience (C#, .NET or VB .NET) AND ASP.NET before taking this course.

New! Microsoft SharePoint Web Development CXEC 340

In this course for web developers, learners will develop integrated SharePoint solutions, exploring custom authentication, SharePoint permissions, in-browser customization, and design basics. SharePoint's strong API, with its highly extensible nature and foundation on the underlining .NET Framework, will be examined. Learners will be exposed to an all-encompassing approach to programming concepts, including the extensibility interfaces and SharePoint's internal features, and will approach SharePoint as an open toolkit as opposed to a closed, intranet-only model.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXEC 300 and CXEC 309 or have equivalent .NET language and ASP .NET experience before taking this course.

Students are required to have the following environments at home to be successful in this course: At a minimum, Visual Studio 2010 Ultimate, on 64-bit Windows Server 2008 R2 with IIS 7.5, or 64-bit Windows 7 Ultimate.

For laptops, a minimum of 4GB memory is required (8GB preferred) with Windows Server 2008 R2 x64 with Hyper-V installed (eSATA is recommended instead of USB for external hard drive disk space).

New! Microsoft Silverlight Development CXEC 341

For developers wishing to become proficient with Microsoft’s cross-platform, cross-browser development platform Silverlight, this course will provide learners with the opportunity to create rich media Silverlight applications. Learners will create projects, set up layouts, and use controls while handling both 2-D and 3-D drawing, animation, and media playback through Windows Presentation Foundation (WPF). Learners will also explore integrating web services support and using Silverlight in conjunction with ASP.NET and its interactions with HTML.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXEC 300 or CXEC 302 and CXEC 309 or have .NET language and ASP .NET experience before taking this course.

Certified Cisco Networking Associate (CCNA)

These courses will provide the learner with the fundamental skills and knowledge of Cisco technologies. The series may assist the learner to prepare for the Certified Cisco Networking Associate (CCNA), an important step in Cisco Career Certification. These courses are appropriate for learners with a network administration background.

Candidates who complete all required courses for the Certified Cisco Networking Associate program and earn an overall average of 70% or higher are eligible to earn a Certified Cisco Networking Associate recognition from Ryerson University. (See www.ryerson.ca/ce/its for further information.)

New! Network Basics for Cisco CXNA 101

In this course, learners explore client/server networking, including design types, architectures, standards, protocols, support, the OSI reference model, LAN and WAN technologies, the TCP/IP protocol stack, networking system components, types and use of cabling, topologies, and common routed and routing protocols. In conjunction with Interconnecting Cisco Networking Devices (CXNA102), this course may assist learners in preparation for the Certified Cisco Networking Associate (CCNA) exam.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXIT 401 and CXIT 402 or have 2 years equivalent networking experience before taking this course.

Computer and Network Support

Networking-oriented courses are designed to provide the learner with the material needed to be proficient with concepts and practices related to today’s networking technologies. The courses in this program will provide the learner with hands-on experience with networking hardware and software, Microsoft and Linux network administration, and system security practices.

Candidates who complete all required courses for the Computer and Network Support program and earn an overall average of 70% or higher are eligible to earn a Computer and Network Support recognition from Ryerson University. (See www.ryerson.ca/ce/its for further information.)

New! Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP) CXCC 104

The (ISC)² global organization offers a certificate recognizing an international standard for information security and a Common
A+

This course will provide learners with an understanding of the hardware components of a PC and the necessity of combining computer hardware with an appropriate operating system. Learners will explore the role of each component, and will obtain hands-on experience assembling and troubleshooting PCs, installing operating systems, and configuring and securing a basic network. This course may assist learners in their preparation for writing the CompTIA A+ certification exam. There is no pre-requisite for this course.

42 Hours HST included Fee: $699

Network Administration for Microsoft

This course will provide learners with an understanding of the skills required to manage administration tasks including: controlling user accounts, assigning permissions and auditing access, administering file and resources, administering printer resources, managing data storage, using back-up and restore utilities, administering and managing server resources, configuring performance monitoring software, administering Active Directory and Group Policies, and understanding the basic functionality of DNS and DHCP.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXIT 401 (A+) or have equivalent experience before taking this course.

42 Hours HST included Fee: $699

Network Administration for Linux

This course will provide learners with an understanding of the functionality of DNS and DHCP. utilities, administering and managing server resources, managing data storage, using back-up and restore files and directory resources, managing system processes and monitoring resources, managing data storage and performing back-ups, administering printer resources, and configuring network utilities.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXIT 401 AND CXIT 421 or have equivalent network administration experience before taking this course.

42 Hours HST included Fee: $699

Databases

Please note: The following Database courses are not part of any course series.

Building DB Apps with MS Access

This course will provide learners with a solid foundation in Microsoft Access. Topics include database design concepts, and the creation and modification of tables, forms, queries, and reports. More advanced topics include advanced forms/subforms, macros, relationships, multi-table queries, advanced reporting, built-in functions, and module programming. Students will be introduced to business database design templates. Upon completion of this course, learners will be able to create an interface using Switchboard Manager.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students have basic Access skills or equivalent relational database experience before taking this course.

42 Hours HST included Fee: $699

Introduction to SQL

This course will introduce learners to SQL (Structured Query Language), a standard data-oriented language used to generate, manipulate, and retrieve information from a relational database. Learners will explore the relational database model and will... obtain hands-on experience writing SQL statements and working with data. No previous programming experience is required, but it is recommended that students have some general computer experience, such as being able to use a desktop application comfortably, before taking this course.

SQL Server 2008 Reporting Services

CXEC 330

In this course for data analysts, developers, database administrators, and those who develop and deploy reports using MS SQL Server Reporting Services, students will create data-rich reports using Microsoft’s server-based reporting solution. Topics include data access and report design, model building using the Ad Hoc and Standalone Report Builders as well as the Report Designer, managing report execution and subscriptions, and implementing custom report items. Students will learn advanced report management and how to extend data access and customize security.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXCP 216 or have equivalent SQL experience before taking this course.

Java EE Solution Developer

Java EE (Enterprise Edition) is the current enterprise level industry standard for object-oriented cross-platform distributed application development. This program will provide the learner with hands-on experience with tools for web component solution development within the Java EE development architecture including JSP, EJB, Struts, JSP, Spring, and Hibernate. These courses may assist learners to prepare for various Sun certifications. These courses are appropriate for learners with a programming background.

Candidates who complete all required courses for the Java EE Solution Developer program and earn an overall average of 70% or higher are eligible to earn a Java EE Solution Developer recognition from Ryerson University. Developing Java EE Compliant Applications (JavaBeans)

CXEC 312

This course provides learners with the hands-on skills to build and deploy Java EE applications. Topics include stateless and stateful Session Beans, Message Driven Beans, managed and unmanaged entities, the proper use of transactions and security while building an application, assembling applications reusing components, and deploying an application into the Java EE runtime environment.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXEC 320 or have equivalent Java EE programming and development experience or be a SCP before taking this course.

Web Component Development with Java Technology (Servlets and JSP)

CXEC 313

This course provides learners with the knowledge and skills required to develop web tier components from JavaServer Pages (JSP) and servlet technologies. Learners will explore both the technical details of JSP and servlet technology, and the best practices for analyzing, designing, developing, testing, and deploying web applications with Java technologies.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXEC 320 or have equivalent Java EE programming and development experience, or be a Sun Certified Professional before taking this course.

Java Advanced

CXEC 320

This course provides learners with the skills required to create Java applications using the object-oriented features of the Java language, including inheritance and polymorphism. Topics include using File I/O class libraries and GUI components (frames, menus, panels, buttons, labels, text fields). Learners will create stand-alone and multi-threaded applications, and a TCP/IP client that communicates through sockets.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXCP 211 or have equivalent Java programming experience before taking this course.

Java Introduction  CXCP 211

This course will provide learners with an introduction to the Java programming language. Learners will explore classes and objects, use control statements, methods, arrays, and use the file I/O class libraries to read and write to and from data and text files. Topics will include the object-oriented features of the Java programming language, such as inheritance and polymorphism. No previous programming experience is required before taking this course, but students should have some general computer experience before taking this course.

Website Design and Development

These courses will provide learners with the foundation to design and develop websites by providing the skills required to control the way a website is displayed, as well as incorporating dynamic functionality. Candidates who complete all required courses for the Website Design and Development program and earn an overall average of 70% or higher are eligible to earn a Website Design and Development recognition from Ryerson University. (See www.ryerson.ca/ce/its for more information.)

Adobe Photoshop  CXCP 184

This course will introduce learners to the popular paint program Photoshop. Introductory topics include creating original artwork, retouching and enhancing scanned images, and applying filters and special effects to images. Intermediate topics include pen tool techniques, vector paths and shapes, advanced layer use and preparation for web, including rollovers and animations. Students should have experience working in the Windows environment before taking this course.

Adobe Creative Suite for the Web  CXCP 185

This course will provide the learner with hands-on exposure to the Adobe Creative Suite applications, Dreamweaver and Flash, including an introduction to Fireworks (or equivalent). These powerful tools allow developers to create professional webpages that include graphics and animation. Topics will include site design, creating layouts with and without tables, using embedded and external style sheets, images and forms, building dynamic user interfaces, and embedding audio and video into a website using Flash and XHTML.

Note: It is recommended that students complete CXCP 663 (or equivalent) prior to taking this course.

JavaScript

JavaScript, an interpretative programming language that can be embedded into HTML, enhances the document by creating an interactive experience between a user and a Web browser. Learners will obtain hands-on exposure to JavaScript concepts, including variables, functions, event handling, operators, and statements. Students will gain experience with Dynamic HTML, creating a dynamic Website using multi-dimensional objects, navigational menus, and controls.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXCP 663 or have equivalent experience before taking this course.

Flash Advanced

This course is for designers and budding developers familiar with the Flash environment. In this course, students will produce an engaging Flash interface using text, graphics, animations, video, and sound. Advanced Flash user interactions are taught employing hand-coded ActionScript behaviours. The learner will focus on the essentials of Flash design and ActionScript, and will learn to emphasize best practices throughout the course. This course picks up from the Flash component introduced in course CXCP 685 and develops skills learned in CXCP 673 to continue to build and develop rich media applications both for the web and for stand-alone applications.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXCP 663, CXCP 685, and CXCP 673 (or equivalent) prior to taking this course.

PHP/MySQL Web Design Fundamentals

PHP is a server-side scripting language which is used to create dynamic websites that interact with databases. Distinct from the client-side scripting language JavaScript, PHP runs directly on the web server, enabling highly customized responses to users’ requests or queries into databases. This course for web designers will provide learners with hands-on experience writing PHP scripts, focusing on language syntax and the use of functions, arrays, strings, and regular expressions. Learners will embed PHP code into web pages, create PHP-based web forms, configure MySQL, and learn how to use PHP with MySQL.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXCP 663 AND CXCP 673 or have equivalent experience before taking this course. Familiarity with relational databases is recommended.

eCommerce Design with PHP/MySQL

Building on the PHP scripting skills and MySQL integration concepts learned in pre-requisite course, CXCP685, this course will provide learners with the skills necessary to add e-commerce functionality to their websites. Topics include site requirements, search engine optimization, receiving PayPal payments, processing credit card transactions, meeting online banking requirements, and security and privacy issues. Learners will create a catalog and a shopping cart and validate forms.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXCP 685 and its prerequisites before taking this course or have equivalent experience. The completion of CXCP 216 or equivalent SQL experience is also recommended.

Advanced Dreamweaver with CSS

Building on the Dreamweaver component taught in CXCP189, this course will provide learners with the skills required to create large, dynamic, standards-compliant web sites. Learners will use Adobe’s robust Spry framework to enhance webpage interactivity and will expand Dreamweaver by using snippets, libraries, and behaviours. Dreamweaver’s powerful and dynamic site creation tools will be used to incorporate databases into web sites.

Note: It is strongly recommended that students complete CXCP 663 AND CXCP 185 or have equivalent experience before taking this course. The completion of CXCP 673 or equivalent experience would be beneficial.

Contemporary Science

These contemporary science courses are designed to help students understand the connection between science and everyday life.

Biology

* Biology of a Living City
CSCI 181
Antirequisite(s): CBLG 143, CBLG 144
This course will examine current selected topics in biology including cloning, today’s epidemics, genetically modified foods and environmental issues. Students will be introduced to many fundamental principles of modern biology as well as the history and ethics pertaining to the topics. This course is open to all arts students and has no secondary school biology requirement.
(Formerly SCI 100) (LL)
42 Hours Fee: $543

Chemistry

* Chemistry Applications to Living Systems
CSCI 182
Antirequisite(s): CCHY 102, CHY 103, CHY 104, CCHY 113, CHY 123
The emphasis of this course will be on understanding chemistry and the role it plays in everyday life, particularly to those who live in an urban environment. The course will endeavor to have a conceptual and contextual focus rather than a quantitative approach, relating chemistry to urban/environmental issues with particular reference to life in Toronto where possible. Topics could include water/sewage treatment, air pollution, energy sources, soil chemistry, foods, and industrial chemistry (polymer, petroleum, pharmaceutical, etc). The curriculum could also include sections on street drugs, cosmetics, chemistry in the movies, and forensic chemistry. (Formerly SCI 101). (May not be used as a credit towards a science degree). (LL)

Criminal Justice and Criminology

Students will become familiar with the structural, administrative, political, and professional context of the criminal justice system and its related agencies, while also gaining an appreciation for the complex causes and consequences of crime in Canadian society.

Criminal Justice and Criminology

* Introduction to Canadian Criminal Justice
  CCRM 100
  Antirequisite(s): CCRM 101

This course introduces students to the administrative and institutional components of the Canadian criminal justice system and the principles that govern it. The course will be organized around the police, courts, correctional systems, and will take a critical approach to both the formal principles of justice as they apply to this system, as well as how they are woven into the process at various stages. * Policing in Canada
  CCRM 300

Prerequisite(s): CCRM 100 and CCRM 102

Students are introduced to the concept of “policing” and the institutional and non-institutional forms it may take. The intersection of the uniformed, public police with other policing bodies, police discretion, culture and issues of accountability and governance are central to this course. The role of communities and developments in the global context provide the context for analysis of the future of democratic policing.

* Youth Justice in Canada
  CCRM 304

Prerequisite(s): CCRM 100 and CCRM 102

This course considers the theoretical and policy issues which relate specifically to young people in conflict with the law and their intersection with legal systems in Canada. The focus of the course will be on an analysis of the historical development of a separate legal system for dealing with youthful offenders and the changes in discourses around youth crime that have been reflected in reforms to that system.

* Corrections in Canada
  CCRM 306

Prerequisite(s): CCRM 100 and CCRM 102

Students are introduced to the philosophical trends and approaches within the correctional system in Canada. The focus will be on understanding the historical and political context of correctional practices and their impact on specific populations, such as women, Aboriginal people and racialized communities. We end with an analysis of correctional practices in other jurisdictions, including capital punishment and the development of alternative approaches.

* Criminal Courts in Canada

Prerequisite(s): CCRM 100 and CCRM 102

The focus of this course is on the structure and function of the criminal courts in Canada, with particular emphasis on the points of tension at various stages. Rather than being a course on the technical aspects of criminal prosecution, points of tension in the process will be considered through an analysis of a variety of topics, including pre-trial detention, sentencing, plea discussions and the wrongfully convicted.

Monday 18:00-21:15  Jan 10-Apr 11

* Ethics in Criminal Justice
CCRM 322
Prerequisite(s): CCRM 100 and CCRM 102

This course introduces students to the ethical foundations of justice, and their implications and applications at various junctures in the criminal justice system. Ethics in public and private policing, the legal profession (defense, prosecution, judiciary), and punishment are given in-depth consideration. Emphasis will be placed on a case study approach, and student-led analyses.

42 Hours  Fee: $495
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

* Criminal Justice and Social Inequality
CCRM 402
Prerequisite(s): CCRM 100 and CCRM 102
Antirequisite(s): JUS 400

This course examines various forms of social inequality as they intersect with the criminal justice system in Canada. The course will challenge the notion of an objective, value-neutral criminal justice system, and will consider the impact of operational and policy decisions on race, class, gender and other forms of social inequality. Topics will include systemic racism, gender discrimination, the over-representation of people who live in poverty and other relevant issues.

* Drafting for Entertainment
CDID 170
This course focuses on the guiding disciplines that form the structure on which works of art and design are built. Students will be introduced to the basic elements of drafting and its practical application to describing scenographic space, including: theatre, film, television, new media and site-specific installations, staged photography, and virtual scenery. Special attention will be given to the similarities and differences of staging between the media, with consideration given to sightlines and POVs, safety and ergonomics, and special scenic effects. Plans, direct elevations, elevations, sections, isometric drawings, and storyboards will be explained and practiced. This course will enable students to describe their design interpretations in CDMP 122 and CDMP 123. (Equivalent to one Professional elective from Table I, see Undergraduate Program Calendar.)

* History of Arts and Scenography
CDMP 130
This course will study scenography as a parallel progression in a cross-cultural survey of the arts. Organized along major world belief systems, students will familiarize themselves with visual and aural culture as it is expressed in art, music, architecture, fashion, and decorative arts. From sacred space to 21st Century media, students will examine how the elements of early spiritual dance evolved with emerging technologies and changes in religious, societal, and political systems. Students will learn to recognize cultural and scenographic trends as they conduct primary and secondary source research. The scenographic tradition will be addressed in terms of ceremony, interpreting text, for constructed or virtual worlds, relationship-building in communities, and collaborative work structures. The lexicon of scenographic technologies and styles will also be examined as a reflection of world culture. Weekly lectures and visual and aural research will enable students to create a personal textbook of sources to use for designing productions. (Equivalent to one Professionally Related elective from Table II, see Image Arts in the Undergraduate Program Calendar.)

Design Management

With an appreciation of design and business fundamentals, design managers create and maintain collaborative relationships among designers, clients, and administrators. Their contribution is an essential factor in the success of their organizations.

Design Management

It is preferable to start the Certificate in Design Management with CDDM 101 or CDDM 102. Related certificate(s): Design Management

* Introduction to Design Management CDDM 101
This course is an introduction to the business of design. It explores the link between design and the managing of design business activities. It outlines the function of the design manager as the orchestrator of other professionals including designers, technologists, administrators, and marketers. Topics include leadership and team building; multidisciplinary alliances; client relationships; client/contractor contracts; the studio environment; corporate culture and organizational frameworks. Design Research CDDM 106
This course provides an opportunity for students to investigate a problem of critical interest to design management in any field of design specialization. It stresses individual study, self motivation, the skills required to research information, oral and written presentation. To prepare for the research, the course may include an introduction to design research: planning the research process, defining research objectives, data collection, analyzing data, sources of information, using databases, and presenting the findings. Students will define and investigate a problem with either a Ryerson faculty member, an independent consultant, or an industry supplier/manufacturer.

42 Hours Fee: $525

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Design Awareness I CDDM 104
This course is an introduction to the fundamental aspects of design. It explores the various definitions and meanings of the word “design.” As design is a tool for examining our culture and our environment, this course may include topics such as: why we design as a response to meet needs; what affects design and what design affects; government, political, and corporate influences on design; universal design; ecologically responsible design; sustainability issues in design; and design in a global context.

42 Hours Fee: $525

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Early Childhood Education

These courses introduce you to the challenging field of early childhood education. Whether working with children who have special needs or those from different ethno-racial backgrounds, diversity is key. Those who flourish in the field know that teaching, assessing, and guiding children begins with an understanding of the Canadian cultural mosaic. Early childhood educators' contribution to society is immeasurable. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ca/eced.

Early Childhood Education

This direct entry program for ECE diploma graduates from the CAATs builds on students' knowledge of child development and curriculum. For further information on courses, prerequisites, and admission to the ECE degree program, call the School of Early Childhood Education at 416.979.5306 or visit www.ryerson.ca/ca/eced.

Psychomotor Development  CCLD 204

Prerequisite(s): (CCLD 103 and CPSY 102) or Direct Entry

This course focuses on the psychomotor development of children from conception to the middle childhood years. Theories, models and current research of motor behavior and development are investigated. An explanation of the stages of physical growth and changing body images of the young child enables students to think through teaching strategies and to prepare age and level-appropriate motor activities for young children. (Formerly ECE 250).

42 Hours  Fee: $513

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Social-Emotional Intelligence  CCLD 205

Prerequisite(s): (CCLD 103 and CPSY 102) or Direct Entry

This course provides an in-depth study of theory, research and applications in the area of children's emotional intelligence. Class topics include: theories of personality development, the development of emotions, attachment, the development of the sense of self, gender-typing and children's sexuality, aggression, peer relations and friendship, emotional intelligence theories, and strategies which promote the social and emotional intelligence of children.

42 Hours  Fee: $513

Language Development  CCLD 206

Prerequisite(s): (CCLD 103 and CPSY 102) or Direct Entry

The course explores the nature of language development in children. Biological endowment and environmental factors are considered. Language acquisition from fetal sound sensitivity to language behaviors of school-age children is investigated. Acquisition of the subsystems of language along with bilingualism and minority language contexts are explored. Stages in child language are identified and theories and current research on child language are examined. Students are introduced to methodologies, tools and strategies of child language research. Opportunity is provided for the collection and analysis of language data.

42 Hours  Fee: $513

Fall 2010
Field Education II: Special Needs
Prerequisite(s): CLD 161
Corequisite(s): CLD 212 and CLD 241

In their second on-campus or off-campus placement, students continue to apply their knowledge and skills working with children who may have identified special needs. These placements are primarily inclusive settings such as the Ryerson Early Learning Centre and Gerrard Resource Centre, early childhood care and education settings and primary classrooms. Students may also be placed in specialized programs devoted to children with specific exceptionalities. Students assess and focus on planning and implementing learning activities that are developmentally appropriate and adapted specifically to address the child’s extra support needs, special needs and learning styles and developing supportive relationships with families and the community, and working with colleagues. The on-campus seminar component of the course supports the students’ placement experience.

Note: Placements are available in fall, winter, and spring/summer terms. For scheduling information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ece. Students must attend a mandatory information session and obtain permission of the School of Early Childhood Education. The School will enroll students directly. For ECE direct entry students, this placement is only for students whose admission date was prior to 2005.

Creative Arts II
Prerequisite(s): CLD 215 or Direct Entry

Building upon Creative Arts I, this course emphasizes strategies, methods and activities for young children in music, movement and drama. Theories of the development of aesthetic sensibility in young children are explored and applied to the study of the theoretical bases for music education and global musical traditions. Music, movement, and drama education programs are critically analyzed along a number of dimensions to develop a philosophy and approach to music, movement and drama education.

Note: The Internet component of the Spring/Summer Classroom/Internet offering reflects the scheduling of the mandatory pre-course reading.

Students must enroll in this course prior to the last Friday of the Internet component.

Concept Development in Math
Prerequisite(s): CLD 212 or Direct Entry

This course helps future teachers of young children develop their understanding of the nature of mathematical knowledge, basic mathematical concepts, and processes of ‘doing’ mathematics. Students explore and critique the Ontario curriculum for mathematics (with a special focus on grades K to 3), design and teach lessons based on selected concepts, create physical and social environments to promote mathematical thinking, encourage positive attitudes toward mathematics, and learn to assess children’s knowledge, skills and attitudes.

Note: The Internet component of the Spring/Summer Classroom/Internet offering reflects the scheduling of the mandatory pre-course reading.

Students must enroll in this course prior to the last Friday of the Internet component.
Prerequisite(s): CCLD 262 or Direct Entry

This course extends and applies the materials covered in Research 1. Students formulate, carry out, write up, and present a research project of their own design in the field of early childhood education. Students also have the opportunity to analyze and critique each other’s projects and to evaluate a variety of research approaches. (Formerly ECE 306).

Assessment for Programming

Prerequisite(s): CCLD 262 or Direct Entry

This course examines approaches to assessment and evaluation of children’s development with attention to children with disabilities and children-at-risk, from birth to eight years. Students use formal and informal screening and assessment tools to develop individualized programming for young children, to address a range of developmental needs in a variety of early childhood settings. A conceptual framework for assessment and programming skills in designing an individual program plan are concrete outcomes of this course. (Formerly ECE 316).

Concept Development in Science

Prerequisite(s): CCLD 314

This course examines approaches to assessment and evaluation of children’s development with attention to children with disabilities and children-at-risk, from birth to eight years. Students use formal and informal screening and assessment tools to develop individualized programming for young children, to address a range of developmental needs in a variety of early childhood settings. A conceptual framework for assessment and programming skills in designing an individual program plan are concrete outcomes of this course. (Formerly ECE 316).
Prerequisite(s): CLD 212 or Direct Entry

This course helps future teachers learn the science concepts and skills that children need to acquire by undertaking group projects. Students learn what it means to think scientifically, how to continue to learn science, and how to encourage children to do so. They use the Ontario science curriculum (with a special focus on grades K - 3) to design learning environments and projects that advance children's knowledge and skills and learn to assess them. Teachers' and children's attitudes towards science and their implications are discussed.

Children and Technology CCLD 419

Prerequisite(s): CLD 212 or Direct Entry
Antirequisite(s): CECE 912

This course will entail an exploration of various knowledge media in early childhood education. Students will examine the use of computers in teaching and learning, develop a basic working knowledge of computers and online technologies, and learn techniques for assessing various forms of knowledge media intended for ECE educators and children from infancy to age 8. The goal is to engage in the process of rethinking technology in relation to teaching and learning with young children.

Note: Enrollment in this course is restricted to undergraduate students of the Ryerson School of Early Childhood Education and those with instructor permission. If required, email jnolan@ryerson.ca for approval.

Theory and Practice of Family Support CCLD 435

Prerequisite(s): CCLD 332
Antirequisite(s): CECE 441

This course provides a conceptual framework for examining the principles and practice approaches of family resource and support programs. A variety of perspectives are used to explore the needs of families and caregivers in the context of the community, public and non-profit programs and government policy. Students have the opportunity to apply theory to practice in a community setting. Theories of social support and empowerment are examined as fundamental components of family support. Students explore ways to integrate early childhood education theory and family support into community-based programs.

Infant Mental Health CCLD 442

Prerequisite(s): (CLD 231 and CCLD 342) or (Direct Entry and CCLD 342)

This course builds on previous child development courses for a detailed examination of the development of infants and toddlers. Students explore applications of developmental theory to identify and assess infants and toddlers, including those who may benefit from early intervention. Family empowerment intervention models are studied for all families with infants and toddlers. Cultural and economic contexts are stressed to assure responsiveness to diverse family models. (Formerly ECE 210).

Working With LCD Children CCLD 443

Prerequisite(s): CCLD 332

This course furthers students' understanding of work with linguistically and culturally diverse children. It addresses such topics as the pervasiveness of a dominant cultural perspective; institutional policies and practices regarding cultural biases in the curricula; the impact of marginalization of children's self-esteem and learning; and the need for anti-bias education in early childhood. Students explore ways in which child care programs and educational curricula could become more responsive to children whose language and culture differ from the dominant culture.

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Introduction to Therapeutic Interventions CCLD 444

Prerequisite(s): CCLD 342

This course introduces students to the theoretical foundations and practical skills for therapeutic interventions. Varied models are explored including play therapy, art therapy, music therapy, and drama therapy. Applications of techniques in varied early childhood settings are examined. The limits on the ethical use of the techniques are studied along with strategies for working with therapists. The dominant psychological models are investigated as well as cognitive, behavioral and other therapeutic models.

Inclusion and Consultation CCLD 445

Prerequisite(s): CCLD 342

This course examines the changing paradigms of service delivery in early intervention and special education for young children with special needs and their families. Inclusive models of service delivery are explored including collaborative and consultative models currently in use in infant development programs, group child care centres, family day care homes and early primary classrooms. Students consider educational change processes, consultation skills, public policy, interdisciplinary team collaborations, and teaching strategies in inclusive classrooms.

Contemporary Issues in ECE CCLD 454

Prerequisite(s): CPOL 220

This course relies on critical thinking and communication skills in the development of one's individual position on contemporary issues based on a critical examination of policy, discussion papers, research, and journal and media articles that are relevant to current issues in the ECE and allied professions. Classroom discussions and debate expose students to alternative perspectives and provide practice in analyzing and communicating the values underlying points of view, recognizing inherent biases, and forming judgments based on evidence. (Formerly ECE 901).

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Senior Internship

Prerequisite(s): CCLD 363

Students choose from three options: a field placement, a research/development project or an international/out-of-province placement. All options emphasize students’ development as an emerging professional. For field placement, students select an area of specialization within the broad scope of their studies. For the international/out-of-province field placement, students select a placement outside of the country/province. The research/development project offers students the opportunity to design and complete an original project.

Note: Placements are available in fall, winter, and spring/summer terms. For scheduling information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ece. Students must attend a mandatory information session and obtain permission of the School of Early Childhood Education. The School will enroll students directly. AQ Kindergarten

This course examines child development and learning theories that inform our understanding of the whole child as learner. Understanding and application of the kindergarten curriculum will be emphasized alongside issues related to transitioning of children from preschool through kindergarten and onto the primary grades. Students will critically examine and design inclusive learning environments so that all children, irrespective of their learning needs, have equal opportunities to learn. Students will also explore the use of technology in supporting teaching and learning in the classroom.

Note: Enrollment is subject to verification of the applicant’s membership in the Ontario College of Teachers (OCT). Candidates seeking admission are required to submit a supplementary form with details of their OCT membership. The form is available at www.ryerson.ca/ece/aq. * Canadian Economic History

Antirequisite(s): CECN 509

The aim of this course is to acquaint the student with the major economic events in our history. The course will have two prominent themes. The first of these is the importance of staple production to the national economy. Since, for the most part the choice of which staple to produce at a given time was dictated by international market forces, the development of each staple product, i.e. cod, fur, lumber, is analyzed within an international framework. The second theme of the course is the development of modern industrial sectors since 1850. Restriction: Criminal Justice, Politics and Governance, Psychology, Sociology, Undeclared Arts. (LL)

* Statistics for Economics I

Prerequisite(s): CMTH 189

This course is an introduction to descriptive and inferential statistics. Descriptive statistics consists of characterizing data sets by both frequency distributions and measures of central tendency and dispersion. Inferential statistics consists of techniques to make predictions or probabilistic statements about a whole population by studying the properties of a sample drawn from the population. Because inferential statistics depends on the probability theory, some probability laws will be studied, including the Binomial, Normal and t-distributions.

Note: Students enrolled in one of the following Chang School certificates may substitute CMTH 140 for the CMTH 189 prerequisite: Economics, Industrial Organization and Policy, Introductory International Economics, Macroeconomic Theory and Policy, Microeconomic Theory and Policy, or Quantitative Economics.

* Labour Economics  CECN 605
Prerequisite(s): (CECN 104 and CECN 204) or Direct Entry
Antirequisite(s): CECN 505

This course aims to introduce students to basic labour economics, with particular reference to the Canadian case. This course draws on contemporary methods to model and analyse key aspects such as labour supply and demand behaviour. These aspects are combined to explore the determination of wages and major policy questions such as minimum wage legislation and unionization. The acquired tools are applied to special topics such as human capital investment, immigration, gender discrimination and unemployment.

* International Monetary Economics  CECN 606
Prerequisite(s): CECN 301
Antirequisite(s): CECN 607

The world monetary order is examined. Topics include foreign exchange rates, international balance of payments and concepts of imbalance, fixed versus flexible exchange rate regimes along with some historical perspective. Strong emphasis is put on the operation of the International Monetary Fund and the problems of providing adequate finance for developing countries and a satisfactory adjustment system for members of the I.M.F.

* Issues in the International Economy  CECN 607
Antirequisite(s): CECN 606

This course deals with international financial markets and the ways in which they affect national economies. By studying the operations of these markets it will be shown how significantly they constrain domestic policy-making, not only in a small open economy like Canada’s but increasingly in all other economies as well. Attention is given to issues of current political concern, such as the Third World debt problem, the American trade deficit, the rise of Japan as a major international creditor, and the disintegration of the Communist system in Eastern Europe. (UL)

* European Economic Development  CECN 609
Antirequisite(s): CECN 205

This is a survey course of European economic development from the fall of the Roman Empire to the Great Depression of the 1930s. The theme around which the course is organized is the role of economic institutions such as slavery, land tenure systems, and guilds, directing economic forces to serve social needs. (UL)

42 Hours  Fee: $495
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

* An Introduction to Game Theory  CECN 614
Prerequisite(s): CECN 700

This course draws on contemporary methods to model and analyse key aspects such as labour supply and demand behaviour. These aspects are combined to explore the determination of wages and major policy questions such as minimum wage legislation and unionization. The acquired tools are applied to special topics such as human capital investment, immigration, gender discrimination and unemployment.
Game theory studies the interactions and conflicts between decision-making agents. This course focuses on its application to economic issues such as market structure, auctions and bargaining. It begins by introducing the concepts of action, strategies, cooperation and non-cooperation, and equilibrium. The assumption of complete information is then relaxed and the application of game theory to situations of incomplete and imperfect information is explored. The course draws on real world examples to illustrate core concepts, such as the Prisoner’s Dilemma and buying votes. These examples borrow from micro, macro and experimental economics.

42 Hours  Fee: $495

* Econometrics I
CECN 627
Prerequisite(s): CECN 301 and (CECN 329 or CQMS 442 or QMS 703)

This course examines what happens when economic data do not satisfy the assumptions of the Classical Linear Regression Model. It explains why ordinary least squares methods are not appropriate in the presence of, for example, autocorrelation or heteroscedasticity, and how estimation techniques have to be modified to take these problems into account. Extensive use will be made of software packages like T.S.P.

* The Economics of Immigration
CECN 640
Prerequisite(s): CECN 104 and CECN 204

This course applies economic principles to immigration. Students will examine issues such as discrimination, humanitarian concerns, the impact on the wages and employment prospects of native-born persons, social assistance programs, and contributions to the financing of such programs. The course will develop an understanding of the role of economics in providing theoretical predictions and empirical evidence that is relevant to the issues. Students will be equipped to discuss emerging new issues in this area.

* Intermediate Microeconomics II
CECN 700
Prerequisite(s): CECN 504

This course extends price theory to the market structures of monopoly and oligopoly, and to the markets for economic resources. It gives an introduction to general equilibrium analysis and to the economics of information. Applications include, for example, the economics of coupons and rebates, and the market for “lemons”.

* Econometrics II
CECN 702
Prerequisite(s): CECN 627

Extends the econometric principles developed in ECN 627. Major topics include: qualitative variables, distributed lag models, single equation forecasting, simultaneous equation systems and two and three stage least squares estimation. Assignments are processed using TSP software.

42 Hours  Fee: $495

* Public Finance I
CECN 703
Prerequisite(s): CECN 301 and CECN 504

The public sector’s large role in the economy shows the importance of understanding the principles of public finance. How do we explain the growth of the public sector’s share in the economy during most of the twentieth century? What criteria are relevant in determining the optimal level and scope of government activities? Topics examined include public goods and externalities, natural monopolies, pricing of publicly produced goods, and benefit-cost analysis.

* Economics of International Trade
CECN 707
Prerequisite(s): CECN 504
Antirequisite(s): GMS 601, IBS 601

The purpose of this course is to introduce the student to the theory and practice of international economics. The factor proportions theory of trade is explained, and the evidence supporting it examined. Major emphasis is placed on the “new international economics” and its implications for Canadian trade policy. The issues surrounding free trade with the United States are examined, as well as the perceived need for interventionist industrial policies.

* Transportation Economics
CECN 710
Prerequisite(s): CECN 104 or IND 302 or Direct Entry
Antirequisite(s): MGT 803

Addresses current and historical economic issues in both passenger and freight transport for all modes, as well as for urban transportation. The course examines the economics of significant transportation issues from, between and within the developed world. Demand-side issues, such as changing income levels and locational decisions; supply-side issues, such as the need for adequate funding for urban carriers; and constraints, such as regulation and uncertainty arising from political situations are synthesized.

* Advanced Microeconomics
CECN 715
Prerequisite(s): CECN 700

This course deals with the theories of consumption and of production at a more advanced level. It discusses decision making by consumers and firms, in situations of certainty as well as uncertainty and risk. The course introduces the students to welfare economics, and applies microeconomic theory and welfare economics to specific problems and policy issues.

42 Hours  Fee: $495

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

* International Financial Markets
CECN 721
Prerequisite(s): CECN 301
This course develops a solid understanding of the international financial system and examines managerial decisions made in an international setting. First, current theories of financial price determination and their testable implications are studied in the context of foreign exchange, offshore, derivative securities and international asset portfolio markets. Second, managerial decisions regarding capital financing, investing and risk management are analyzed from the point of view of private individuals, firms and governments.

42 Hours Fee: $495

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

* Principles of Engineering Economics
  CECN 801
  Principles of economic decision analysis applied to private and public sector capital projects. Discounted cash flow methods are studied. Tax impacts of depreciation and interest charges are incorporated into decision rules. Other topics covered include: lease analysis, replacement decisions, sensitivity and break even analysis, inflation impacts and public sector project analysis.

* The Economies of East Asia
  CECN 802
  Prerequisite(s): (CECN 110 and CECN 210) or (CECN 104 and CECN 204)
  The economies of East Asia are among the most dynamic in the world. Japan has long been one of the world’s leading industrial powers, the economies of the newly industrialized countries of Asia (NICs) are rapidly growing in importance, and economic modernization in China is likely to be an important factor in shaping the future world economy. In this course the Asian economies will be analysed in an international context. (UL)

* Public Finance II
  CECN 803
  Prerequisite(s): (CECN 104 and CECN 204) or Direct Entry
  This course focuses on the problems and theoretical issues of financing government. The major forms of taxation-personal and corporate income taxes, sales and commodity taxes and the property tax-are examined critically. In addition, the main features of Canadian fiscal federalism (intergovernmental transfers, equalization grants and revenue-sharing), are reviewed and appraised.

* Advanced Macroeconomics
  CECN 815
  Prerequisite(s): CECN 600
  This course is intended to give a full coverage of modern macroeconomic theory and its application to stabilization policy. How, if at all, can government fight unemployment and inflation? Should they even try? The effectiveness of fiscal and monetary policies will be discussed from the points of view of Keynesians and Monetarists, and of those macroeconomists who believe that rational expectations on the part of economic agents render both types of stabilization policies ineffective.

42 Hours Fee: $495

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

* Country Risk Analysis
  CECN 821
  Prerequisite(s): ECN 720
  This course introduces the students to the theory and practice of managing cross-border lending and international investment risk. The course gives a comprehensive coverage of the analysis and reporting of sovereign creditworthiness, political risk, current account analysis, statistical credit-scoring methodologies, loan valuation, portfolio management and regulatory supervision. Several case studies will be used, including the Mexican Peso crisis and the collapse of the markets in South East Asia.

42 Hours Fee: $495

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Financial Basics
  COEC 100
  Work on your budgeting skills, learn how to track your spending, understand how credit products are marketed, manage your debt, compare different saving and investing options, choose a financial adviser, and avoid common financial frauds. Participants will learn the need for financial literacy as an essential life skill, the importance of asking questions when dealing with financial products and financial advisers, and the ways to save money when they think they’re stretched to the limit.

Note: Prior to the workshop, you may enroll online or in person. On the day of the workshop, you may enroll in person at the workshop location.

Engineering

These courses and workshops are ideally suited to technicians, technologists, or others working in engineering-related fields who wish to broaden their knowledge of current practices in engineering, upgrade their professional qualifications, or develop new skills that can be usefully applied in their work.

Note: Written approval is required before undergraduate degree program students can register in these courses. For more information, see Engineering Students on the Chang School website at www.ryerson.ca/ce.

Mechanical Engineering

Machine Shop Practice  CKME 103

This course is set out so that at its conclusion the student will have a practical basic training in the understanding and safe operation of machine shop tools and machinery. This will include the use of hand tools, measuring tools, (precision and standard) cutting tools, and machine shop processes associated with manufacturing. This course will be suitable for students in the Mechanical and Industrial disciplines or those who have a vested interest in knowing the practical aspect of machine shop practices. Also this course will be of great benefit to students who are embarking on projects involving the manufacturing of test components and equipment which require machine shop tools to manufacture.

- Laughter and Tears: Comic and Tragic Modes  CENG 101
  Why are some stories sad, others tragic? Are our emotional responses contingent on story-lines, on characters, on choice of words? This course helps develop analytic tools for understanding responses to fundamental forms, through readings of early and contemporary drama, poetry, prose fiction and literary criticism. We begin with the bawdy sexual politics of Aristophanes’ Lysistrata, and move to new forms, from the heroism of Frankenstein to the ironies of Alice Munro. (LL)

- The Canadian Short Story  CENG 104
  This course considers the development of the short story as an artistic form in Canada and asks: What might be distinctly “Canadian” about the Canadian short story? To answer this question, our study may be organized by focusing on major themes, historical and cultural influences, literary movements and/or major Canadian literary figures. Students will also concentrate on developing close reading skills. On occasion, short stories from other internationally acclaimed authors may be considered comparatively. (LL)

- The Nature of Narrative I  CENG 108
  Life without stories? Inconceivable. The moment we ask, “Who am I?” or “Where did I come from?” narrative steps in, giving shape to our identity and experience. This foundational course introduces students to fictional forms across a variety of historical periods and media in order to examine the underlying mechanisms of storytelling: narrative’s goals, inner structures, strategies, and rhetorical effects. Texts may include stories, novels, poetry, and drama as well as cinematic and digital texts.

★ Writing as a Cultural Act  CENG 200
This course takes a rhetorical perspective to explore the historical and philosophical transformations of writing and written texts. In particular, it examines the changing role of writing on knowledge, belief, and social organization through a study of theory, literature, and rhetorical form. Topics of analysis include the invention of the phonetic alphabet, the shift from oral to manuscript and print culture, the role of scribes and writers in communities, and the implications of digital authorship.

* Colonial and Postcolonial Literatures  CENG 413
Prerequisite(s): CENG 108

This course introduces students to one of the key areas of critical interest and debate in English studies, postcolonialism, and invites them to reflect upon and discuss the ways in which Empire - in its historical and present day manifestations - shapes “third world” or the “developing” world’s relationship with the West. It also familiarizes students with some of the most exciting and politicized theoretical debates in the discipline.

* Science Fiction  CENG 503

The mythology of our civilization is the story of things to come. The prophetic visions of writers such as Asimov, Brunner, Clarke, Gibson, Heinlein, Herbert, Hogan, LeGuin, Lem and Niven offer endless playgrounds for the imagination. Their second gift is a widening vista or real alternatives: our future may be what they let us choose to make it. If you want to play an informed part in that choice, this course will provide the menu. (Formerly ENG 301J) (UL)

Antirequisite(s): ENG 631

What does it mean to “write as a woman”? Is there such a thing as “women’s writing” and if so, what are its characteristics? This course explores the ways in which women have contributed to literary traditions both by working within and by challenging mainstream movements. In examining women’s use of literary forms as aesthetic, personal and political sites, we will consider how issues of identity and historical context inflect and inform their writing strategies. Imaginative writing of the post-war period reflects the complexity of contemporary life. In themes as old as folk tales and as current as new visions of space, writers express the dreams and terrors of post-nuclear life. It is an era in which values and beliefs have been challenged and conventional distinctions - illusion and reality, fact and fiction, the sacred and the profane - have been... called into question by writers as diverse as Margaret Atwood and Michael Ondaatje. (UL)

Prerequisite(s):
CENG 108

Reading Visual Cultures
CENG 705
Prerequisite(s): CENG 108

By exploring the ways images in photography, painting and film, as well as in literary and non-literary writing, are scripted and can be read as text, this course seeks to show how visuality organizes and shapes Western culture. Topics can include how such things as the invention of perspective and the visual technologies of photography and film have influenced philosophy and literature, and how the culture industries have used the visual as a tool to influence and entertain.

Shakespeare and Performance
CENG 706
Prerequisite(s): CENG 108

Shakespearean drama was an important medium for entertainment and for reflecting contemporary socio-political realities on stage. A mark of Shakespeare’s continued relevance and popularity is the constant remaking of his plays in a variety of media. This course analyses the textual, thematic, historical, and theoretical readings of Shakespearean drama in relation to questions of performance and adaptation by dealing with folk, early-modern/contemporary theatre, television, film, Postcolonial, Postmodern, feminist and mainstream adaptations of his plays. In addition to the prerequisite of ENG 108, it is recommended that students also complete ENG 421 and/or ENG 422 prior to enrolling in this course.

Televisual Texts and Contexts
CENG 888
Prerequisite(s): CENG 108

Love it or hate it, television stands alone as a medium in its ability to influence the way we live and view the world. What is it about the immediacy of television that invites us to engage with it? Students will draw from literary studies, sociology, and anthropology to explore how the “flow” of television structures our time and our relations to one another, and how the “televisual” evolves as new communications technologies develop.

42 Hours
Fee: $495

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Narrative in a Digital Age
CENG 921
Prerequisite(s): CENG 108

This course explores how contemporary writers and artists have attempted to come to terms with the so-called post-print era - a historical moment characterized by the strategies of fragmentation and recombination that digital hyperspaces make possible. By analysing digital texts and the work of cultural theorists on the nature and impact of this new medium, students will address the implications of the rise of computing and the internet for the future of literary and other cultural practices.

42 Hours
Fee: $495

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

English Writing Development

The ability to write clearly, effectively, and in a voice that is distinctly your own can be learned. These courses are designed to develop your feeling for language, your knowledge of its forms and structures, and your skills in composition. As you master these fundamentals, your writing will begin to reflect a more powerful and purposeful use of language. Related certificate(s): English Literature and Popular Culture

Creative Writing
CENG 505

This upper-level course offers students the opportunity both to study models of good writing and to develop their own creative abilities. Class discussions and workshop groups are designed to enhance the student’s understanding of the creative process, to stimulate the imagination, and to develop individual abilities. Areas of discussion include style, prosody, conflict, character, dialogue, and revision. (UL)

Environmental Engineering Science and Environmental Management

The environment is the natural, social, and built condition in which we live, and it is shaped by the interaction of the elements that surround us. Human impact on the environment requires effective management practices to protect the environment. Environmental sciences and management offer an increasing number of career opportunities in fields as varied as ecology, occupational health and safety, physical science, bioremediation, engineering, law, and management.

Environmental Engineering Science

This multidisciplinary program provides graduates with the broad knowledge base and wide range of skills they require as professionals. Students receive a grounding in air, water, and soil processes and contamination, biotechnology, instrumentation, and experiment design. Admission into the Environmental Engineering Science Certificate Program is necessary prior to the first registration in one of the following courses. After admission to the program, no further interviews are necessary. Related certificate(s): Environmental Engineering Science, Sustainability

Hydrogeology Soil and Ground Water Science  CKES 102

This course will present an overview of the subsurface environment with particular emphasis on the physical/chemical characteristics of soil and groundwater. Topics will include the origin, structure, and chemistry of soils. The concepts of hydrogeology and the flow of water in subsurface media are explored. Methods of measurement, monitoring, and analysis of hydraulic systems are developed.

Family Studies

★ Families and Health  CFNF 100
This course is a critical examination of recent important changes in Canadian family life and considers the implications of these changes for food and nutrition professionals. Theories for understanding the family are examined in order to provide the student with insight into the social, political and economic aspects of family structure and functioning. Students will also gain an understanding of the social determinants of health, and the pathways by which social forces and conditions affect individual, family and community life.

42 Hours Fee: $579
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.
Equivalent course available in the degree program. Contact Reg Noble at food@ryerson.ca for more information.

★ The Social Context of Human Sexuality  CFNF 400
This course examines the social basis of attitudes and behaviour related to human sexuality. By applying knowledge gained from the study of current research and theory, students will increase their understanding of the roots of societal norms and values related to sexuality and in the process they will have an opportunity to expand their own awareness of the range of sexual values and behaviour. Some of the areas to be considered are: premarital, marital and non-marital sexuality; sexuality and liberation; sexuality and interpersonal relations; sex codes and personal codes; sex and gender role socialization, etc.

Film Theory

This segment will survey major theoretical approaches to cinema from formalist and realist traditions to contemporary developments in the discipline. Students will read classic texts, view significant films, and be introduced to current critical theory. They will gain knowledge of the rhetoric, grammar, structure, aesthetics, and ideology of cinema, and will acquire a frame of reference for questioning the inherent belief systems within certain works of cinematic art. (CDMP 120 combined with CDMP 121 is equivalent to MPF 27 A/B.)

Production Design for Film and Theatre

This course offers an in-depth exploration of scenography (design for arts and entertainment), emphasizing original concept design. Students may choose to develop production proposals for film, television, theatrical photography, or new media installations. Students will learn to analyze dramatic text and narrative frameworks, followed by the use of visual research techniques to support scenographic concepts. Students will apply their learning by developing a three-dimensional model and costume renderings as well as storyboards for a paper production of choice, whether a film, video, installation, book of theatrical photographs, or website. CDMP 122 replaces the first half of CFPN 31 A/B.

Art Direction for Film and Special Events

This course addresses the technical skills needed to work in a film or television art department. Working with half-hour scripts, students will create art department breakdowns, and conduct a location survey leading to entertainment specific drafting, including a title block, ground plan, elevation, and isometric details. The students will incorporate a graphic prop to the retrofitted location. Students will also have the opportunity to assemble an art direction binder to maintain crucial administrative records such as budgets, calendars, directories, and design notes. People with an interest in motion picture, television, and film/video production will find this course particularly useful. It is also relevant for architects, interior designers, stage designers, photographers, and new media artists who want to expand their professional knowledge and activities. CDMP 123 replaces the second half of CFPN 31 A/B.

Short Filmmaking: On Location  CDMP 231

Living in our world exposed to constant media sources, the sharing of information forms our reality. In this production class, we are looking at media arts, using inspiration of art and popular culture. Innovative approaches to short film-making will be the focus of the course. Motion will be explored in a digital environment, using principally Adobe After Effects. Combining technical and theoretical components, this unique course will take advantage of the various shooting possibilities and cultural resources available at selected location and its surrounding areas. This course will include lectures, organized visits, technical workshops in Adobe After Effects, and critiques of student work. (Equivalent to one Professionally Related elective from Table II, see Image Arts in the Undergraduate Program Calendar.)

Food Security

These courses address issues of hunger, malnutrition, distribution of food, and environmental sustainability. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ce/foodsecurity.

Food Security

Selected Topics in Food Security

Prerequisite(s): CFNY 403

Course theme will vary. Topics will include sustainable food production, income security and food security, and case studies in food security.

Note: The course currently includes a field trip to Brazil. Students are required to complete and submit an application form which, given the limited spaces available for this course, will be used in a selection process prior to enrollment. For an application form or further information, please contact Cecilia Rocha at crocha@ryerson.ca.

42 Hours  Fee: $506

Material Fee: Additional costs for the field trip are not included in the course fee. For further information, contact Cecilia Rocha at crocha@ryerson.ca.

Food Security Concepts and Principles

The continuing reality of hunger and the unsustainable nature of current social, economic and food systems, both locally and globally, make food security an essential concern. This course introduces students to the concepts, programs and policies of food security, in Canada and internationally, with emphasis on the contribution of income, employment, social assistance, urban planning, and food production and distribution systems to finding solutions to food insecurity.

Food Policy and Programs for Food Security

Prerequisite(s): CFNY 403

Few jurisdictions in the world have put in place a full suite of policies and programs to create food security. Moreover, few countries have a national food policy. This course explores why development of program and policy initiatives for food security has occurred at such a slow pace and the impacts of this phenomenon. Frameworks for determining effective food security policies and programs are discussed, and proposals for policy and program change analyzed.

* Economics of Food Security
Prerequisite(s): CFNY 403

The course examines economic issues related to food security. It looks at the idea of "efficient" markets, and how much of food insecurity can be represented as "market failure". Global as well as local issues in food production and distribution are explored. Economic concepts and principles are used to examine the relationships between food security and agricultural trade, corporate concentration, family farms and subsistence agriculture, the environmental impact of food production, and biotechnology.

42 Hours Fee: $506

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

* Community Development and Food Security
Prerequisite(s): CFNY 403

This course looks at the importance of sustainable community development for food security, and how community-based food and nutrition projects can promote economic development. While income-generating projects can have an immediate impact on individual and household food security, food security projects contribute to community development through their impacts on the formation of human and social capital. Cases from around the world will be used as examples.

* Urban Food Security
Prerequisite(s): CFNY 403

The question of food security is a particular concern for urban populations as almost half of the world's population now resides in cities. Ensuring safe and affordable food for urban populations is a real challenge even for advanced industrial economies, and even worse for developing countries where resources are limited and poverty rates exceed 50 percent. This course will examine the unique challenges of creating food security in urban areas.

Winter 2011
Distance: Internet
Jan 15-Apr 16

* Gender and Food Security
Prerequisite(s): CFNY 409

The course explores the links between gender and food security. A discussion of the concept of gender and a critical historical review of the Women's Movement are followed by theoretical views of labour market discrimination and issues in Gender and Development. Topics for discussion include the role of women in agriculture and food production, HIV/AIDS and food security, and proposals for public policies and social action.

How Safe Is Our Food? CVFN 233

This course presents a comprehensive overview of food safety issues ranging from well-studied and recognized microbial food-borne diseases, to concerns arising from new technology and processes, to the problem of pathogenic organisms returning in a more virulent form. The course also takes a critical view of inspection and monitoring methods for food safety and examines policy, ethics, and attempts to establish international food standards.

42 Hours Fee: $496

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Understanding Urban Agriculture CVFN 410

Millions globally practise urban agriculture, with governments and civil society organizations increasingly promoting it to enhance urban food security, health, community building, sustainable livelihoods, and environmental management. This course expands the understanding of urban agriculture, its main types and dimensions, its potential impacts, the constraints and opportunities facing it, the stakeholders involved in it, the historical contexts shaping it, and the local, regional, and international development trends bearing on it.

Note: This course has been developed in partnership with ETC-Urban Agriculture (ETC-UA) and the Resource Centre on Urban Agriculture and Food Security (RUAF), with technical support provided by The Chang School.

This course is part of a portfolio of four distance education courses on urban agriculture, including the following: CVFN 410, CVFN 411, CVFN 412, and CVFN 413.

Dimensions of Urban Agriculture CVFN 411

This course describes the dimensions (functions, roles, benefits, potential risks) of urban agriculture and how these complement, supplement, compete with, substitute for, or undermine those provided by other land uses, sectoral activities and actors. The main dimensions covered are: health and food security, socio-cultural dimensions, economic dimensions, and environmental dimensions. Two well-documented case studies will be used throughout the course to highlight each dimension separately, before bringing them all together.

Note: This course has been developed in partnership with ETC-Urban Agriculture (ETC-UA) and the Resource Centre on Urban Agriculture and Food Security (RUAF), with technical support provided by The Chang School.

This course is part of a portfolio of four distance education courses on urban agriculture, including the following: CVFN 410, CVFN 411, CVFN 412, and CVFN 413.

Urban Agriculture Types CVFN 412

This course is part of a portfolio of four distance education courses on urban agriculture, including the following: CVFN 410, CVFN 411, CVFN 412, and CVFN 413.
Urban Agriculture (UA) is a dynamic concept that involves input supply, production, agro-processing and marketing. This course will discuss and illustrate different UA types and activities in terms of their resource-use, location, policy and institutional frameworks, functions, technical aspects, development challenges and potential innovations. It will also look into processes of decision making and location of UA and discuss a methodology for farmer-centred learning, research and extension for UA.

Note: This course has been developed in partnership with ETC-Urban Agriculture (ETC-UA) and the Resource Centre on Urban Agriculture and Food Security (RUAF), with technical support provided by The Chang School.

This course is part of a portfolio of four distance education courses on urban agriculture, including the following: CVFN 410, CVFN 411, CVFN 412, and CVFN 413.

Urban Agriculture Policy-Making CVFN 413
This course discusses participatory policy formulation processes leading to sustainable development and institutionalisation of urban agriculture. It starts discussing tools and methodologies for analysing stakeholders, farming systems, land uses, and regulatory frameworks. Next steps involve strategic planning, followed by the formulation of action projects and policies and their implementation (considering contrasting disciplinary perspectives), and finally, monitoring and evaluation. The course highlights lessons from a wide array of cities around the world.

Note: This course has been developed in partnership with ETC-Urban Agriculture (ETC-UA) and the Resource Centre on Urban Agriculture and Food Security (RUAF), with technical support provided by The Chang School.

French Theatre: 20th C and Contemporary

CFRE 803

In this course, students will analyze French theatre from the 20th century to the contemporary period. They will examine how theatrical conventions are challenged by authors who question the meaning of existence, and explore the limits of language and human relationships in our contemporary society. Possible readings include plays from the Theatre of the Absurd with Beckett and Ionesco as well as works by politically engaged playwrights who address topics such as exile and immigration, slavery and colonialism, race and gender. Fundraising Management

These courses provide a sound understanding of the role that fundraising can play in the nonprofit and voluntary sector. Interested students are encouraged to email the Community Services Program Assistant at m1johnso@ryerson.ca. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ce/fundraising.

Fundraising Management

Operations of Fundraising CVFM 201
Students will systematically examine the thinking and preparation needed to develop the infrastructure in support of effective fundraising. Topics all relate to the fund development process and include sound financial management practices, including accounting, budgeting, reporting, and accountability; policies; development and evaluation of a strategic fundraising plan; and the critical elements of a well-configured database. Drawing on case studies, readings, and research, students will apply the knowledge acquired to real life situations.

- 42 Hours Fee: $567
- Fall 2010 Tuesday 18:30-21:30 Sep 14-Dec 14

Donor Centered Fundraising CVFM 202
Students will explore critical and emerging issues in the charitable sector: donor-centered fundraising trends and techniques; donor stewardship and recognition; developing a culture of philanthropy; ethics and professionalism; and diversity, social media, and new trends in donor engagement. Drawing on research, readings, and case studies, students will analyze issues that will inform current and future fund development practices.

- 42 Hours Fee: $567
- Fall 2010 Distance: Internet Sep 11-Dec 11

Fundraising Campaigns CVFM 203
Students will examine major gifts fundraising campaigns, within and outside of a capital campaign context, and planned giving programs. Course topics include organizational readiness (e.g., feasibility study, case for support, campaign planning, goal setting, budgeting, timelines); leadership (staff and volunteer leadership, organizational structure); managing the campaign (identifying prospective donors, monitoring and concluding the campaign, reporting); and the adaptations required for different sized organizations. Research in major gift fundraising will be reviewed.

- 42 Hours Fee: $567
- Fall 2010 Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Entrepreneurial Fundraising CVFM 302
Approaches to corporate and foundation support will be examined from both the charitable sector and corporate/foundation perspective. The infrastructure necessary to support effective programs will be discussed: proposal and grant writing, donor identification, stewardship, and accountability. Research and practical application related to emerging trends and current practice will be reviewed: corporate social responsibility, sponsorship, cause marketing, and employee engagement. Entrepreneurial activities in fundraising will be explored, both by reviewing research and examining real-life examples.

- 42 Hours Fee: $567
- Winter 2011 Distance: Internet Jan 15-Apr 16

Annual Giving Programs CVFM 303
The role of annual giving will be explored, including its interconnectedness to other fundraising programs and how it cuts horizontally across the organization. Students will review fundamentals of direct mail, online, and other models of giving. Special events and their role in engaging and stewarding donors will be explored in addition to event conception, planning, and execution. Gaming as part of a philanthropy program will be explored, including a review of the regulatory framework.

- 42 Hours Fee: $567

Canadian Health System CVPT 110

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

This course helps internationally educated physiotherapists understand the organizations and operation of the Canadian health care system and provides an overview of how physiotherapists function in the health care system. Relevant legislation and contemporary trends and issues will be addressed. The course provides contextual knowledge and understanding of the health care system with a goal to facilitate learners' consideration of how to adapt their professional competencies to the Ontario workplace.

21 Hours Fee: $300

IEPT Multiple Choice Exam Strategies CVPT 120

This workshop is for internationally educated physiotherapists who are preparing to take the written component of the Physiotherapy Competency Examination (PCE). This workshop teaches general exam preparation and management strategies for Competence Based MCQ Exams.

7 Hours Fee: $150

Strategies for Managing IEPT Practical Exams CVPT 130

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

This workshop is designed to teach Internationally Educated Physiotherapists skills for managing an Objective Structured Clinical Examination. The day will be run under typical examination conditions. During the workshop, candidates will challenge 6 OSCE stations to practice application of the strategies discussed. Examiners will mark individual performance in the practice stations to further demonstrate the strategies and skills appropriate to challenging a competence based OSCE exam. Examiners will de-brief the practice test and review some of the technical errors candidates must avoid in addressing OSCE.

7 Hours Fee: $525

Context of PT Practice in Ontario CVPT 200

Prerequisite(s): CVPT 100 and CVPT 110

The Clinical Decision Making Model (CDMM) will be applied using case scenarios which include a minimum of two co-morbidities and increasingly complex inter-professional collaboration issues. A working knowledge of common medications of health conditions treated by physiotherapists will be introduced. Differential diagnoses will be further explored to assist students in developing clinical impressions and working hypotheses for their clinical interventions. Disability management and the expectations of payer such as WSIB or insurers will be explored.

42 Hours Fee: $600

PT Professional Practice/Competency CVPT 220

Prerequisite(s): CVPT 100 and CVPT 110

Building the foundation necessary for successful completion of the Physiotherapy Competency Exam and clinical practice in Canada, this course develops knowledge and skill in self-assessment, reflection, and professional behaviours. Students will learn to identify their strengths and weaknesses, and address gaps in their knowledge, skills, attitudes, and values. The Competence Portfolio will be introduced as a self-directed tool for IEPTs to record professional development, reflective approaches to practice, and provide evidence of competence.

21 Hours Fee: $300

Integrating Physiotherapy Practice in ON CVPT 300

Prerequisite(s): CVPT 110, CVPT 200, and CVPT 210

This clinical laboratory course provides a hands-on opportunity to apply and integrate learning from all previous courses in order to demonstrate professional readiness for supervised clinical placements. Students will demonstrate competency in managing an evidence-based clinical decision making process in evaluating the status of the cardiovascular, respiratory, neurological, and musculoskeletal systems and applying selected treatment techniques. The emphasis is on the ability to analyze, synthesize, and interpret data, and plan interventions.

54 Hours Fee: $900

Integrating Professional Communication for PTs CVPT 310

Prerequisite(s): CVPT 100, CVPT 110, and CVPT 210

This course focuses on managing increasingly complex PT-patient communication, developing effective communication skills with colleagues, and developing basic documentation skill in all aspects of physiotherapy care. Scenarios will be used to practice communicating with patients about assessment findings and physiotherapy treatment, and with professional colleagues when requesting and providing information, making a referral or requesting consultation, and interacting as a team member.

21 Hours Fee: $300

Physiotherapy Independent Study CVPT 350

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

This independent study is designed to allow graduates of international physiotherapy programs to address specific credentialing gaps that are not covered in any other course. The curriculum will be designed to address the learner’s academic and professional needs relevant to the practice of physiotherapy in Canada and credentialing standards. Note: The Canadian Alliance of Physiotherapy Regulators must refer the applicant and must pre-approve the course.

42 Hours Fee: $600

PT Workplace Clinical Placement CVPT 400

Prerequisite(s): CVPT 200, CVPT 220, CVPT 300, and CVPT 310 and Department Consent

The clinical placement provides an opportunity for internationally educated physiotherapists (IEPT) to have direct contact with patients, clients, and inter-professional team members to apply and integrate the competencies practiced in the classroom. Registered physiotherapists in the workplace provide supervision, role modelling, and mentorship to support the IEPT to acquire and apply the knowledge, skills, clinical reasoning, and behaviours necessary for professional practice in Ontario. IEPT students are in the workplace with the expectation that they will demonstrate Canadian entry practice competence by the end of the clinical placement.

CVPT 500 Clinical Skills Evaluation Laboratory

Prerequisite(s): CVPT 300 and CVPT 310

Labs will provide learners with an opportunity to demonstrate competency in performing fundamental physiotherapy clinical skills related to assessment and exercise prescription for patients with musculoskeletal, neurological, and cardiopulmonary conditions. These core clinical skills are comparative to those skills expected of Canadian educated physiotherapists for entry-level to practice. Lab time will be used for clarifying key clinical skill components not teaching the skill. IEPTs will prepare for each lab using a clinical skill checklist for self-assessment and two peer-assessments prior to seeking instructor sign-off.

workplace. This highly interactive course teaches participants how to use etiquette to their advantage through body language, modern chivalry, telephone and conversation etiquette. Successful participants will also learn to deal with the opposite sex appropriately and professionally, and be mindful of cultural differences in dining.

Geography

The Department of Geography offers a range of career-oriented and liberal studies opportunities. Courses in Demographic Analysis using statistical and GIS software, along with a wide range of related courses from several different disciplines, will be offered within the new Certificate in Demographic Analysis. Courses in Digital Geography provide both basic and advanced knowledge and skills in Geographic Information Systems (GIS) and their various applications. Courses in Geography present professionally related electives to complement various undergraduate programs and liberal studies options to give a broad perspective on human/environment interactions in different contexts. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ce/gis.

Demographic Analysis

NEW!

Principles of Demographic Analysis  CODA 100
Students will undertake data exploration to support theoretical explanations of the impact of core demographic variables (fertility, mortality, and migration) on population counts, growth, composition, and structure. Students will investigate human populations in relation to their sociological determinants and consequence. The course concludes with an examination of the direction of population change and the impacts on Canadian society.

Fall 2010
Monday 18:30-21:45 Sep 13-Dec 13

GIS Applications in Demography  CODA 110
This course introduces geotechnology applications to demographic analysis, specifically the use of GIS for spatial analysis of demographics. Students will have the opportunity to synthesize their learning about demographic issues with hands-on use of GIS applications built on census data analysis through discussions and the presentation of case studies related to a variety of issues including the implications of demographic change for health care, social services, education, the economy, etc. Lectures will include illustrative case studies applied to demographic and settlement patterns at provincial, municipality, and neighbourhood scales within Canada, with emphasis placed on Canada's urban centres.

42 Hours Fee: $499
Winter 2011
Friday 18:30-21:30 Jan 14-Apr 15

Advanced Demographic Applications  CODA 120
Prerequisite(s): Department consent
This capstone course brings together the skills, knowledge, and tools acquired in the courses which have preceded it, and it requires their application to 'real-world' Demographic applications. The best, affordable, current demographic software, will be used in lectures and workshops to create life tables and population projections, including migration, for both small scale and large scale analysis. Examples of demographic analysis will be drawn from applications commonly used by school boards to project future school populations and adjust school boundaries, by energy suppliers, and urban planning departments to project energy needs and the demand for building permits, etc. In addition to the use of statistical software such as SPSS, Haley demographic software will be introduced if it is available.

42 Hours Fee: $495
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Digital Geography

Spatial Databases and Digital Cartography  CODG 101
Prerequisite(s): Department consent
Antirequisite(s): CODG 100 and COGT 100
This course introduces the fundamental concepts of digital spatial databases and cartography to students enrolled or contemplating enrolment in the Certificate in Applied Digital Geography and GIS. Spatial data, that is, data that are geographically referenced, are at the core of a geographic information system (GIS). The ways in which spatial data are structured in a database have enormous implications for their use and the ways in which the data are mapped have important consequences for their interpretation. This course will explore the processes of spatial data collection, input and display, and the basic geographic and cartographic principles underlying those processes. Thus it will focus specifically on the nature of spatial data, database structures, and the visualisation of digital spatial data. Both ArcGIS and MapInfo Professional GIS software will be used.

Digital Geography and Spatial Analysis  CODG 102
Prerequisite(s): Department consent
Antirequisite(s): CODG 110 and COGT 110
This course introduces students to the geographic principles underlying the analytical capabilities of geographic information systems (GIS) and provides the 'hands-on' opportunity for students to utilize GIS for spatial analysis. Specifically, students will have experience with thematic mapping, attribute querying and spatial selection, geocoding, buffering, manipulating layers, basic topologic transformations, as well as implementation issues in the workplace. At the end of this course, students should have fundamental knowledge and skills in utilizing GIS to perform a variety of analytical applications.

Digital Geography Applications in Utilities Planning  CODG 120 Prerequisite(s): (CODG 100 or CODG 101) and (CODG 110 or CODG 102)

Geographic Information Systems provide utilities planners and managers with an array of analytical and productivity enhancing tools for managing data. In this course, practical knowledge and skills related to the understanding and use of digitally represented geographic databases are introduced. Emphasis will be given to linear networks such as gas, water, transportation, and electrical distribution facilities.

Digital Geography Applications in Business Decision-Making CODG 124

Prerequisite(s): (CODG 100 or CODG 101) and (CODG 110 or CODG 102)

This course is directed at students wishing to apply digital geography and GIS solutions to business location problems. The course outlines the role of GIS in business decision-making. Topics include market area analysis, geodemographics, database acquisition and management, data mining, data quality, statistical analysis, software/hardware platforms, and georeferencing established business data.

Digital Geography Applications for the Municipal Professional CODG 125

Prerequisite(s): (CODG 100 or CODG 101) and (CODG 110 or CODG 102)

The course is directed at students wishing to apply digital geography and GIS in municipal settings. The course considers GIS as mission-critical business tools for municipalities as it develops students’ technical skills with GIS software. Topics include enterprise GIS, publishing and access to information, mobile GIS, data standards, governance, best practices, data dissemination issues, and municipal business solutions.

Digital Geography Applications in Environmental Management CODG 126

Prerequisite(s): (CODG 100 or CODG 101) and (CODG 110 or CODG 102)

This course is directed at students wishing to apply GIS solutions in managing the diverse data representing the natural and human environment. This course uses both theoretical concepts and hands-on GIS experience in order to provide students with the knowledge and skills necessary for effective use of GIS in environmental management.

Fall 2010

This course explores the variety of ways in which geographic information systems (GIS) are utilized in the development and management of community and social services. Educational administrators, health professionals, police and social agencies have come to depend on GIS for strategic planning and day-to-day operations. This course focuses on the analytical capabilities of GIS and their potential uses for the improvement of social infrastructure. For example, network analysis can be employed by social service providers to determine a new location based on public transit access and also by school boards to determine optimal school bus routes; cluster analysis can be employed by crime analysts to determine hot spots of criminal activity to increase patrols; and also by epidemiologists to identify areas of disease. Special attention is given to data issues and students will be able to enhance their knowledge and skills of Microsoft Excel and Access as well as ArcGIS and MapInfo Professional.

Legal and Ethical Issues in GIS and Digital Data CODG 130

Prerequisite(s): (CODG 100 or CODG 101) and (CODG 110 or CODG 102)

The advent of digital data and the transmission and manipulation of that data, especially in an Internet environment, have raised some particular legal, ethical, and practical issues. This course explores those issues concerning the use of digital data and software, including the liability of misinformation and the responsibility for errors, contractual provisions and exclusionary clauses, copyright, trademark law and ownership of data and software, privacy and the ability to access information and data, as well as the issues related to the introduction of digital data and information as evidence in court proceedings.

Customizing GIS Software: Applications Programming CODG 132

Prerequisite(s): (CODG 100 or CODG 101) and (CODG 110 or CODG 102)

This course advances the efficient uses of spatial databases and
GIS. The focus is on the refinement of the operation of GIS via customizing graphic user interfaces (GUIs), macro languaging and scripting. Use of market-leading tools will provide the means for developing the skills required for automating spatial processing algorithms. Equivalent to GEO 541.

Map Algebra: Topology and Overlay  CODG 133

Prerequisite(s): (CODG 100 or CODG 101) and (CODG 110 or CODG 102)

How is information extracted from digital maps, air photographs, or satellite images? This course examines the logic and steps involved in fulfilling information needs via the manipulation of available layers from such products, using such operations as searching, selecting, sorting, regression, overlay, reclassification, cross tabulation, and other methods.

Digital Image Processing and Applications  CODG 135

Prerequisite(s): (CODG 100 or CODG 101) and (CODG 110 or CODG 102)

This course investigates the principles of remotely sensed digital data, the techniques used to process digital images, and the applications to spatial decision making. The formats of digital image data and the procedures used in image rectification and registration, image enhancement, and image classification are examined. There will be an emphasis on utilizing digital image data within a GIS. A number of specific applications within resource management, environmental impact assessment, and urban and regional planning will be undertaken to demonstrate the value of such integration in solving geographic problems. Equivalent to GEO 542.

Web Mapping  CODG 136

Prerequisite(s): (CODG 100 and CODG 101) or (CODG 110 and CODG 102)

This course will examine Web 2.0 technologies including Google Maps, Virtual Earth, the concept of ' Mash ups', crowd sourcing, cloud computing, resource oriented architectures, all in the context of digital web mapping and online GIS analysis with respect to the neogeography movement (non-expert users). Online mapping technology will be combined with online information sources to create new ways of effectively delivering geospatial analysis. Attention will be given to developing cartographically appealing and appropriate high impact websites while optimizing usability and performance.

42 Hours  Fee: $596
This course is designed to provide GIS practitioners with a number of statistical tools that will enhance their analysis of spatially related phenomena. Three broad areas will be examined: clustering, spatial autocorrelation and spatial autoregression; interpolation using a variety of techniques including Kriging; and data mining. Each section is introduced by briefly examining standard, non-spatial statistical methods and contrasting them with the spatial techniques that will move understanding of spatial relations beyond the mere visualization to the exploration and modelling of spatial data.

Internet GIS

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

This course will examine the impacts of the Internet on traditional GIS by comparing the components of a distributed GIS with the traditional desktop platform. Investigation of Internet technologies that have made Web mapping and analysis possible will prepare students to work with a variety of these technologies. The course will also focus on the important elements of Web server administration, including running, setting up, and maintaining websites using different authoring technologies.

GIS Implementation
CODG 220

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

This course is designed to provide a critical overview of the step-by-step procedures used in managing a GIS project from its inception through its development as a strategic plan to the management of its implementation. Opportunities will be provided for those working in the field to critically examine the project management approaches used within their organizations. Those who are not currently working in the GIS field will be given an opportunity to develop and carry forward a project through every step of the process as if they were acting as outside consultants in a field of their choosing.

GIS Project
CODG 221

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

This course gives students the opportunity to work in a team and to consolidate their technical and conceptual knowledge by using a Geographic Information System to solve a real-world problem. It is important that students define their project so that it can be undertaken in one semester using data that are currently available. It is expected that students will use the skills developed in their specialty courses to define and carry out their analysis.

Geography

Geographies of Everyday Life
CGEO 106
This course examines environmental and spatial aspects of human life, primarily at the scale of the individual, the neighbourhood and the community. Specific topics to be considered include sense of place, mental maps, territoriality, community dynamics, and human impacts on the landscape. Restriction: Criminal Justice, Politics and Governance, Psychology, Sociology, Undeclared Arts. (LL)

Geography of the Global Village
CGEO 108
This course explores the ecological and demographic basis of globalization. Starting from a discussion of the impacts of the industrial revolution on current global socio-economic and environmental issues, this course examines population dynamics and quality of life indicators, the world food system and environmental deterioration. Restriction: Criminal Justice, Politics and Governance, Psychology, Sociology, Undeclared Arts. (LL)

The Physical Environment
CGEO 110
In this course, the physical environment is investigated from the perspective of appreciating the natural limits that earth systems impose. Themes in climatology, hydrology and geomorphology are examined in order to develop an understanding of how natural balances originate, and afford opportunities and constraints for a modern lifestyle. Specific topics include weather systems, water budgets, erosion by streams and waves, and the enhancement of stability in natural systems. Restriction: Criminal Justice, Politics and Governance, Psychology, Sociology, Undeclared Arts. (LL)

Viva Las Vegas!

CGEO 312

The city of Las Vegas is in some sense unique in its character and image, but it does exemplify many of the general issues associated with urban areas in North America today. The course explores the explanation of that character, both in terms of the uniqueness of Las Vegas and in terms of more general patterns and processes. In the course stress is placed on the development of general research and critical skills.Restriction: Criminal Justice, Politics and Governance, Psychology, Sociology, Undeclared Arts. (UL)

Retailing, GIS and Geodemographics

CGEO 419

This course surveys practical, conceptual and methodological issues associated with the application of geographical techniques to retail marketing. A variety of GIS applications are introduced to delineate and analyse retail trade areas. The use of socioeconomic and demographic data at various spatial scales is emphasized. Methods include: geocoding, mapping, creation of market area profiles, population projections, clustering and interpretation of market segmentation data.

Canadian Immigration: Patterns and Place

CGEO 691

Offering a geographic perspective on Canadian immigration patterns and policies, this course examines the ‘why, who and where’ of Canadian immigrant experiences. There is a particular emphasis on the changes in Canada’s spatial, social and economic landscapes as a result of Canadian immigration policies over time within the context of contemporary global economics and communication technologies and the inherent complexities of pluralistic societies.

Technology and the Contemporary Environment

CGEO 702

Antirequisite(s): CGEO 703

The contemporary world is influenced to a very considerable extent by technology. However, relationships between this technology and our environment continue to be the subject of considerable public debate. The geographic dimensions of these environmental controversies provide a convenient and meaningful framework for their analysis. In this course, both recurring and contemporary environmental issues are examined in terms of implications for North American society. (UL)

Perspectives on Environmental Management

CGEO 703

Antirequisite(s): CGEO 702

The deterioration of ecosystems and growing societal intolerance for environmental damages have raised concerns over the management of the earth’s resource base. First, this course examines how public attitudes towards the environment have evolved and the corresponding growth of public participation in environmental decision making. Secondly, emphasis is placed on the ecological basis for environmental planning and analysis. Finally, the growing body of laws, regulations and guidelines which are designed to control environmental behaviours are considered.

GIS in Business: Strategic Mgmt Decisions

CGEO 719

The key to sustaining a business is to know one’s customers. By geographically referencing customer records, and linking them to data such as demographics, GIS enables business enterprises to evaluate their client-catchment areas. This course provides an introduction to GIS in the business environment, by combining lecture material, readings from the professional literature, site visits for the evaluation of systems, and labs designed to provide practical and technical competence. There is a $25 dollar lab fee for this course.

The Geography of Recreation and Leisure

CGEO 802

Antirequisite(s): CGEO 803

This course explores recreation and leisure from a number of perspectives. It examines the relationship between recreational choice and demographic and life-style correlates, technology, and faddism. It evaluates symbolic recreational environments and the role of natural areas. It explores many of the social and environmental costs associated with recreational development.

CGEO 803

Antirequisite(s): CGEO 802

The growing importance of the recreation and tourism system in today’s society has generated the potential for environmental impacts and development opportunities. This professionally related course examines the system and its role in the economy. Particular emphasis will be placed on planning, managing and developing recreation and tourism resources, and on identifying, measuring and evaluating impacts.

* Global Environmental Issues
CGEO 811

This one-semester course is structured to address a series of central themes relating to an understanding of concerns about the global environment. For each, a specific environmental issue is highlighted and a case study or case studies is used to demonstrate the nature of the theme and its broad relevance to an understanding of the global situation. A principal goal of the course is to enhance students’ appreciation for an understanding of the state of the world environment and of the challenges and priorities for action to address such issues at a global scale. (UL)

42 Hours Fee: $490
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

* GIS and Fire Services Management
CGEO 911

Accessing information regarding sites is recognized as critical to the goals of preventing and suppressing fires. With Geographic Information Systems (GIS), location is the primary key for retrieving data, so site information can be very conveniently accessible. This course provides an overview of GIS for urban and rural Fire Services by introducing application opportunities, system components, and implementation issues. The format is a combination of lectures, and practical hands-on workshops.

Gerontology

These interdisciplinary courses cover topics concerned with aging and the promotion of quality of life for older adults. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ca/gerontology.

Gerontology

* Ability, Disability and Aging
CGER 298
Psychosocial, biophysiological, and behavioural changes occur as a result of the aging process and this course provides students with the knowledge to assess these changes. Assessment rating scales will be analyzed and students will be provided with the opportunity to observe a range of assessment interviews.

* Aging and the Individual
CVGE 140
This course will explore the individual aging process focusing on normal and exceptional age related changes through biological, psychological, and socio-cultural frameworks. The dynamic interaction between the older person and the social and physical environments and the impact of these on the quality of life will be the unifying theme for this course. Teaching modes will include readings, lectures, a written assignment, discussion, and an experiential learning component. Equivalent to the Social Work 900 series elective course.

42 Hours Fee: $521
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

* Understanding Research
CVGE 205
This course provides students an understanding of the fundamentals of social science research applied to gerontology. Students learn how qualitative and quantitative research approaches are used to design studies, collect and analyze data, and interpret and evaluate research. Students will practice their planning and evaluation skills through the development of an evaluation proposal. Teaching modes will include readings, lectures, written assignments, an evaluation proposal, class discussion, and an experiential learning component. Equivalent to HSM 417.

○ Consent, Capacity and Decision Making  CVGE 271
This course gives an intensive analysis of the Substitute Decisions Act, the Health Care Consent Act, relevant portions of the Mental Health Act and other related Ontario law that informs older adults, their substitute decision makers, family members and care providers of the substitute decision making framework in Ontario.

The outcomes of this course are that students will be knowledgeable and conversant with consent, capacity and substitute decision making law in Ontario; that they will be able to correctly identify legal issues in substitute decision making fact situations; and they will be able to apply their knowledge of Ontario law in problem solving exercises.

Graphic Communications

Graphic Communications is one of the most vigorous and exciting industries in Canada today. The preparation of layouts, designs, files, proofs, and finished jobs in the printing industry require the use of advanced hardware, software, and technology. Knowledgeable and skilled professionals in the field are rewarded with challenging opportunities. Students may enroll directly into entry-level courses. No interview or portfolio is required. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ce/graphiccomm.

Graphic Communications Management Quick Start CDGA 100
Primarily intended for students enrolling in the School of Graphic Communications Management program in September, this intensive one-week foundation course is designed to provide an overview of the entire print media workflow. This course is also suitable for students in their final year of high school, who want to enhance their awareness of prepress, press production, and finishing aspects of commercial printing, publishing, and packaging.

35 Hours  HST included  Fee: $601

Fall 2010
Monday–Friday 9:00-17:00  Aug 23-Aug 27

Graphic Communications Processes CDGA 651
An introduction to graphic communications manufacturing processes with emphasis on the variety of methods available, and quality and cost considerations. Subject matter includes design, copy preparation, digital prepress, proofing, plating, ink and paper, various printing processes, and binding and finishing techniques. Suitable for people new to the industry.

42 Hours  Fee: $579

Monday 18:00-21:15  Sep 13-Dec 13
Winter 2011
Tuesday 18:30-21:00  Jan 11-Apr 12

★ Layout and Typography I CGRA 102
Introduces principles of page layout, typography and design. Familiarizes students with the terminology and concepts commonly used by designers. Develops a theoretical and practical understanding of page layout software and font management with a focus on quality conscious design for print.

35 Hours  Fee: $483

Fall 2010
Thursday 18:30-21:00  Sep 16-Dec 16
Winter 2011
Wednesday 18:30-21:00  Jan 12-Apr 13
Material Fee: A material fee of $40 is included in the total fee indicated above. For further information, see Material Fees.

★ Introduction to Electronic Premedia I CGRA 103
This course explores the fundamental concepts of premedia, including capturing and manipulating digital images for a print environment. Students will learn to construct technically accurate documents using desktop publishing software. Students will learn the steps involved in processing press-ready PDFs, and how to prepare and evaluate different types of proofs prior to plate output. In addition, the basics of file inspection and evaluation and an introduction to premedia for packaging will be explored.
Prerequisite(s): CGRA 102

- Printing Processes I CGRA 104
  - This course introduces students to the basic principles of the major conventional and digital non-impact printing processes. The course focuses on sheetfed offset lithography with emphasis on the printing process and principal press systems. Printing’s history and its importance to society are introduced. Material testing is introduced relative to printability, runability and end use performance. Safety is discussed. Students participate in a two-colour press run.

  - 35 Hours Fee: $483

Fall 2010
- Printing Processes I
  - 18:30-21:00 Sep 15-Dec 15

Winter 2011
- Printing Processes I
  - 18:30-21:00 Jan 13-Apr 14

Material Fee: A material fee of $40 is included in the total fee indicated above. For further information, see Material Fees.

- Estimating in the Graphic Arts CGRA 116
  - Prerequisite(s): GRA 420 and GRA 422 and CGRA 423 and GRA 424 and CACC 100
  - Introduction to price list and cost estimating using manual and computerized methods. This course relies heavily on fundamental knowledge learned from courses in premedia, imposition planning, printing, and bindery and finishing. A hands-on approach is used for applying budgeted hourly rates (BHR), standards, materials costs, formulas, markups in producing accurate estimates. Emphasis is placed on the use of accurate specifications, the best imposition and production plan, with consideration to quality, turnaround time and cost efficient use of labour, equipment, manufacturing processes, paper and other materials. Manual, spreadsheet and database (MIS) estimating procedures will be taught.

  - 42 Hours Fee: $523

Winter 2011
- Estimating in the Graphic Arts
  - Distance: Internet
  - Jan 15-Apr 16

- Layout and Typography II CGRA 202
  - Prerequisite(s): CGRA 102
  - Continues to develop the student’s understanding of illustration design with an understanding of design terminology, design problems, and other theory. Examines design elements and principles, with a focus on single-page design for printing and packaging. Specific issues of vector based design are addressed.

  - 35 Hours Fee: $483

Winter 2011
- Layout and Typography II
  - 18:30-21:00 Jan 12-Apr 13

Spring/Summer 2011
- Layout and Typography II
  - 18:30-20:30 May 3-Jun 16

- Intermediate Electronic Premedia I CGRA 323
  - Prerequisite(s): CGRA 203
  - Current aspects of file construction, preflighting and imposition will be introduced. In the creation of a multipage printed product, students will learn to plan and execute a multistage production plan involving everything from initial concept to plate-ready files.

  - 35 Hours Fee: $429

Winter 2011
- Intermediate Electronic Premedia I
  - 18:30-21:00 Jan 11-Apr 12

Material Fee: A material fee of $40 is included in the total fee indicated above. For further information, see Material Fees.

- Intermediate Electronic Premedia II CGRA 423
  - Prerequisite(s): CGRA 323
  - This course builds on basic imposition taught in GRA 323 by discussing complex imposition requirements. In addition students will expand their knowledge of image capture, retouching, and colour correction. Proofing as it relates to accurate colour evaluation will also be explored.

35 Hours Fee: $524
Spring/Summer 2011
Monday & Wednesday 18:30-21:00 May 2-Jun 20
Material Fee: A material fee of $40 is included in the total fee indicated above. For further information, see Material Fees. Students should contact Anne Grady at agrady@ryerson.ca to enroll.

Graphic Communications Workshops

❖ Print Production Management CDGA 701
This seminar will provide you with an overview of production variables from prepress, press, and postpress applications. The goal is to analyze, understand, and prevent production bottlenecks before they occur. Practical demonstrations and printed examples provide solutions that improve production efficiencies in the graphic arts workflow. Topics for this seminar include print production analysis, understanding job specifications for traditional and digital printing, the graphic arts process, paper and ink variables, quality control, and planning for finishing operations.

14 Hours Fee: $516
Spring/Summer 2011
Friday 8:00-16:00 Apr 29
and Saturday 9:00-17:00 Apr 30

❖ PDF Workflows and Variable Printing CDGA 703
Participants learn how to implement PDF technology into a print production workflow. You will work hands-on with digital prepress workflow systems and gain practical knowledge with real-world applications. The seminar provides instruction for a manual PDF workflow using Adobe Acrobat and a series of plug-ins that allow the class to preflight, edit, and separate PDF files. Additional topics include streamlining production, creating press-ready PDFs, controlling font embedding and substitution, troubleshooting PDF files, understanding JDF and the PDF/X standards, designing and authoring documents for variable data printing, and how printers and creative professionals are using PDF technology to create new opportunities.

14 Hours Fee: $516
Spring/Summer 2011
Friday 8:00-16:00 May 6
and Saturday 9:00-17:00 May 7

❖ Photoshop for Graphic Communications CDGA 710
This workshop provides an introduction to Photoshop on Macintosh computers. Participants learn to enhance and manipulate images using a variety of tools and techniques from this popular software program. The main topics include file formats, resolution, colour, contrast, brightness and balance, filters, channels, curves, levels, and layers. The presentation also discusses integration with other Adobe CS applications.

14 Hours Fee: $516
Spring/Summer 2011
Friday 8:00-16:00 May 13
and Saturday 9:00-17:00 May 14

❖ InDesign for Graphic Communications CDGA 712
This workshop introduces participants to Adobe InDesign on Macintosh computers. The primary focus of this workshop is to teach the key principles of creating files for commercial printing. Some of the key topics covered include basic page construction, working with bleeds, importing text and graphics, style sheets, working with frames, and master pages. Other print production topics include fonts and colour, RGB vs. CMYK, linking vs. embedding, preflighting, packaging for output, and archiving. The workshop will include a combination of theory and hands-on lab work.

14 Hours Fee: $516
Spring/Summer 2011
Friday 8:00-16:00 May 27
and Saturday 9:00-17:00 May 28

Maximum enrollment is 24 students.

❖ History of Graphic Design CDGD 100
The history of graphic design begins with the earliest forms of visual communication. This course examines the historical innovations; evolutions of writing; and type and symbols, from hieroglyphics to the book and art nouveau to the digital. Students will learn the socio-cultural importance of graphic design throughout major historical events, such as the Renaissance, the French Revolution, The First and Second World Wars, and the rise of the Internet.

NEW!

❖ Design Studio I CDGD 102
This course acts as an introduction to the practical design and production of two-dimensional graphics. Students will not only learn the basic, foundational elements of design, but will demonstrate their understanding by applying these principles to both practical art works they create, as well as preexisting art works from the past. Various meanings of graphic representation are examined via the analysis and invention of graphics.

❖ Design Studio II CDGD 103
Prerequisite(s): CDGD 102

This course will build on the principles of design taught in CDGD 102 by applying them to the design of digital, three-dimensional objects. Using computer-aided design, students will practically apply the foundational elements of graphic design to the study of physical objects and their real-world existence and use. Additionally, students will develop their own digital graphics using computers and technology to communicate their visual concepts.

❖ Design and Typography for Print Media CDGD 104
Prerequisite(s): CDGD 102

This course builds on the elements introduced in CDGD 102 by furthering the student’s understanding of two-dimensional graphics. Students will examine various kinds of print material and the way design and typography can be used to communicate efficiently, clearly, and emotively. They will apply these skills by creating examples of effective typographic and design works for use in print format.

42 Hours included  HST Fee: $523
Spring/Summer 2011 Wednesday 18:30-21:30 May 4-Aug 3
NEW!

❖ Design and Typography for Electronic Media CDGD 105
Prerequisite(s): CDGD 102

With the domination of computers in the graphic industry, and the rise of digital media generally, it is necessary to develop an understanding of the effect of images and type via electronic means. Through class lectures about designing for eMedia, analysis of different types of eMedia, and practical design work applying their theoretical lessons, students will develop an understanding of how design and typography for eMedia works and how to create it.

42 Hours included  HST Fee: $523
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.
NEW!

❖ Information Graphics and Digital Illustration CDGD 106
Prerequisite(s): CDGD 102

Computers have revolutionized the illustration field. This course introduces students to digital vector based graphic design, schematics design and the ability to manipulate preexisting images digitally. Different kinds of illustration techniques will be analyzed to help students conceptualize new forms of infographics and uses of digital illustration.

42 Hours included  HST Fee: $523
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.
NEW!

❖ Graphic Design Project CDGD 107
Prerequisite(s): Department consent

In this capstone course, students use all of the theory and practical skills they have acquired from the previous Graphic Design certificate courses and apply it to a final capstone project. With the approval of the faculty advisor, students will undertake a corporate design or redesign proposal, a business plan for a startup graphic design company, or a comprehensive graphic design project (such as graphic design supports for a museum display or major event).

42 Hours included  HST Fee: $523
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.
Health Services Management

Health Services Management is a unique part-time program, the first of its kind in Canada. It is designed to meet the needs of present and aspiring managers in health service organizations. In keeping with Ryerson’s tradition of professionally relevant education, the program has been designed in close consultation with leading practitioners, employers, and professional associations. It provides education in management theory and practice which builds on previous professional education and experience. Individual courses in the Health Services Management part-time degree completion program are available to all Chang School students who wish to upgrade their knowledge and skills in the health services management area. Courses examine the Canadian health system and the manager’s role in the health services organization. For full details on the Health Services Management degree completion program, please call Dr. Winston Isaac, Director, at 416.979.5000, ext. 6643.

Health Information Management

✦ Managing Health Information Services CHIM 300
Prerequisite(s): CHSM 301 or CHSM 315

This course will explore the manager’s role as it relates to planning, organizing, HRM, budgeting, supervising, evaluation, service delivery, and marketing. Further exploration will center around areas such as organizational development and culture; evolution of organizations; response to change; individual motivation; group dynamics; leadership styles; inter-departmental relations, decision-making; communication; team building; conflict resolution; managing change.

42 Hours Fee: $513
Winter 2011 Distance: Internet Jan 15-Apr 16

✦ Healthcare Information Analysis CHIM 301
Prerequisite(s): CHIM 300 and (CHSM 301 or CHSM 315)

Emphasis will be placed on analysis methodologies and the concomitant use of current data analysis software, such as query and reporting tools, on-line analytical processing (OLAP), executive information systems and data mining tools. The key concept will be methods of transforming data into meaningful information for end-users. Analysis techniques include: trending through the use of historical data, impact analysis, variance analysis, and data modeling to allow for scenario testing. The identification of data sources such as Management Information Systems (MIS), the Canadian Institute for Health Information (CIHI), as well as other financial, clinical and demographic data repositories, will also be covered.

42 Hours Fee: $513
Fall 2010 Thursday 18:00-21:30 Sep 16-Dec 16 Winter 2011 Distance: Internet Jan 15-Apr 16

✦ Health Information Systems Management CHIM 302
Prerequisite(s): CHIM 301

This course takes a systems perspective in terms of database management, quality management and utilization management. Database management covers the full spectrum of definitions, data standards in terms of integrity, reliability and consistency, data transforming and cleaning prior to storage, and record linkage. Quality assurance and utilization management topics cover issues such as integrated/managed care with a focus on both process and outcome within an interactive cycle, identification of sentinel events and the development of indicators for measurement. Finally, product analysis and selection, including the RFP (request for proposal) process, will also be addressed.

42 Hours Fee: $513
Winter 2011 Distance: Internet Jan 15-Apr 16

✦ Managerial Accounting and Finance CHIM 403
Prerequisite(s): CACC 100 and CHIM 301

This course focuses on the unique financial management features, reporting policies and analytic tools in health services organizations. It examines different types of budgets including capital and operating budgets, fixed and variable budgets, financial activity budgets and also operating plans. It describes budgetary processes and tools and discusses capital expenditure plans, cash flow forecasts and variance analysis. Financial measurements, reporting and evaluations strategies are discussed.

42 Hours Fee: $510
Winter 2011 Distance: Internet Jan 15-Apr 16

✦ Health Economics CHIM 404
Prerequisite(s): CECN 104 and CECN 204 and (CHIM 403 or CHSM 407)

This course will take students beyond using the fundamental tools necessary to apply basic economic principles to the health care field. Exposure will be provided on a balance of population-based health economics and consumer driven, managed health care economics. Consideration will be given to linking performance indicators to social goals. Emphasis will be placed on quality of life measures both from the local and international scenes.

42 Hours Fee: $510
Fall 2010 Distance: Internet Sep 11-Dec 11

✦ Issues in Health Information Management CHIM 405
Prerequisite(s): CHIM 403 and CHIM 404 and CHSM 408 and CHSM 417 and CHSM 437

This course is designed to facilitate in-depth analysis of key trends and issues in health information management and to explore their implications for management practice. The course will examine current health information management delivery systems, their legislative, political, economic and social complexities, and their ability to influence and be influenced by Health Services Management

Modular Format:
The modular course offering format of the Health Services Management program is designed on an extended weekend schedule which concentrates class time into all day Friday and Saturday over three weekends during a term. This format has been developed in specific response to Health Services Management students who are currently employed and/or those who wish to accelerate their progress through the program. An integral part and expectation of the modular course format is that course assignments and class preparation are completed prior to the class meetings. For more details, contact Health Services Management at 416.979.5000, ext. 6643, or visit www.ryerson.ca/programs/health.html. Practicum Seminar

Prerequisite(s): CHIM 403 and CHIM 404 and CHIM 405 and CHSM 408 and CHSM 417 and CHSM 437
Corequisite(s): CHIM 407

This course is offered in conjunction with HIM 407. Students and faculty supervisors establish learning contracts detailing the terms and conditions of fieldwork placements. Mid and final seminars provide an opportunity for students to apply theory and collectively share their experiences. This course will be graded on a pass/fail basis.

42 Hours  Fee: $510

Practicum

Prerequisite(s): CHIM 403 and CHIM 404 and CHIM 405 and CHSM 408 and CHSM 417 and CHSM 437
Corequisite(s): CHIM 406

Practicum project/exercise to be directly related to health information management. The practicum is the capstone course of the Health Information Management program, and provides the opportunity to apply management theory and concepts in a working environment which is specific to health information services delivery. Students evaluate and analyze onsite management issues within the context of their understanding of organizational systems. A pre-arranged number of hours, per week, will be spent over a negotiated time period in a setting other than their own work setting, although it may be in the same organization. Supervision will be provided by on-site preceptors.

42 Hours  Fee: $510
PREREQUISITE(S): CHSM 306 and CHSM 417

CACC 100 and CHSM 305

PREREQUISITE(S): CHSM 301 or CHSM 315

This course provides an overview of the Canadian legal system as it applies to health services delivery. It provides an overview of administrative, constitutional and tort law principles. It examines issues of organizational and individual liability, malpractice, patient rights, informed consent, treatment authorization and refusal, contracts, labour law and government regulation and identifies areas of legal ambiguity on issues including abortion, living wills, do-not-resuscitate orders, reproductive technologies, and artificial life support.

42 Hours FEE: $510

★ LAW FOR HEALTH MANAGERS

PREREQUISITE(S): CHSM 326

This course develops conceptual and applied understandings of the application and importance of planning and evaluation. It describes the purposes, what a program is, how it is developed, and how its performance can be monitored and assessed. It describes the purposes, application and importance of planning and evaluation techniques in the health field and develops strategies for initiating and managing planning and evaluation activities. Fundamental elements of program planning and evaluation are detailed including the specification of program goals, objectives and operational indicators, and the matching of planning and evaluation questions to operational decision-making.

42 Hours FEE: $510

★ RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

PREREQUISITE(S): CHSM 326 and (CHSM 310 or CHSM 316) and CQMS 102 or (CHIM 301 and CHSM 326)

This course builds basic skills in statistics and research methodology in the health field. To ensure the quality, appropriateness and cost-effectiveness of the services they provide, managers must make decisions based on the best available evidence. Even if they do not themselves engage in research activities, they should understand the research process, the assumptions which underlie different research strategies, and be able to critically assess research findings as the basis for decision-making. The course discusses the assumptions of clinical and social research models and the nature and use of health care statistical data.

PREREQUISITE(S): CHSM 407, CHSM 408, CHSM 417, CHSM 437, CPHL 444 and (CHSM 427 or CHIM 301)

Corequisite(s): CHSM 419

Offered in conjunction with HSM 410. The first pre-fieldwork seminar orients students to the process of experimental learning. Students and faculty supervisors establish learning contracts detailing the terms and conditions of fieldwork placements. Mid and final seminars provide an opportunity for students to apply theory and collectively share their experiences. Learning outcomes include an applied understanding of the management cycle, the challenges for managers and enhanced research and evaluation skills. This course is graded on a pass/fail basis.

PREREQUISITE(S): CHSM 407, CHSM 408, CHSM 417, CHSM 437, CPHL 444 and (CHSM 427 or CHIM 301)

Corequisite(s): CHSM 418

The practicum is the “capstone” course of the program, and provides the opportunity to apply management theory and concepts in a working environment. Students evaluate and analyse on-site management issues within the context of their understanding of organizational systems. A pre-arranged number of hours, per week, will be spent over a negotiated time period in a setting other than their own work setting, although it may be in the same organization. Supervision will be provided by on-site preceptors. This course is graded on a pass/fail basis.

Antirequisite(s): CVLT101

Human Resources Management

Prerequisite(s): (CHSM 306 and CHSM 326 and CPHL 444) or (CHIM 301 and CHSM 326)

This course will increase the understanding of the processes involved in merging human talents, needs and aspirations with the requirements of the client-centred health services organization. It builds on the theory and practice of leadership and communication skills, to develop skills and knowledge in human resources planning, recruitment, selection and evaluation. Topics include job analysis, performance appraisal, compensation, quality of working life, continuing professional education, collective bargaining, employee rights, career planning, etc. A case study approach will be used. Methodology: Lecture, discussion, case studies.

Institutional Structure

Prerequisite(s): CVHT 450

This course is designed to explore the administrative, functional, and management structures of modern Canadian healthcare institutions. The course focuses on understanding the corporate organizational structure and the functions and relationships of major clinical and non-clinical departments. Healthcare organizations themselves are also analyzed with respect to the unique social role which they play and the contribution they make to society in which they function.

Long Term Care

Modular Format:
The modular course offering format of the Health Services Management program is designed on an extended weekend schedule which concentrates class time into all day Friday and Saturday over three weekends during a term. This format has been developed in specific response to Health Services Management students who are currently employed and/or those who wish to accelerate their progress through the program. An integral part and expectation of the modular course format is that course assignments and class preparation are completed prior to the class meetings. For more details, contact Health Services Management at 416.979.5000, ext. 6643, or visit www.ryerson.ca/programs/health.html.

Long Term Care Service Delivery

Principle(s): CVLT 102

Successful completion of this course will enable the student to understand and critically analyze the current system and the impact of expected changes on the delivery of service in the long term care sector. The course will deal with the policies, values, concepts, and complexities of the health care system in the municipal, provincial, national, and international context. It will also provide an understanding of the political processes and legislation that have shaped and will continue to shape the delivery of long term care. Discussion will include the administrative issues and trends in the provision of services to culturally diverse clients of all ages and conditions in both community and institutional environments.

Project Management in Long Term Care Administration

Prerequisite(s): CVLT 300

This course will provide students with the knowledge and skill to apply a project management approach to leadership in the long term care sector. The course will consist of looking at the key elements of effective project management including scope, time, cost, human resources, quality, risk, communications, and change. The focus will be on how these knowledge and skill areas are instrumental in successful management and completion of projects. During the course students will select a topic from the field of long term care and successfully complete a project plan.

Trends in Long Term Care Service Delivery

Prerequisite(s): (CHSM 301 or CHSM 315) and CVLT 102

This course is designed to facilitate in-depth analysis of key trends and issues in long term care service delivery and to explore their implications for management practice. The course will examine current long term care delivery systems, their legislative, political, economic, and social complexities, and their ability to influence and be influenced by health care professionals. Issues addressed will vary in response to developments in the field.

Students will be asked to critically analyze these trends and issues in terms of their impact on the long term care system as a whole, the provider-client relationship, etc.
Are you interested in learning a phonetic language? Do you want to learn about Indian culture? Are you travelling to India, Pakistan, or Nepal? Do you have Indian friends, relatives, or business contacts? If you want to learn Hindi for any of these purposes, our new non-credit courses are for you. Students who have no or very little knowledge of Hindi may enroll directly into COHI 101. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ce/languages.

Hindi

- Introductory Hindi
  COHI 101
  This is a non-credit course which focuses on how to make your own Hindi sentences to express your thoughts in present, past, and future tenses. Emphasis is on understanding how to communicate original thought at the sentence level. The course begins with recognition of the Hindi alphabet in roman letters, leading to pronunciation of Hindi words and sentences. You come away understanding and speaking Hindi in simple, straightforward, everyday situations.

- Intermediate Hindi
  COHI 301
  This is a non-credit course which focuses on how to utilize what you learned in COHI 101 and COHI 201, and on how to continue making your own Hindi sentences to express your original thoughts and opinions in present, past, future, and conditional tenses. The course mainly focuses on writing letters and emails in Hindi to your friends and relatives; using synonyms, antonyms, idioms, phrases, proverbs in spoken Hindi; and participating in scenarios in order to learn how to engage in everyday conversations. Students are encouraged to read and write Hindi sentences; however, in general, the focus of this course is to understand and speak the Hindi language.

History

The Department of History offers a wide selection of courses to students in every program in the University. These range from general, introductory surveys in the history of Western civilization and Canadian social, political, and intellectual history, to specialized courses in modern Chinese history and the history of science and technology. Students enrolled in degree programs are responsible for ensuring that any course selected from those listed meets the specific requirements of their program.

History

* World Turned Upside Down: Europe 1350-1789  CHST 111
  Early modern Europe was torn by contradiction and conflict. Rediscovery of the ancients and reinterpretation of the Bible produced a new culture but split Christianity. The nation state, the Atlantic economy, modern capitalism and new empires developed amid revolt and resistance. Growing literacy and modified gender relations reshaped society. Witches were still burned while scientists transformed knowledge; an age of reason emerged while war grew more terrible. Out of all this came Europe’s world domination. (LL)

* Century of Revolution: Europe 1789-1914  CHST 211
  The French Revolution launched the modern age, in politics, society, the family, the arts, and war. The 19th century brought fresh revolutions: technology and industrialization transformed work and leisure, life and death; liberalism and revolutionary socialism challenged the old order; and science altered forever humanity’s place in the universe. Yet this was also a century of ruthless imperialism and aggressive and intolerant nationalism. This period is essential for understanding our world. (LL)

* Themes on Latin American History  CHST 213
  Latin America is an area of increasing importance and interest. This course explores the history of Latin America through questions such as: How did colonization influence today’s societies in Latin America? What were the major differences between Spanish and Portuguese colonization? What were the reasons for and consequences of latter-day foreign influence in the region? What have been the major reasons behind the political instability of this region throughout the 20th century? (LL)

* Human Rights and the Canadian State  CHST 301
  Canada often is praised for being a relatively open and tolerant nation. Yet Canada has not always been worthy of such praise. Covering the period since 1840, this course shall review the complex history of Canada’s response to questions of social justice and human rights, detailing what was learned from previous instances in which human rights were violated and social justice denied, and outlining what still must be done before Canada can become a truly open and tolerant society that offers equality to all citizens. (LL)

* Canada to 1885: The Founding Societies  CHST 307
  Antirequisite(s): HST 581
  What past events lie behind French Quebec’s current attitude towards Canada? Why do Canadians have a love-hate relationship with the U.S.? How have the struggles of other nations influenced Canadian development? What principles do our political parties follow, and where do these ideas come from? These and other questions are examined in lectures and discussions. (LL)

* History of Science and Technology I  CHST 325
  This course increases the student’s understanding of the major scientific and technical advances in Western civilization from the Ancient World to 1700 CE. It treats the sciences and technology as being historically significant in themselves, and also as a part of the larger social and cultural framework. Major topics include: Greek natural philosophy, Graeco-Roman technology, medieval technology and social change, the Renaissance and technology, and the scientific revolution of the 1600s. Emphasis is placed on the transformation of physics and astronomy associated with Copernicus, Galileo, Kepler, Descartes, and Newton. (LL)

War to War: World Conflict 1900-45 CHST 504

The two world wars between 1914 and 1945 have transformed our planet. In 1900 Europe dominated international relations; since then we have seen the rise of the superpowers of the United States and the Soviet Union, and a shift in power to the non-European world of Asia, Africa, and Latin America. This course examines the causes and significance of these changes. Topics include political, economic, and military factors, war-making, and peace-keeping. (UL)

Science and Technology in Islamic History

Science and Technology in Islamic History CHST 786
In the early centuries of Islam, the study of the natural world was held in high esteem. Scientists and engineers were called upon to solve practical problems that emerged with the new religion. Debates occurred over whether, and to what extent, scientific inquiry was appropriate in Islam. This course surveys major developments in scientific knowledge and technological know-how, from the seventh-century rise of Islam to 1600 CE, along with their impacts upon the Western world. (UL)

Establishing an eBusiness Operation
Prerequisite(s): CITM 350

This course will take students through the various steps needed to set up an electronic commerce operation. Focusing on electronic businesses, the course teaches strategic thinking and essential business skills that apply to all types of businesses. Students will develop a business plan and strategy for an electronic business, and will learn how to design, source and implement the necessary systems and computer facilities to put the business plan into operation. It will examine the links between back office and front office operations as well as the services available to help the set up of virtual businesses. The course will appeal to entrepreneurs and will teach intrapreneurial thinking.

Object Oriented Applications Development
Prerequisite(s): CITM 200 or Direct Entry

This course assumes the student has had previous exposure to introductory programming in any language, and builds on this knowledge by introducing the concepts of object-oriented programming. Included are the object-oriented concepts of data abstraction, encapsulation, information hiding, inheritance and polymorphism. In addition, typical programming problem-solving is achieved using the basic logic constructs of data variables, loops, branching, arrays and functions.

* Business Process Design
CITM 410

Prerequisite(s): CITM 305 or Direct Entry
Antirequisite(s): AIM 338

This course introduces the principles of business process design for process improvement. A systematic approach is used to teach students how to develop the design requirements for new business process architectures. Emphasis is placed on how to evaluate business process problems, analyze and design business processes to ensure organizational efficiency and effectiveness when new technologies are implemented. Opportunities for process improvement are based on the business strategy, the value proposition, improvement objectives of the organization, and the implementation of of-the-shelf software systems (eg. ERP, CRM, SRM). This course is intended to develop students' understanding of, and competence in the use of appropriate methods, tools and techniques of process analysis and design for organizational improvement. To ensure the development of the necessary competencies, students will work on a case study and use state-of-the-art business process frameworks, analysis and design methodologies and appropriate software tools to analyze, simulate and design the business process solutions.

* Logical Database Analysis and Design
CITM 500

Prerequisite(s): CITM 305
Antirequisite(s): AIM 205, BIS 607

This course covers the practice of data analysis and logical database design from User View requirements gathering to logical database specification and processing using SQL for business applications. Normalization and Entity Relationship modeling are the two primary methods of analysis taught in the course. In addition to weekly design labs, the course will include a design project which will help students develop the necessary knowledge and skills required to function as data analysts and data base designers. The course will utilize state of the art data base design tools and relational database software.

Note: Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.
This course provides an overview of decision analysis topics important to developing solutions to business problems. This course will take a problem-driven approach to developing students' skills in applying decision trees, expected value analysis, single- and multiple-attribute decisions, sensitivity analysis, and linear programming applied to real-world problems. Students will be required to do problem formulation, develop applications and implement problem solutions using industry-standard software tools.

The IT-Enabled Supply Chain
Prerequisite(s): CITM 305 or Direct Entry

This course provides a basic grounding in the components of the supply chain from purchasing through sales and distribution in a context of using IT to achieve strategic and organizational objectives. It focuses on enabling solutions to the systemic challenges facing organizations today including how to improve speed to market, inventory management and customer satisfaction through automation. Topics include enabling on-line purchasing/supply chain functions, production, distribution and logistics systems, enterprise system evaluation and supplier selection, financial considerations, outsourcing and partnership options, competitive bidding and negotiation, contracts, client service and satisfaction issues, etc. Emerging models of buyer-supplier networks and electronic markets will be introduced and discussed in terms of the range of key technologies used to support processes within e-enabled corporations. (This course may use the SAP system logistics components to demonstrate aspects of integrated IT supply chain management systems in both B2B and B2C settings).

* Web-based Applications Development
Prerequisite(s): CITM 300 or Direct Entry
Antirequisite(s): CITM 405, CITM 525

This course covers program development for Web-based applications using commercial software designed for the purpose. The building blocks in website construction - site structure, goals/objectives, design and implementation are the main focus. On completion of the course, students will be able to design a website from initiation to implementation. Knowledge of HTML, Java script, and web server technology is recommended.

Note: Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.

* Auditing of Information Systems
Prerequisite(s): (CACC 521 and CITM 696) or CBS 503 or CBS 504 or BIS 504 or CITM 305 or Direct Entry
Antirequisite(s): BIS 505, BIS 807, CCBS 505, CBS 506, CITM 420

This course is designed to enhance the student’s understanding of audit risks and control risks relevant to audits in computerized environments. The course addresses the implementation and evaluation of security and controls in these environments; the techniques necessary to perform external EDP audits; auditing using CAATs; basic considerations in auditing EDI systems; and, audit and control issues associated with eCommerce, networks, VPNs and continuous auditing. The course will focus on auditing of Information Systems, which produce internal and external reports. Students will be introduced to audit approaches, computer risks, concerns related to internal controls and techniques for evaluating systems and business processes. Students will also be able to assess the integrity of data used in various management reports.

* Data Communications Network Design
Prerequisite(s): CITM 301 or Direct Entry
Antirequisite(s): AIM 303

This course will provide students with an understanding of how telecommunications networks are designed and deployed to support e-commerce, multimedia and web-centric business applications. Network planning concepts, network analysis, network design tools and techniques are introduced. The objective of this course is to understand the design and analysis of data communications networks through the introduction of case studies and practical network design methodologies. Also an understanding of the application, deployment and benefits of industry standard architectures including: TCP/IP, VoIP, SONET, Gigabit Ethernet, 3G and other emerging standards will be provided.

Knowledge is a powerful asset in an organization and a prime contributor to an organization's success. This course will examine how to identify, leverage and nurture the knowledge assets in an organization to contribute to the business strategy and enable its success. It will cover the basic concepts and practices of knowledge management from an organizational point of view, content management and cultural perspective and investigate some of the enabling technologies to support knowledge acquisition, sharing and utilization. Topics will include: understanding today’s knowledge economy and knowledge workers; developing a knowledge management strategy; differentiating knowledge from information; measuring value; selecting and implementing knowledge management systems. Case studies will be a critical part of this course. Students will gain hands-on experience in the use of one or more knowledge management tools.

Tuesday 18:30-21:30 Sep 7-Dec 7

This is an advanced foundational course on information architecture of organizations. This course takes a services oriented approach to organizational analysis and information architecture definition from business strategy to infrastructure. A major case study will be required in which students will analyze a business service strategy and develop the process and infrastructure components for the delivery of that service. Students are expected to have an in-depth understanding of business strategy and business process analysis and modeling.

Physical Database Design and Implementation

Prerequisite(s): CITM 500 or Direct Entry

This course covers aspects of the physical design, implementation and data base performance analysis for business applications. Students will learn to develop physical database requirements from Logical Designs, and to analyze query processing performance of the physical implementations. In addition to weekly labs the course will include a design project which will help students to develop competence with standard database definition (DDL/SQL) and procedural languages (PL/SQL) for defining physical schemas and developing stored procedures, triggers and user functions. The course will utilize state of the art database design tools and relational database software.

Information Technology and Strategic Management

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

In the information economy, the way in which organizations use and manage information is often key to competitive survival in their industry. This course is a 'Capstone,' intended to be taken in the student's final year, which integrates many of the student's preceding business and IT courses. It focuses on building an understanding of the strategic role of information systems in supporting organizational objectives. In a case study with a real organization, working in teams, students will also learn how to apply models to analyze industry dynamics, apply the process of competitive analysis to a specific company, and identify strategic IT opportunities. Completion of all required professional and professionally-related courses in the first three years of the program is required for this course. Note: Since some of the required courses are not offered every semester, it is each student's individual responsibility to manage their course planning to ensure all prerequisites are met.

Note: This class is only open to ITM degree students. Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.
Wireless and Mobile Communications

This course explores the concepts and applications of wireless technologies and systems, and how mobile and wireless communications hardware, software and network technologies are applied within a business environment. This course provides an understanding of complex wireless and mobile systems by exploring the individual components that are used to build these systems. These include network management, integration of wireless and wireline networks, system support for mobility, computing system architectures for wireless nodes, user interfaces appropriate for small handheld portable devices, and new applications that can exploit mobility and location information.

Note: Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.

42 Hours Fee: $627

Managing Emerging Telecomm Networks

This course explores new telecommunication technologies that the network designer and manager will need to know in order to migrate and expand existing corporate LAN, MAN and WANs. Topics would include the deployment of Gigabit and 10 Gigabit Ethernets, new techniques in Fibre Optic technologies and new versions of 802.11 wireless LAN technologies. The topic list will be updated yearly to reflect current industry trends.

Note: Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.

42 Hours Fee: $627

Strategic Issues in Telecomm and IT

In this course, topics addressed will vary to reflect the current market environment, but the focus will remain constant - immediate issues and emerging trends of interest to telecommunications managers. The course assumes a basic understanding of the technology and will draw heavily on practitioners in industry for its direction. In one year, for example, regulatory issues may be highlighted; in another, technology may be predominate.

Note: Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.

42 Hours Fee: $627

IT-Enabled Customer Management

Increasingly attention is being focused on IT systems that can enable organizations to better understand the needs of their customers and build better relationships with them so as to improve sales, customer profitability and customer satisfaction.

This course covers a collection of concepts, processes and technologies to help (1) identify the areas and circumstances where IT systems become beneficial for effective customer management, (2) define the requirements for these systems, (3) design them, and (4) plan for their implementation and maintenance. Several functions within the enterprise will be discussed including sales, marketing, call centers, field services, and partnership management. Among the technologies that will be covered are customer data warehousing and mining.

42 Hours Fee: $627

Consulting Skills for IT Professionals

Whether an internal or external consultant to an organization, IT professionals need well developed consulting skills. This course will examine the consulting industry, consulting firms and consulting process models as they apply to various types of IT consulting engagements. Students will study real life consulting projects with practitioners in order to explore consulting skills, roles, skills and services and how they apply to IT projects. Students will also carry out self-assessment and career planning activities to determine their fit to a consulting career and how to explore careers in the industry. Much of the course is taught through classroom exercises and simulations, requiring pre-class preparation and active participation. This course will be relevant to students who anticipate being external or internal consultants.

Note: Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.

42 Hours Fee: $627

Knowledge Management Technologies

This advanced specialist course is designed for students who wish to explore the enabling technologies provided by vendors in the knowledge management space. The course will begin with a thorough analysis of the enabling technologies themselves, the pros and cons of these various approaches. It will also provide a summary analysis of the vendors serving various general and specialty knowledge management markets, but will in the end focus on one major technology in the field. Students will complete a major project which matches knowledge management system requirements to existing technologies.

Note: Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.

42 Hours Fee: $627

Data Mining and Warehousing Methods

This course covers the fundamental principles that underlie the wide spectrum of activities and processes associated with discovering useful knowledge from aggregate data in a business setting. Its overall structure is built around the three major technologies that enable the transformation of data into knowledge: data warehousing, OLAP, and data mining. The emphasis of the course will be on the application, implementation and integration of the technologies with the business process and strategic goals of the enterprise.

Note: Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.

42 Hours Fee: $627
Managing Customer Relationships with IT

Prerequisite(s): CITM 305 or Direct Entry

Increasingly, attention is being focused on systems that can enable organizations to build better relationships with customers so as to improve sales, customer profitability and satisfaction. This advanced course addresses the growing need of business for experts to help them with the development and implementation of systems aimed at improving customer service and satisfaction with a particular focus on enterprise-wide customer relationship management systems (CRM). Functions include sales marketing, call centres, field services, and partnership management. In this course, students will be familiar with not only the technical aspects of customer relationship management, but also business aspects of customer relationship management. Students will be able to define business requirements for customer acquisition and retention and then to identify, implement and manage appropriate IT enabled solutions to meet these requirements. Case studies will be used to analyze business problems and develop solutions. (This course might also employ the SAP CRM module or a similar system.)

42 Hours Fee: $627
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Switching and Routing Laboratory

Prerequisite(s): CITM 513 and CITM 600

This course will provide students with comprehensive but practical knowledge needed to configure routers and switches for both local and wide area networks. Students will learn the principles needed to utilize bandwidth more effectively and to enhance security and privacy. Students will be introduced to the tools and methodologies needed to design, debug and troubleshoot networks. Labs will include configuring routers using link protocols and learning how to link ISPs. Students will be able to plan and implement IP addressing schemes; and configure and verify routing protocols. Note: Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.

42 Hours Fee: $627
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Ethics and Professional Practice in IT

Prerequisite(s): CLAW 122 or Direct Entry
Antirequisite(s): CITM 407, CPHL 307

This course will use models and theories of ethical behaviour to analyze and address ethical dilemmas in business, particularly those related to the planning and implementation of information systems. Particular attention will be paid to issues related to the human implications of information systems in society and in organizations, the balancing of rights and obligations in a variety of contexts, and the core issues of corporate behaviour and governance in the digital age as they apply to IT, and IT professional practice. The course will also address how to translate ethical practices into professional standards of practice and examine these against basic industry codes of conduct to discover gaps and potential issues for practitioners to be aware of. The course will contain lecture, case study and reflective learning modes designed to challenge students to consider how they will practice as an ethical IT professional when they enter the world of work.
Note: Standard course outlines for Information Technology Management (CITM) courses are available on the ITM website.

Applied Feasibility Analysis

Prerequisite(s): CITM 700
Antirequisite(s): AIM 800

This course examines the methodologies and tools necessary for successful planning, evaluation and implementation of information technology. Emphasis will be placed on further developing the skills learned in ITM 700 to identify opportunities to increase the effectiveness and/or efficiency of a business unit’s operations, to increase its competitive edge, or to enhance the deployment of human and/or information resources in a corporation. Building on the industry and company analysis project from ITM 700, student teams will conduct a feasibility study within a real client organization to develop or redesign a business process or information system. The study will identify organizational issues related to introducing new technologies, design required process changes, establish business case justification and provide an implementation plan for the recommended solution.

Management Consulting Essentials (CZMC 100)

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

The management consulting process is evaluated on a theoretical basis and supported with practical examples from business. The approach illustrates the tasks and essential skills required of an effective consultant. The course will emphasize the role of the consultant through assignments that require application of the skills learned. Students will have the opportunity to compare their newly learned skills and knowledge in seminars and discussions with members of the business community and with Certified Management Consultants (CMC).

Prof Conduct and Socl Resp for MC (CZMC 110)

Prerequisite(s): CZMC 100

Students review the challenges associated with professional standards and best practices in management consulting and related professions and the practical application of the CAMC Professional Code of Conduct. Students will determine how to resolve specific ethical dilemmas faced by management consultants. Participants will consider the social, legal, and ethical issues of business innovation and technology deployment and the development of business practices that meet business objectives and the ethical and social requirements of organizational stakeholders.

Fee: $900

Successful Consling Proj Implemtn (CZMC 120)

Prerequisite(s): CZMC 100

This course provides students with a solid foundation to apply project management methodologies, tools, and disciplines in a management consulting environment. Consistent with the Project Management Institute’s Project Management Body of Knowledge, it addresses specific requirements in the initiation and execution stages of consulting projects with special consideration of projects that include supervision of client staff, goods and services procurement, vendor management, and operating a project management office.

Fee: $900

Prof Consulting Capstone (CZMC 200)

Prerequisite(s): CZMC 110 and CZMC 120

Students who complete the Management Consulting Professional Program may choose to apply their knowledge in a consulting practicum that is available only to MCPP graduates interested in gaining the CMC certification. Students in this course will be supervised and their work evaluated by a Ryerson faculty member and a CMC member sponsor will support each student.

Fee: $900
Interdisciplinary Studies

In the professional world of community services, no discipline or profession operates in isolation. The following courses, many of which are available by distance education, will develop your understanding of issues faced in the field from an interdisciplinary perspective. They will provide the knowledge and skills you need to work effectively across professional and disciplinary boundaries. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ce/interdisciplinary.

* Program Planning and Evaluation Strategies CINT 900
This course will examine methods of program planning and evaluation that are applicable to health promotion practice. Students will study frameworks for planning human service programs and how evaluation is used for assessment of program effectiveness, for improvement of programs and for guiding resource allocation and policy development. (Formerly IST 900.)

* Disability Issues CINT 902
This course examines disability issues within a socio-political context. Such a perspective contends that it is not the specific type of disability condition which is the major source of disadvantage to the individual but the response that this condition evokes from the larger society. This course will challenge some of the traditional (and damaging) assumptions made about the needs of people labelled as being disabled and will present a framework for policy and practice designed to promote empowerment and inclusion. (Formerly IST 902.)

* Health Promotion and Community Development CINT 904
Students will be introduced to the history and development of health promotion and will examine health determinants from environmental, cross-cultural, psychosocial and biological perspectives. The focus will be on the exploration of health promotion strategies which incorporate community development, popular education and social marketing models. (Formerly IST 904)

* Conflict Resolution in Community Services CINT 905
Anti-requisite(s): CINP 914, CSWP 924
Professionals in a wide range of disciplines are likely to encounter situations which are fraught with conflict, whether the issue is dealing with community opposition to the development of a new facility, developing environmental standards, allocating limited resources to meet emerging societal needs or dealing with the conflicting demands and expectations of different stakeholders. This course is designed to enable students to develop consensus-building strategies that produce agreements that everyone can live with. The course utilizes case materials and examples drawn from different disciplines. (Formerly IST 905.)

* Sexuality: Power and Pleasure CINT 906
This survey course examines the societal basis of attitudes and behaviours related to human sexuality. Students will be introduced to research and theoretical concepts in the literature that contributes to our understanding of sexuality. Sexuality is recognized as a complex and multi-dimensional component of human identity and experience, mediated and influenced by social constructs of gender, race, ethnicity, disability, sexual orientation, age and socio-economic opportunities. The course promotes critical self and social consciousness through challenging sex-negative religious traditions, institutional regulation/control of sexuality, and gender socialization including patriarchal family structure. Some of the topics to be considered are sexuality across the life course; sexuality and liberation;

* Certificate and degree credit ☆ Degree credit ○ Certificate credit ☆ Course series

Team Work for Community Services CINT 907
This course explores team practice in community services professions, as they transform practice to serve the needs of all stakeholders. The creation of new approaches to work with clients will be an outcome of the course. Theories of multidisciplinary, interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary team work will be presented. Different disciplinary perspectives will be respected and applied. Course methodology will allow the participants to model the theories and applications that form the core of the course. Homelessness in Canadian Society CINT 908
This course offers an interdisciplinary approach to understanding the complex problem of homelessness. Drawing on literature from Canada and the U.S., issues which underlie homelessness, the various ways in which these may be manifested, the ever-changing characteristics of these populations, and the policy responses aimed at resolving issues are explored. The current state of statistical information, the views of frontline service providers and advocates, and the differing paradigms embedded in the various disciplines represented will form the basis for debate and shared learning. Strong Helper’s Teachings CINT 910
Ogitchita Liwatiilhunyinh (First Nations translation: strong helper’s hands). This course offers students an interdisciplinary approach to address how to become an ally to Aboriginal peoples. Designed for community service students both from mainstream and Aboriginal backgrounds, this course applies an anti-oppression perspective to understand the origins of issues confronting contemporary Aboriginal peoples. To appreciate the process of Aboriginal self-determination, a holistic approach guides the examination of community services and infrastructure responsive to the needs of First Nations’ communities. (Formerly IST 910.)

Community Development: International Field Experience CINT 912
This course provides an opportunity for students to deepen their understanding of development issues, and to experience part of their learning in an interdisciplinary, international, and intercultural setting. Following a brief in-class orientation at Ryerson, the field experience part of the course is held overseas. Canadian students will work with students from the host country on specific projects relevant to community development in that country. The country and projects selected may vary from year to year.

Note: Students seeking admission to this course are required to submit an application form. For more information, see the course flyer and FAQ. (page xx)

Issues of Migration CINT 913
This course examines the main concepts and issues in contemporary migration studies by employing historical and international perspectives. The course will examine the Canadian response and the evolution of a post-war system implemented to deal with refugees and immigrants. Case studies of immigrants to Canada and to other parts of the world are used to illustrate theoretical concepts and to promote an understanding of the contextual nature of contemporary migration processes. Comparisons with other societies such as Australia, the United States and to the European Union will be discussed. The course will use a critical social sciences approach to address the implications of the North-South, and South-South relationship in the creation of refugees and immigrant populations.

Settlement Experiences CINT 914
This course examines the settlement processes experienced by new immigrants and refugees. The course discusses the different forms of resettlement, receptions, repatriation, social capital and human capital. It will also discuss the theoretical approaches to citizenship, nationalism and multiculturalism. The course introduces the intersection of race, gender, class and citizenship. It reviews current debates regarding settlement policies and services provided to different classes of immigrants.

Responses to Migration CINT 915
The focus of the course will be on the determinants of responses to migrants and migration through an examination of topics including racism, the media, legal status, services available to newcomers, education and credential recognition, and issues of housing discrimination. The goals of this course are to familiarize students with factors known to contribute to negative or positive responses to migrants and migration. In addition, students will learn to apply these factors to important practical issues in a critical and reflective manner such as understanding trends over time in migration attitudes and looking at present strategies that may be utilized to improve responses to migrants and migration.

Urban Community Development
CINT 917

Urban Community Development is a course designed to offer participants an opportunity to engage in interdisciplinary teams involved in community projects. Working under the supervision of a Ryerson faculty member and a professional community developer, students assist a community group or agency to gather information, analyze data and attempt to generate solutions. As part of their project work, students present their findings to the community centre as well as to the appropriate citizen groups or public at large. Field work occurs during the month of May. Note: Seven mandatory evening sessions (18:00-20:00) take place between October and March. Nights are chosen based on student availability where possible. These classes are followed by 12 days in the community during May.

Community Collaborations
CINT 920

This interdisciplinary course will assist students and practitioners to develop the knowledge and skills required to participate effectively in multi-sectoral community collaborations. The course will provide an overview of collaboration and will review common challenges and factors influencing success. Collaborative processes will be examined including community engagement and mobilization, outcomes-based strategic planning, implementation of strategies and sustaining momentum, governance, leadership, communications, and evaluation. Examples will be provided of community collaborations focused on improving outcomes for children, youth and families.

Interior Design

Professional interior designers make the most of the places where we live, work, and play. Using colour, space allocation, acoustics, illumination, patterns, and textures, they create beauty and functionality. Their services are needed in every imaginable interior setting—from corporate offices and shopping centres to restaurants, hotels, hospitals, and residences. If you would like to learn more about this fascinating field, then these courses may be for you.

Interior Design

Design Theory CDID 150

This is an introductory course that focuses on the multiple disciplines and concepts that impact the foundation of design at both a micro and macro level. Students will be introduced to the basic elements and principles that demonstrate visual organization and provide the tools for analyzing and synthesizing the application of design. This course will provide the theoretical underpinnings that allow students to creatively apply knowledge to both two- and three-dimensional design assignments and projects. In addition, the course may include field trips, collaborative and individual assignments, and in-class studio/lab work.

Supplies and materials to be purchased by the student: A list of supplies and materials required will be given to students after the first class. Cost approximately $120. Required text: Art Fundamentals Theory and Practice, cost approximately $95.

Interior Design I: Drafting CDID 151

Prerequisite(s): CDID 150

The first of a series of courses providing an introduction to four primary performance objectives which relate to drafting, planning and research, professional ethics, and the sensory environment. The focus of this course is visual communication to provide the student with a foundation in manual drafting practices through a series of drawing exercises relating to small scale residential interior spaces. CDID 151, combined with CDID 152, CDID 251, and CDID 252, is equivalent to IRN 100 and IRN 200.

Note: Students with a suitable portfolio may be admitted to this course upon approval of the program department; see Information Nights.

Interior Design I: Space Planning CDID 152

Prerequisite(s): CDID 151

This course introduces the analytic and problem-solving skills relating to space planning of small-scale residential interior spaces and sequences that function effectively for people using them. Visual communication using manual drafting practices learned in CDID 151 is applied to interior design studio exercises. CDID 152, combined with CDID 252, CDID 251, and CDID 252, is equivalent to IRN 100 and IRN 200.

Note: Students with a suitable portfolio may be admitted to this course upon approval of the program department; see Information Nights.

Interior Materials and Finishes CDID 153

Prerequisite(s): CDID 150

“Interior Finishing” introduces the principles, regulations, standards, systems, materials, and details of standard residential and commercial floor, wall and ceiling surface treatments, millwork and textiles, and the finishes applied to them. Fire rating, VOC (volatile organic compound) emissions and sustainable design are introduced.

Winter 2011 Monday 18:30-21:45 Jan 10-Apr 11

Design Dynamics I: Portfolio 1 CDID 155

Prerequisite(s): CDID 150

Two-dimensional design problems introduce the student to the concept of spatial illusion; how line shape, texture value, and colour can be manipulated to create the illusion of space. Building on skills developed in the first project, students will explore colour and typography as a source of visual inspiration, and through a series of transformations will explore the projection of 2-D images into 3-D reality. CDID 155, combined with CDID 156, CDID 255, and CDID 256, is equivalent to IRD 100 and IRD 200.

42 Hours Fee: $513

Winter 2011 Monday 18:30-21:45 Jan 10-Apr 11
Supplies and materials to be purchased by the student: A list of supplies and materials required will be given to students after the first class. Cost approximately $180.

Prerequisite(s): CDID 155

Building on skills developed in Portfolio 1, students will investigate texture as a design element and through a process of simulation, approximation, and stylization, create their textural statements. Students will study the principles of pattern, repetition, and the importance of colour as a design element in the manipulation of two-dimensional and three-dimensional form. CDID 155, combined with CDID 156, CDID 255, and CDID 256, is equivalent to IRD 100 and IRD 200.

42 Hours Fee: $513
Kitchen and Bathroom Design

CDID 157

Kitchens and bathrooms are essential to everyday living: they need to be designed so that they function as well as they look. Students will explore the specific requirements associated with kitchen and bath design. With an emphasis on the design process, this course covers the design of efficient and aesthetic kitchens and baths, including space considerations, equipment, current trends in materials, as well as human factors.

42 Hours Fee: $513

Interior Design I: Orientation (Sensory)

CDID 251

Part 1 - This course segment, through a series of lectures and site visits, introduces the student to the interior design practitioner's workplace and the ethics and standards of behaviour which prevail in the Association of Registered Interior Designers of Ontario (ARIDO).

Part 2 - The foundation in architectural drawing conventions and standards, and space planning introduced in CDID 151 and CDID 152 is applied to studio exercises which explore the interior sensory environment in terms of lighting and acoustics. CDID 151, combined with CDID 152, CDID 251, and CDID 252, is equivalent to IRN 100 and IRN 200.

42 Hours Fee: $513

Supplies and materials to be purchased by the student: Students are expected to have all the required equipment from previous prerequisite courses. Additional supplies and materials are required. Cost approximately $150.

Interior Design I: Research Methods

CDID 252

This course teaches the student to use systematic research methods to identify critical issues, gather information and data, analyze, synthesize, and draw reasoned defensible conclusions as a basis for design decisions. The course brings together the knowledge gained in the series of previous courses and requires the student to creatively design a residential environment for a specific client in plan and presentation forms. CDID 151, combined with CDID 152, CDID 251, and CDID 252, is equivalent to IRN 100 and IRN 200.

42 Hours Fee: $513

Supplies and materials to be purchased by the student: Students are expected to have all the required equipment from previous prerequisite courses. Additional supplies and materials are required. Cost approximately $150.

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Design Dynamics I: Portfolio 3

CDID 255

Three-dimensional projects introduce students to the interior design workshop, and to problem-solving in the third dimension. Projects will include the construction of jigs, woodbending and joining to create linear planar structures, as well as additive and subtractive sculptural techniques in the development of low relief sculptural forms. CDID 255, combined with CDID 156, CDID 253, and CDID 256, is equivalent to IRD 100 and IRD 200.

42 Hours Fee: $513

Supplies and materials to be purchased by the student: Students are expected to have all the required equipment from previous prerequisite courses. Additional supplies and materials are required. Cost approximately $120.

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Design Dynamics I: Capstone

CDID 256

Students undertake a major design project that will be a synthesis of all the skills and knowledge acquired in all the courses. The project work will require students to ideate, conceptualize, and construct a space that involves human scale and interaction. The major project will culminate in an oral presentation of the student's solution from initial concept, development, three-dimensional projection, applied two-dimensional design, thematic colour development, and the practical utilization of space. CDID 155, combined with CDID 156, CDID 255, and CDID 256 is equivalent to IRD 100 and IRD 200.

42 Hours Fee: $513

Supplies and materials to be purchased by the student: Students are expected to have all the required equipment from previous prerequisite courses. Additional supplies and materials are required. Cost approximately $150.

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Communications I

Techniques in Watercolour
Prerequisite(s): CIRL 100

A universal interest course. This course is designed to expose participants to the diversity of visual effects in watercolour and to begin building mastery over those effects. Learn watercolour’s fluid and transparent properties. Use watercolour as a wash, a tint, and in full saturation. Experiment with watercolour in combination with pencil, ink, and a variety of drawing media. Exercises will offer direction for studying texture, surface and illusion. Course content is applicable to both fine art and commercial art purposes.

Tuesday 18:30-21:30 May 3-Aug 9

Note:
Participants are responsible for purchase of materials (cost approximately $70). Do not buy any new materials before the opening class; however, do bring any watercolour supplies already owned. A list will be provided at the first class.

Drawing With Mixed Media
Prerequisite(s): CIRL 100

A universal interest course. This course deals with a variety of media in the rendering of a broad range of three-dimensional subjects. In particular, the course covers ways of applying effects to the rendering of interiors, objects, and material surfaces. Among the surfaces to be covered are stone, wood, fabrics, metal, and glass. Exercises will offer direction for the specific study of texture, pattern, contrast, and the play of light. As well as lending drama and excitement to illustrations, emphasis is placed upon developing a personal style.

21 Hours Fee: $333

Drawing Fundamentals
Prerequisite(s): CIRL 100

Come test the theory: Everyone can draw! Everyone has the instinct toward language - verbal and visual. This course teaches the visual “language” that is natural to us all. It begins at the most rudimentary level and progresses through each of the developmental stages that lead to image-making skill. A series of exercises taken in sequence will build the powers of observation needed to transform a three-dimensional subject into a two-dimensional symbol. Learn the fundamentals of gesture, line, light and shade, and space. Commitment to weekly practice will determine the level of progress. The course objective is to make drawing a part of everyday life.

Note: Course content is applicable to both fine art and commercial art fields.

Interviewing: The Art and Craft of Asking Questions  CDJN 448
The French philosopher Voltaire once said, “Judge a man not by his answers, but by his questions.” The art of asking questions is one of the most important communication skills. This course provides journalists, writers, and anyone who wants to improve his or her interviewing techniques with relevant information and hands-on experience. In addition to practical assignments, guest speakers, and field trips, topics include research and focus, how to find and contact interviewees, preparing and asking questions, listening skills, specific tips for telephone, print, and broadcast interviews, and more.

Freelancing the Future  CDJN 449
All social and economic indicators point to freelancing as the way of the future in journalism and communications. This seven-week workshop provides participants with the knowledge and skill to become self-employed professionals. Topics include finding and proposing ideas, marketing yourself, establishing and negotiating fees, preparing a business plan, market opportunities, tax advantages, what you need to get started, and much more.

Instructor: Paul McLaughlin is an award-winning magazine writer, broadcaster, and playwright. A journalist since 1973, he has been published extensively in most major Canadian magazines, and has worked as a producer and freelance interviewer for CBC Radio. He has written four books, including How to Interview (originally titled Asking Questions: The Art of the Media Interview). Paul has also produced videos, including Hockey Night in Hollywood, a CTV special starring Wayne Gretzky. A journalism instructor at Ryerson University, Paul has also taught journalism at Carleton University and Algonquin College.

Feature Writing for the Freelance Market
CDJN 457
Created for people who wish to sell feature stories to magazines and newspapers, this course provides a step-by-step approach on how to write and market feature articles. Topics covered include how to come up with great ideas, research, query letters, interviewing techniques, structure, proper use of quotes, developing your voice, style, and point of view, and where to sell. Producing a major feature by term's end is the main goal, but there are also in-class writing assignments. This course is ideal for beginners and seasoned writers looking to review the basics.

- Writing for the Print Media
CDJN 458
This course is designed to improve your writing skills. Work with a reporter, an editor, a feature writer, a columnist, and a public relations specialist. You will write news stories, press releases, a feature story, and a column. Through discussions, assignments, and workshops, students will also learn interviewing techniques and media relations strategies that work. This is a practical course focused on making your writing more effective.

- Inside Journalism
CDJN 466
What draws people to journalism as a profession? And what keeps them there? What do journalists really do? How do they think? What happens behind the scenes? This course is an excellent primer for people considering the field of journalism as a first career choice or career switch. Students will explore the areas of print reporting, magazine writing, television news and current affairs, web reporting, column writing, and more; they will try their hand at some basic journalistic skills, and consider the profession from the viewpoint of popular culture, real-life stories from guest experts, and an evening in a working newsroom.

- How To Sell A Documentary
CDJN 467
This course guides students through the development stage of documentary filmmaking, teaching you how to refine your ideas, how to use research and interview techniques, and how to write a proposal or treatment. In this context, students will view different styles of documentary films and discuss their treatment of different issues raised. The course will culminate in a mock “pitch session” with a complement of commissioning editors from the broadcasting industry.

Note: Instructor: Elizabeth Klinck has 25 years’ experience of documentary research and production for producers and broadcasters including the National Film Board of Canada, Witness (CBC), BRAVO!, Discovery Canada, HBO, and PBS. She has worked with such directors and broadcasters as Adrienne Clarkson, Donald Brittain, Alan King, John Kastner, and Gwynne Dyer.

- Finding Your Voice: The Art of Column Writing
CDJN 477
Have you always yearned to be a columnist? Good news. There’s never been a better time to do so. With the Internet now augmenting the traditional guest-column market, every writer who builds the right kind of media platform stands on a soap box looking out on the world. This writing workshop will help you assemble the professional tools to craft columns that will be noticed. By drafting and polishing, you will find your unique voice.

Note: Instructor: Sarah Jane Growe is an award-winning columnist, best-selling author, and lecturer.

- Copy Editing: In Search of the Perfect Word
CDJN 462
Copy editors edit above all to communicate to readers. But editors who love their readers also cherish their writers - and can become their best friends. Theirs is a creative job that improves the quality of copy. This workshop is for people who care about language and want to help writers, including themselves, tell readers what they mean in a clear, concise, correct, and defensible way. It deals with the basics - spelling, punctuation, and grammar - as well as knowing what to look for, conforming content to communicate, compel, and build community. This workshop will help you find your unique voice.

- Writing for the Internet: The Word Online
CDJN 464
The Internet is a communications medium filled with possibilities and limitations. Its hyperlinked, two-way, multimedia and interactive nature means that new skills and techniques - and some traditional ones - need to be carefully applied in order for content to communicate, compel, and build community. This two-day workshop will provide an introduction to skills necessary for effective online writing. That means new ways of conveying information in short, concise and innovative formats that will attract the eyes of Internet users.

Spin: Journalism PR and the Search for Truth
CDJN 469

We live in an age of “spin.” We are bombarded by prepackaged messages from politicians, lobbyists, business leaders and official “spokespeople” of all kinds. We are getting a lot of strategic communication but not much real communication. Sometimes it’s hard to know where to turn to find the “truth.” Historically, we’ve looked to the media for that, but all too often these days, the press seems to be seduced by spin as well, just another branch of the “spindustry.” This course examines the complex relationship between the PR industry and the mass media, the pervasiveness of spin in contemporary society, and the impact it has on us.

Note: Instructor, Ira Basen is a veteran CBC producer and former executive producer of CBC Radio’s Sunday Morning. He is completing a book on spin.

Lighting Design

These multidisciplinary courses are designed to provide you with the broad knowledge base and wide range of skills required as professionals in the lighting industry.

Lighting Design

★ Lighting Fundamentals  CDID 501
This course gives an overview of illuminating engineering and design. Concepts, nomenclature, and equipment are defined. Topics include basic electricity and energy, colour and colorimetry, photometry, sources of light and daylight, units of lighting measurement and calculations. Students gain a foundation of technical information sufficient to understand rudiments of lighting design. This course is recognized for CEU credit by IESNA (Illuminating Engineering Society of North America). Equivalent to a one-term professional elective in the Architectural Science Program. (Equivalent to one Professional elective from Table I, see Undergraduate Program Calendar.)

42 Hours  Fee: $706
Spring/Summer 2011
Tuesday & Thursday 18:30-21:30  May 3-Jun 16

★ Human Factors in Lighting  CDID 502
Prerequisite(s): CDID 501

This course provides the human factors and psychology background necessary to understand the human needs served by lighting. Within the context of practical applications to interior and exterior lighting problems, the course material covers basic vision and perception in depth and provides an introduction to psychological processes, such as attention, aesthetic appraisal, and cognition, that play a role in human response to lighting. This course is recognized for CEU credit by IESNA (Illuminating Engineering Society of North America). Equivalent to a one-term professional elective in the Architectural Science Program.

42 Hours  Fee: $706
Fall 2010
Monday 18:30-21:45  Sep 13-Dec 13

★ Introduction to Lighting Design  CDID 503
Prerequisite(s): CDID 501

This course emphasizes the use of the design process for developing lighting systems design as applied to a number of practical problems. Students will present their proposed lighting systems design solutions in a formal setting for evaluation. Lighting system performance metrics (visibility, glare, psychological effects), various computational methods and light sources are studied and solutions applied to practical problems of lighting interiors. Equivalent to a one-term professional elective in the Architectural Science Program. (Equivalent to one Professional elective from Table I, see Undergraduate Program Calendar.)

42 Hours  Fee: $706
Winter 2011
Monday 18:30-21:45  Jan 10-Apr 11

★ Lighting Energy Management  CDID 504
Prerequisite(s): CDID 501

This course studies various integrated building systems and the interrelationship between these systems and lighting of various types. Using case studies and assignments, students will evaluate the methods of, and the results from, applying energy-efficient lighting design. Attention is given to codes and energy regulations currently being enforced within the building industry internationally, nationally, and locally. Equivalent to a one-term professional elective in the Architectural Science Program.

• Introduction to Daylighting Design

Prerequisite(s): CDID 501, CDID 502, CDID 503, and CDID 504
This course emphasizes the science and practice of using daylight as a source of interior light. The course material covers daylight availability, delivery systems, computations, integration with other building systems and application of prediction models. Analysis and methods include the effect of daylighting in enclosed architectural spaces on illumination levels, visual performance, thermal loads and energy. Classroom exercises include physical sky models, sunshading exercises, application of predictive models and performance evaluations of daylighting in case studies or site visits. Equivalent to a one-term professional elective in the Architectural Science Program. (Equivalent to one Professional elective from Table I, see Undergraduate Program Calendar.)

• Advanced Lighting Design

CDID 551
Prerequisite(s): CDID 501, CDID 502, CDID 503, and CDID 504
This studio course is the culmination of the skills learned in the prerequisite courses, applied to specific, complex lighting design problems. Emphasis is on comprehensive, practical solutions to design, budget, energy and systems issues. Students will be guided by a working professional, and will study the application of elements of lighting which are more difficult to quantify, such as colour, form, space, plane, rhythm, balance, and texture.
Students will also study examples of the use of light in other media such as film, theatre, and public events. Equivalent to a one-term professional elective in the Architectural Science Program.

Winter 2011
Tuesday 18:30-21:30 Jan 11-Apr 12

• Entertainment Lighting Design

CDID 552
This studio course is an introduction to the techniques of theatre lighting design. The focus of the course is lighting design issues and methods in theatre lighting. The emphasis is on hands-on practice and experience. Students will complete one major theatre lighting design assignment.

• Lighting Design Practicum

CDID 553
Prerequisite(s): CDID 501, CDID 502, CDID 503, CDID 504,
CDID 550, and CDID 551
This course is an advanced-level course which stresses individual study, self-motivation, the skills required to research information, oral and written presentation, and client communication skills.

42 Hours  Fee: $712
Spring/Summer 2011
Monday 18:30-21:45 May 2-Aug 8

This course is an advanced-level course which stresses individual study, self-motivation, the skills required to research information, oral and written presentation, and client communication skills. It provides an opportunity for students to investigate a problem in either lighting technology or lighting applications (e.g., a behavioural or perceptual effect) with a faculty member, or an adjunct such as the National Research Council, or an independent consultant, or an industry lamp/luminaire manufacturer. The student may define the research question in collaboration with the supervisor, or may work on an ongoing research practicum with a faculty member, and will define, conduct, and report on the investigation that answers the question.

Magazine and Web Publishing

◆ So You Want to Start a Magazine CDJN 101

It's exciting, starting a new magazine, but a lot more complicated than it looks. To help you do it right, this two-day course, taught by one of Canada's top magazine consultants, covers all of the practical aspects of launching a magazine today. Topics include: understanding your audience; translating your idea into a viable business; developing editorial that wows readers; getting and analyzing printing quotes; how to get the best prices for ads and subscriptions; how to promote a new magazine; tips about circulation, fulfillment, production and newstand sales; how to write your own launch timeline and business plan; and much more.

Note: For more information, please see www.ryerson.ca/ce/StartaMagazine.

◆ Introduction to Magazine Design CDJN 116

Editors at small publications need to know about magazine design because they inevitably wind up doing a lot of it. Editors at larger titles need the same basics to deal knowledgeably with the art department (top editors have to sign off on their work). Production staff - and graphic designers without specific magazine training - will also profit from these 42 hours. The course deals with the fundamentals of magazine design: a magazine's anatomy and overall design scheme; typography, grids, and formats; developing design concepts; assigning; covers; working out an imposition; technical considerations; and desktop publishing. Included are a guest speaker on photography and illustration and a field trip to a magazine design studio. Emphasis is on the concept of the designer as both a communication specialist and a member of the journalistic team. Participants take a story idea from manuscript through the design process to full composite.

◆ Writing for Magazines and the Web CDJN 117

This course is intended for those with a serious interest in writing and selling non-fiction articles to magazines. It is an introduction to the basics of conceiving, focusing, pitching, researching, structuring, writing and revising a full-length feature magazine story. Topics include focusing story ideas, combining formal research with strong visual reporting, interviewing techniques, structuring and writing a story. The course will consist of a blend of theory and practice and will include lecture/instruction, classroom exercises, and writing workshops with feedback from peers and the instructor. In addition to the recommended reading and weekly handouts, students are expected to read a wide variety of Canadian and American periodicals, and to complete (for grading) two shorter writing assignments, and a major (1,000-1,500 word) feature story on a topic of their choice, targeted to a specific North American consumer or trade publication. CDJN 117 combined with CDJN 118 is equivalent to JRN 803.

many of the dramatic techniques of fiction. At its best, this kind of feature writing holds readers’ interest, entertaining them while simultaneously providing the depth and context necessary to understand complex issues and events or capture the essence of a profile subject. There will be short writing assignments as well as one longer feature, which must contain some or all of the elements of the course: evidence of on-the-scene reporting, a narrative arc consisting of a well-crafted beginning-middle-end, character development, the use of dialogue instead of (or in addition to) traditional quotation, the use of symbol to support theme, etc. Students are expected to come to the first class prepared to discuss story ideas and move on quickly to writing a query letter. CDJN 117 combined with CDJN 118 is equivalent to JRN 503.

Note: Candidates seeking admission by experience must produce a portfolio of feature work published in magazines and/or substantial magazine-style features from newspapers. For more information, contact the instructor at 416.406.5167.

Magazine Fact-Checking and Research
CDJN 120

Independent fact-checking happens mainly at magazines, but the skills taught in this course can be used in any medium. In the magazine business, fact-checking is a key entry-level job, a way for aspiring writers or editors to learn how a magazine works and how professional writers put together a story, and to develop relationships with editors that can lead to assignments or jobs. For writers, the more they know about what happens to an article in fact-checking, the better prepared they’ll be to provide what editors want - and to protect their copy. This course looks at why magazines employ fact-checkers; how fact-checking fits into the editors want - and to protect their copy. Editing Service Journalism
CDJN 121

Service journalism - useful articles that enhance readers’ lives in tangible ways - is at the core of many successful consumer magazines, websites, and all trade publications. In response to industry requests, this course covers the concepts and skills common to all service journalism, including tailoring content for readers based on both demographics and mindset; effective packaging (including cover lines); use of sidebars, checklists, and captions; use of photos, illustrations, and other graphics; and using the web. Traditional lecture format is kept to a minimum. Most of the concepts are taught and demonstrated through in-class workshops, round-tables, story meetings, quick editing exercises, and hands-on group activities. Time is made available for one-on-one discussions with the instructor as well as peer feedback.

Substantive Editing for Magazines
CDJN 122

This hands-on course focuses on effective editing of individual magazine articles, helping writers grab readers’ attention at the start and keep them reading to the end. Areas covered include assigning or acquiring manuscripts; tailoring content for specific readerships; coaching writers according to their individual strengths and weaknesses; editing for completeness and clarity; effective cutting and silken transitions; and use of imagery, anecdote, and a variety of voices and rhythms to make an article sing. A must for anyone planning to edit longer manuscripts - and a very useful course for anyone planning to write them.

Magazine Advertising Sales
CDJN 201

On average, Canadian magazine advertising sales representatives earn more than magazine editors and find it easier to step into the role of publisher. (All magazine publishers must have a thorough understanding of advertising sales.) This course provides students with the knowledge and skills required to sell magazine advertising in today’s highly competitive marketplace. Fundamentals taught include: using standard research tools to develop sales presentations, sales call preparation, working with advertising agencies and closing sales. Guest speakers from the advertising field add to the learning experience.

Magazine Marketing and Circulation
CDJN 202

Never before has marketing meant as much to a magazine’s success as it does today. Circulation (the selling of magazines themselves, rather than their advertising pages) currently offers more potential for revenue growth - and more career opportunities - than any other area of magazine publishing. This course focuses on marketing magazines to readers, covering all systems and methods that successful circulation marketing employs. Topics include: the magazine market in Canada, identifying markets for specific titles, key variables determining marketing success, subscription acquisition and renewals, bulk sales, controlled circulation uses and strategies, pricing.

Layout Software for Magazine Editors  CDJN 204
QuarkXPress and Adobe InDesign are both design and page layout software programs, used throughout the magazine industry. They allow editors at small publications to be responsible for design, typesetting, and prepress functions. But editors at magazines of all sizes are expected to have some knowledge of these programs to coordinate text and layout with art departments, to organize editorial production and copy flow, and to edit and format text. This course will provide you with the basics and is taught per term using either InDesign or QuarkXPress, depending on demand. Instruction includes creating page layouts, formatting text, style sheets, and master pages - and familiarizes you with the organizational and word-processing tasks that face magazine editors. These programs are taught on a Macintosh computer platform.

Creating Website Editorial  CDJN 206
From chats and blogs to streaming video, the editorial elements available for websites differ radically from those for ink-and-paper magazines. For magazine editors with website responsibilities, the trick is to use those things creatively to attract and hold readers while still maintaining the magazine’s identity and mission. This course provides students with a valuable understanding of web tools and opportunities to workshop appropriate content for them. It also addresses the most common strategic, logistical, and business-related challenges that come with producing great magazine websites.

Marketing

There is scarcely any field of professional activity that does not require the expertise of a skilled and knowledgeable marketing specialist. The following courses can help you develop broad-based or industry-specific marketing skills, either to upgrade your present qualifications or as preparation for a new career. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ce/marketing.

Marketing

All CMKT course fees include a $10 fee for materials. For further information, see Material Fees. Related certificate(s): Business Analysis, Business Management I, Design Management, eBusiness, Facility Management, Fashion Coordination and Styling, Graphic Communications, International Business, Marketing Management, Retail and Services Management, Strategic Marketing

* Principles of Marketing

Antirequisite(s): CINP 912

This course introduces students to the fundamental building blocks of marketing: the theories, principles and concepts of market behavior; marketing metrics and financial marketing; and the skills to leverage this knowledge with IT tools to execute marketing strategies. Students begin to develop the quantitative and qualitative skills and knowledge to make effective and ethical decisions in both the consumer and business markets. Topics include financial marketing, the marketing mix, environmental scanning, segmenting, targeting and positioning. Students planning to enter the Marketing Management Major must obtain a 2.67 GPA (B-) in this course.

* Understanding Consumers and the New Media

Prerequisite(s): CMKT 300

Antirequisite(s): CMKT 502, RMG 302

The online world is becoming more social and therefore more like the offline world. This shift has changed the nature of marketing from one-way mass communication to a conversation. This course uses social science theories to understand consumers and design effective marketing strategies with an emphasis on digital media applications. This theoretical course is fundamental to analyzing, interpreting, and understanding the personal, psychological, social, and economic aspects of the marketing environment. Mathematics

The mathematics courses outlined here will introduce you to new concepts and problem-solving skills that are relevant to a variety of personal and professional interests.

Mathematics

Mathematics Quick Start CKMT 100
The Mathematics Quick Start workshop is designed to give students the essential skills and knowledge that are expected for students entering first-year mathematics courses. The workshop will be delivered in an intensive format and is not for credit, but the students will be given tests and assignments to be able to gauge their progress. The workshop will cover topics such as trigonometry, solving equations, and functions.

Note: To enroll in this course, please contact The Chang School for assistance: 416.979.5235 or ce@ryerson.ca.

Advanced Data Management CKMT 103
This course broadens students’ understanding of mathematics as it relates to managing data. Students will apply methods for organizing large amounts of information; solve problems involving probability and statistics; and carry out a culminating project that integrates statistical concepts and skills. Students will also refine their use of the mathematical processes necessary for success in senior mathematics.

Neuroscience

The interprofessional Certificate in Advanced Neuroscience-Stroke Care offers health care providers the opportunity to develop an advanced understanding of evidence-based practices and research across the continuum of neuroscience and stroke client-centred care.

★ Critical Appraisal of Evidence
CVNS 600

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

This course will provide interprofessional health care providers with an interest in a neuroscience-stroke specialty with the knowledge and skills required to critically appraise evidence to inform and apply findings to practice. Course content will be taught in the context of the interprofessional team and will be directly applicable to the delivery of patient-centered care. This course is designed to engage students in interactive, application-focused learning.

Note: Ontario Telemedicine Network (OTN) Videoconference/Internet: Delivery of courses takes place via two-way videoconferencing systems at various site locations (dates and times - TBA) plus a mandatory weekly Internet component.

42 Hours Fee: $628

Fall 2010
Distance: Internet (OTN videoconference) Sep 14-Nov 30 and Tuesdays (2-5 sessions TBA) 16:30-20:30

Spring/Summer 2011
Tuesday 16:30-19:30 May 3-Jul 19

See www.ryerson.ca/ce/neuroscience-stroke for further information.

Health Promotion Paradigms
CVNS 620

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

This course is designed for health care professionals, health educators, as well as those with functional management responsibilities from all health disciplines interested in advancing health promotion, risk factor management and chronic illness prevention within the Ontario Stroke System. The purpose of this course is to develop core competencies in health promotion and prevention of transient ischemic attack and stroke in an interprofessional context across the continuum of stroke care. Note: Ontario Telemedicine Network (OTN) Videoconference/Internet: Delivery of courses takes place via two-way videoconferencing systems at various site locations (dates and times - TBA) plus a mandatory weekly Internet component.

42 Hours Fee: $628

Spring/Summer 2011
Tuesday 16:30-19:30 May 10-Jul 26
See www.ryerson.ca/ce/neuroscience-stroke for further information.

Brain Structures and Cognition
CVNS 630

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

This course provides an advanced knowledge of brain structure, function, consequences of brain injury, and related clinical applications for interprofessional neuroscience-stroke settings.
The main focus of this course is on the organization of the human brain and the role of the brain in motor control, attention, language, memory, executive function, and emotion. The course is designed to engage learners in interactive, application-focused learning. Equivalent to PSY 434.

Note: This course is only available to students registered in the Certificate in Advanced Neuroscience-Stroke Care.

New Media

The following series of courses provides instruction that is relevant to new media production in business, in the communications industry, in architecture and interior design, and in education and the arts. Courses explore production concepts and the creative possibilities of composition, computer imaging, and many other aspects of new media.

Equipment/Facilities Use: Please note that equipment and facilities use outside of class time will not be provided.

New Media

These courses may be taken as individual courses for professional or personal development, as a credit towards the Certificate in Image Arts with a specialization in New Media, or as a credit applied towards the BFA in Image Arts (the New Media Option). Related certificate(s): Design for Arts and Entertainment, Film Studies, Image Arts (Film Studies, New Media, or Photography Studies)

Introduction to Web Presentation
CDNM 109
Students develop a public presentation strategy that includes designing and constructing a web page featuring their student work or their business profile. Students also produce a printed poster using text, graphics, and manipulated images. This course provides an introduction to Adobe Photoshop, Dream Weaver, and Flash animation, as well as basic HTML and CSS code. Design and usability concerns will be discussed and students will learn to apply these concepts to their work. (CDNM 109 combined with CDNM 209 is equivalent to MPM 17A/B.)

42 Hours  Fee: $540

Fall 2010
Tuesday 18:30-21:30  Sep 14-Dec 16
Spring/Summer 2011
Thursday 18:00-21:00  May 5-Aug 4

Image History I: Twentieth Century Art
CDNM 110
A survey of twentieth century art and culture examining modernist art and art practice, as expressed in various works including cinema and photography and in forms of criticism that have been developed to interpret and explain them. CDNM 110 combined with CDNM 210 is equivalent to MPC 13A/B.

Winter 2011
Tuesday 18:30-21:30  Jan 11-Apr 12
No class on October 11.

Image Theory I: Image Analysis
CDNM 111
This course explores the methodologies and theories of communication and semiotics needed to analyze imagery and sound-image relations in art and media. The course will draw upon various disciplines such as communications, cultural studies, linguistics, and the psychology of perception to provide critical approaches to understanding the cultural forces that shape and are shaped by image-makers. CDNM 111 combined with CDNM 113 is equivalent to MPC 18A/B.

Winter 2011
Wednesday 18:30-21:30  Jan 12-Apr 13

Visual Studies I
CDNM 113
This studio and lab course acquaints the student with visual and design components related to film, photography, and video production. Assignments will provide the opportunity to actively investigate aspects of space, sound, time, interval, sequence, light, colour, and form with emphasis on the individual creativity of each student. Students will produce images created by traditional drawing, photography, and collage techniques. CDNM 113 combined with CDNM 111 is equivalent to MPC 18A/B.

42 Hours  Fee: $548

Fall 2010

Material Fee: A material fee of $35 is included in the total fee indicated above. For further information, see Material Fees. Supplies to be purchased by the student: Approximately $50.
No class on October 9 or May 21.

Introduction to Interaction Design
CDNM 121
Students will learn core programming skills using Processing (an open source platform) to generate dynamic images in order to investigate the interplay between creative expression and technological capability. This course introduces students to data-based and code-based practice. Through lecture, discussion, and research students will examine behavioral media and how to design for it, as well as the differences between image based and experience based culture and practice. (CDNM 121 combined with CDNM 221 is equivalent to MPM 16A/B).

42 Hours  Fee: $540

Fall 2010
Tuesday 18:30-21:30  Sep 14-Dec 14

Flash for New Media
CDNM 209
Students will use Flash and Action Script to create an algorithmic design, animation, and a dynamic interface. Students will also build synthetic experiences as a means to explore a variety of conceptual and practical approaches to virtual hybrid and physical media practices. Students will research a selection of cultural developments that use synthetic media. (CDNM 109 combined with CDNM 209 is equivalent to MPM 17A/B.)

42 Hours  Fee: $540

Winter 2011
Thursday 18:30-21:30  Jan 13-Apr 14

Image History II: Contemporary Art
CDNM 210
Prerequisite(s): CDNM 110
A survey of art and art practices from the post-modern era to the present, and the development of new image forms and traditions. Various works including cinema, photography, and new media will be examined, with emphasis on the development of critical and art historical issues. CDNM 110 combined with CDNM 210 is equivalent to MPC 13A/B.

42 Hours  Fee: $513

Winter 2011
Monday 18:30-21:45  Jan 10-Apr 11
Spring/Summer 2011
Monday 18:30-21:45  May 2-Aug 8
No class on February 15 or May 24.

Image Theory II: Contemporary Concepts
CDNM 211
Prerequisite(s): CDNM 111
This course examines image theories and image-making practices within contemporary culture and explores such issues as the social and cultural significance of the shift from analog to digital imaging systems, the bias of visual culture, the image as commodity or information, cyberspace, and developments in global communications.

42 Hours Fee: $513
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Visual Studies II

Prerequisite(s): CDNM 113

This course expands upon the study of visual and design components introduced in Visual Studies I. Students explore design issues and concepts as they apply to the moving image. Through assignments, which consist of collecting images on 16mm film and manipulating these images using Final Cut Pro software, students learn a language of communications and realize their individual concepts and approaches.

42 Hours Fee: $548
Material Fee: A material fee of $35 is included in the total fee indicated above. For further information, see Material Fees.
Supplies to be purchased by the student: Approximately $100.

Video and Audio for New Media

Through lectures followed with assignments and exercises, students will learn digital audio and video pre-production and recording skills specific to new media. Digital video material will be edited, manipulated, and incorporated into web presentation. (CDNM 121 combined with CDNM 221 is equivalent to MPM 16A/B). Supplies to be purchased by the student: Approximately 120 dollars for media hard drive; details will be provided at first class.

42 Hours Fee: $540
Winter 2011
Saturday 9:00-16:00 Jan 15-Mar 5
No class on February 19.

Introduction to Physical Computing

This course introduces students to the conceptual and technical concerns associated with making physical and hybrid experiences. Students will use open source software (Processing) and hardware (Arduino) to develop works that span the gap between virtual and physical worlds.

Note: Knowledge of scripting or coding is an asset.

42 Hours Fee: $537
Supplies to be purchased by the student: $50.

Advanced New Media Topics

This course will allow students to explore leading-edge research, developments and projects in new media. New media practitioners and researchers will be encouraged to submit proposals for this workshop. Collaborative and community-based projects will also be actively sought and encouraged. The particular structure of the workshop will be responsive to the nature of the ongoing projects but the students will be active participants in the design, development and prediction of the accepted projects.

42 Hours Fee: $551
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Nursing

The G. Raymond Chang School of Continuing Education, in cooperation with the Daphne Cockwell School of Nursing, has been highly responsive to the needs identified by nurses for high-quality, accessible, degree-level educational opportunities. Credit courses are offered in three categories:

(a) degree-credit professional courses selected from the BScN program,
(b) prerequisite and professionally related elective arts courses, and © specialized credit electives in the Certificate in Leadership and Management for Nurses.

More information and resources are available online at www.ryerson.ca/ce/nursing, including room numbers, regional access centre locations, course outlines, information on the 19- and 30-month part-time degree in Nursing, and the Nursing Academic Planner.

Please note that all nursing courses involve computer use. Students require access to a computer with Microsoft Windows (Windows 98 minimum) and Internet Explorer.

Nursing Practice I  CNCL 700
Prerequisite(s): CNUC 832, CNUR 600, CNUR 805, CPHL 302 and ([CNUR 850 and CNUR 860) or CNUR 80B]
Corequisite(s): CNUR 810 and CNUR 833

This is the first of two clinical courses in which the students will use nursing and other theorists to guide their practice. Students will apply teaching-learning, communication, health promotion and community health principles when working with individuals, groups and families in community-based settings. Students will practice culturally sensitive, creative and flexible nursing. Emphasis will be placed on critical thinking, self reflection, utilization of research findings and the application of concepts from leadership and change. Note: In order to take this course, you must be a Registered Nurse with a current College of Nurses of Ontario Certificate of Competence.

The scheduling reflects the classroom-based instruction. In addition, students are required to participate in a mandatory weekly Internet component.

Corequisite(s): CNUR 820 or CNUR 823 or CNUR 824 or CNUR 825 or CNUR 826 or CNUR 827 or NUR 828

This clinical course will provide students with the opportunity to consolidate the development of nursing practice skills. Using Theoretical approaches that are relevant to the practice setting, students will assume responsibility for more complex assignments expected of a beginning level baccalaureate graduate. Critical thinking and reflective practice will be key components of this course. Emphasis will be placed on the multiplicity of nursing roles in hospital and community settings. Students may apply theory from their nursing elective in the final practice setting. Clinical group meetings will be scheduled throughout the term.

Note: In order to take this course, you must be a Registered Nurse with a current College of Nurses of Ontario Certificate of Competence.

Community Nursing CNUC 832
Prerequisite(s): CNUR 816 and CNUR 830
Corequisite(s): CNUR 600

This course will focus on the role of the community health nurse in working with individuals, families and communities and populations. It will examine in detail current frameworks of illness prevention, health promotion and community development. Nursing roles in a variety of health promotion approaches will be examined. These will include the medical approach, behavioural change strategies, educational strategies, empowerment and advocacy, and social change related to socio-economic environment. The theoretical concepts will be linked to a discussion of current examples of community health programs and research.

Note: In order to take this course, you must be a Registered Nurse with a current College of Nurses of Ontario Certificate of Competence.

Epidemiology: Major Health Problems CNUR 600
Prerequisite(s): CNUR 80B or (CNUR 850 and Corequisite(s): CNUR 860)

In this course students will examine the principles and methods of epidemiology and apply these to selected populations. Major health problems across the lifespan and recommended intervention strategies will be explored from a primary, secondary and tertiary perspective. How the nurse applies knowledge of epidemiology, when working with individuals, families and communities, will be examined. Current literature and research findings will be utilized to direct discussion and analyze issues.

The Evolution of Theoretical Knowledge CNUR 805

In this course, the student will explore the philosophical evolution of nursing knowledge as an art and a science. Using a transformation theory base, the student will analyze a variety of nursing theories, concepts, and models, and the root of her/his own perspective of nursing practice. Major emphasis will be placed on the use of a theoretical framework to direct the processes of assessment, clinical judgment, care planning and evaluation. The interrelationship of systems theory and nursing theories, and their application to practice is examined.

Concepts in Contemporary Nursing Practice CNUR 810
Prerequisite(s): CNUC 832 and [CNUR 80B or (CNUR 850 and CNUR 860)]

The focus of the course is to analyze, and apply theory and contemporary concepts associated with health and illness, health care delivery, and family development though the lifespan. Discussion will involve individuals and families with a focus on contemporary nursing practice at primary, secondary, and tertiary levels. Examples of concepts to be explored are: client-nurse diversity, self-care, and care-giver burden, chronic illness, resilience, and powerlessness.

Note: In order to take this course, you must be a Registered Nurse with a current College of Nurses of Ontario Certificate of Competence.

* Research Methods  CNUR 850

Corequisite(s): CNUR 805

In this course students will examine the contribution of research to the development of nursing science. They will explore the relationships between research and knowledge; and theory and practice. The focus will be on understanding the components of the research process, in the positivist and naturalist paradigms, as well as mixed methods designs. Students will use computer technology to search the nursing and health-related literature.

The ethical conduct of research will be addressed. Students will learn to interpret and critically appraise nursing research studies, applying research findings to practice, and identifying areas for further nursing research. (Equivalent to first half of NUR 80A/B)

Note: In order to take this course, you must be a Registered Nurse with a current College of Nurses of Ontario Certificate of Competence.

University Skills for Nurses and ECE Students

CVNU 101

The purpose of this workshop is to provide nurses entering Post-RN BScN degree studies with an introduction to the basic scholarly skills required for success in university level education. Topics include the basic steps for writing university essays and using APA format; networking and learning with others through computers; classroom presentation skills; library article searches online; and time management skills for busy nurses returning to school.

Note: This two-day workshop is a course series and is not for certificate.

Financial Management CVNU 321
This course will examine the financial strategies and processes used by health care institutions and agencies to manage their human and material resources. The specific mechanisms used by hospitals to develop and monitor their budgets as well as trends in reimbursement and management information systems will be reviewed. Basic accounting principles will be included to facilitate examination and use of financial statements and balance sheets. Considerable time will be devoted to reviewing the concepts related to staffing, budgeting, and monitoring to assist the student to develop a budget for a prototype nursing unit. Equivalent to Nursing Elective: Special Topics in the BScN program.
Note: In order to take this course, you must be a Registered Nurse with a current College of Nurses of Ontario Certificate of Registration.

Computer and Information Management in Nursing CVNU 322
In today’s health care environment, decisions must be based on sound information to provide quality care in a cost-effective way. Well-informed decisions require accurate, complete, and timely information obtained from well-managed data processes. Health care professionals must be fluent and competent to work with the necessary tools to manage information. Computers and the applications which drive these machines are important to understanding the potential of information management. This course will explore various theories and concepts of information management and will allow the students to further their knowledge of computer concepts and applications. Equivalent to Nursing Elective: Special Topics in the BScN program.
Note: In order to take this course, you must be a Registered Nurse with a current College of Nurses of Ontario Certificate of Registration.

Quality of Life: The Client’s Perspective CVNU 324
This course focuses on exploring the knowledge and skills required to form genuine partnerships with individuals, families, and groups. Patient stories and qualitative research findings about quality of life, as a lived experience, will provide opportunities for students to critically reflect on the values that guide practice and the nurse-person relationship. Thinking consistent with human science will instruct students as they synthesize the literature on quality of life and explore their participation in partnership with clients. Equivalent to Nursing Elective: Special Topics in the BScN program.
Nutrition

These courses enhance knowledge of nutrition in related fields of study.

Nutrition

Nutrition for Nursing Practice
CFNN 111

This course introduces nutrition as one of the interrelated determinants of health and examines both the role of environments and the importance of individual self-determination and self-knowledge in health promotion. The topics covered will include the basics of healthy eating, macro- and micronutrients, nutrition assessment, and nutrition principles through the lifespan. Student participation will entail group learning, self-assessment and self-reflection.

Public Health Nutrition
CFNN 202

Prerequisite(s): FNN 201

Chronic disease risk reduction from a population-based perspective will be explored. Utilizing a determinants of health framework, strategies for identifying risk and managing chronic disease at a population level will be studied. Cardiovascular disease, diabetes, obesity, osteoporosis and mental health will be used to frame this approach to disease risk reduction. Students will move from examining theoretical approaches to chronic disease prevention to examining 'success stories' - examples of theory being put into practice.

Occupational Health

Foundations of Aetiology
CENH 222

This is a foundation course to the study of epidemiology, which itself is the core science of occupational and public health. The course will provide the framework required for upper level courses in communicable disease control, infection control and food hygiene. Lectures will cover the concepts underlying food and water quality control and the development and control of communicable and occupational diseases in human populations. Laboratory exercises will enable students to understand the methods used by public health and occupational health laboratories to evaluate food, water, environmental and clinical specimens, and to interpret laboratory reports.

Integrated Disability Management

This course explores the key concepts of Integrated Disability Management. A multi-disciplinary approach to managing all forms of disability will be put forward based on sound best practice disability management techniques. Government legislation and regulations will be reviewed as well as the influence of non-governmental organizations. Multiple models of disability management will be presented. The assessment and evaluation of various return to work processes will be undertaken development and implementation. This course replaces OHS (COHS) 777.

Occupational Health

This course is designed to introduce the student to the scientific basis of occupational health, specifically the relevant principles and concepts of toxicology, biophysics and ergonomics. The nature of common occupational health hazards and their effect upon the human body are examined. Examples of common protective measures and controls are also reviewed. This course is not available to students in OC003, OC005 or OC006.

Ergonomics

Prerequisite(s): (ENH 220 and CPCS 106) or in OC006

This course is designed to provide a comprehensive overview of ergonomics emphasizing applications to product design and prevention of musculoskeletal injuries. The focus includes anthropometry, workplace design, and biomechanical and other human factors. It also covers physical and cognitive principles relevant to human performance and well-being that are reflected in workspace, interface and task design including controls and displays and manual materials handling. Ergonomic assessment methodologies will be used to assess design features and possible musculoskeletal problems.

Safety Evaluation Techniques

Prerequisite(s): CMTH 125 and CPCS 106

This course introduces principles of evaluation and surveys a range of methods used to evaluate safety, including the use of injury data, task analysis methods, goal structuring notation and safety cases, and introduces various qualitative and quantitative methods for evaluating safety including inspections, FMEA, fault tree analysis, HAZOP, human error identification methods, and related evaluation techniques.

Hazard Recognition and Control

This course introduces the techniques of hazard recognition and control and examines specific hazards—primarily of a physical and safety nature. Hazard recognition and hazard control are shown to be interrelated since inadequacies of control measures in themselves may constitute hazards. Not available to students in OC003 or OC006.

Safety Control Methods

Building upon earlier courses emphasizing hazard recognition and evaluation, this course examines the major categories of control methods, respiratory protective devices and measures essential to eliminate or reduce workplace hazards. The course emphasizes plant design, ventilation design, preventive maintenance, housekeeping, respiratory personal protective equipment and hygiene.

Systems Management I

Basic concepts of management, decision-making and engineering.
design that affect the OHS specialist. Introduces individual elements of the contemporary OHS management system. Each element is considered from an evidence-based perspective, as a background for implementing codified management systems standards and best practices guidelines. Students will set health and safety priorities, develop management system plans, and negotiate health and safety requirements in the manufacturing, distribution, use, and/or disposal phases of a product or process life-cycle.

★ Sectoral Applications I  COHS 723
This course is concerned with two of the primary sectors of the economy: industrial and construction. The safety hazards and protective measures associated with machinery, equipment and tools, confined spaces, hoists, trenching, industrial trucks and electrical sources are examined. Relevant legislation is presented.

56 Hours  Fee: $671
Fall 2010  Distance: Internet  Sep 11-Dec 11
★ Seminars  COHS 810
Prerequisite(s): OHS 311

This course will examine a selection of topical issues drawn from the fields of Occupational Health and Safety. Each topic will be presented by a person or persons actively involved in the subject, and the discussions that follow will utilize small or large group as appropriate.

42 Hours  Fee: $514
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

★ Systems Management II  COHS 818
Prerequisite(s): COHS 718

This course continues the theme of OHS 718, offering exposure to further programs and components of a mature, comprehensive OHS system in the workplace. Programs covered include those concerning: health and safety management systems, workers’ compensation, re-employment of injured workers, workplace violence, vehicles/transportation, off-the-job health and safety, “wellness,” substance abuse, labour relations, and regulatory compliance.

42 Hours  Fee: $513
Spring/Summer 2011  Distance: Internet  May 7-Aug 6

★ Sectoral Applications II  COHS 823
Prerequisite(s): COHS 723

This course continues the survey undertaken in OHS 723 Sectoral Applications I. Following an analysis of the particular hazards and control measures found in the forestry, mining and transportation industries, the course focuses on narrower sectors of the economy such as health care facilities, retail outlets, offices and utilities.

56 Hours  Fee: $671
Winter 2011  Distance: Internet  Jan 15-Apr 16

★ Fire Safety Management  COHS 833
This course begins with an overview of fire chemistry followed by an analysis of fire prevention and fire protection methodologies. Hazard recognition and evaluation techniques are presented. Important aspects of Fire, Building, and Electrical Codes are reviewed. Emphasis is placed on emergency response planning and a review of the application of codes and regulations to specific fire events.

42 Hours  Fee: $510
Spring/Summer 2011  Distance: Internet  May 7-Aug 6

★ Measurement and Analysis  CVOH 217
This course is designed to introduce the terminology, concepts, equipment, and techniques of occupational health and safety measurement and analysis. Topics covered include occupational hygiene, air sampling, data evaluation, biological sampling, and the assessment of heat stress, noise, vibration, radiation, illumination, and ventilation systems. ★ Topics in Occupational Health and Safety  CVOH 221
This course is an advanced seminar course that explores different means of inquiry into occupational health and safety. The course gives students an opportunity to learn the skills required to source out, research, examine, and synthesize topics in OHS in some depth. In the workplace, OHS professionals need to investigate issues they may not have expertise in. The students obtain an in-depth exposure to topics by researching and analyzing information, figuring out the implications for the workplace, summarizing the issues, and offering recommendations.

Philosophy and Music

In Music, we offer a range of courses in the traditions, development, variety, and cultural implications of various kinds of music.

In Philosophy, we cover both the ‘Big Questions,’ such as “What can we know?” or “How should we live?” or “Does God exist?,” as well as subject-oriented areas, such as philosophy of religion or ethics and health care. Sometimes, we deal with questions that have been discussed for thousands of years. Each generation has to answer them again, either expressly or by the implications of the choices they make and the beliefs they adopt. At other times, we deal with questions arising from the social arrangements and technologies we face right now - situations which may never have existed before. What unites these inquiries is the ‘philosophical turn,’ we learn how to uncover, evaluate, and use the most basic principles appropriate to the questions we tackle.

Issues in the Philosophy of Punishment

The criminal justice system operates on the basis of two sets of ethical objectives: the maintenance of public order and safety on the one hand, and the requirement that the guilty and only the guilty should be punished on the other. This course examines the way in which these aims can conflict both practically and philosophically, and points to some of the ethical dilemmas that can arise for criminal justice practitioners as a result.

ANCIENT AND MODERN ETHICS
CPHL 503
This course explores seminal works in Western ethics. It analyzes different responses to such questions as: What kind of life is ultimately worth living? What makes a person good? What makes an action right? Are there moral demands that bind everyone? If so, can we know what they are? Does morality have its foundations in religion? Reason? Emotion? Social practices? Contributions from such thinkers as Aristotle, Aquinas, Hume, Kant, and Mill will be studied. (UL)

Philosophy of Art

CPHL 504
The objective of this course is to provide students with an overview of a number of different theories concerning the nature of art. It will address such matters as the relationship between art and truth, the appropriate criteria of art criticism, the distinction between art and non-art, and the nature of aesthetic values. (UL)

Ethics and Disability

CPHL 507
The life circumstances of disabled people are shaped by powerful ideological forces rooted in moral and political philosophy. This course introduces important intellectual traditions underpinning the human quest for justice. From this base, students ‘test out’ various ethical approaches, grappling with fundamental questions: How shall we be guided in approaching new reproductive technology, end-of-life decisions and asymmetrical relations of care? Are there limits to individual autonomy? How shall we distribute health care and social resources?

Fall 2010

Knowledge, Truth, and Belief
CPHL 550
Do we know anything? If so, what do we know, and how do we know it? What is the difference between knowledge and mere belief or opinion? How can we tell if our beliefs are justified? What makes some beliefs true, and others false? Epistemology - the study of knowledge - is the branch of philosophy concerned with such questions. This course explores these issues by examining some important contributions to the field, both historical and contemporary. (UL)

Spring/Summer 2011

Metaphysics
CPHL 551
This course is an introduction to philosophical accounts of the fundamental structure and organization of reality. Questions to be considered may include: Why does the universe exist? What are space and time? Is the past as real as the present? Are future events fated to happen? How is change possible? Are there other universes besides the one we live in? Criticisms of philosophical attempts to answer these questions will also be discussed. (UL)

★ Modern and Contemporary Ethics  CPHL 603
This course explores modern and recent answers to ethical questions such as: What makes an action right? What makes a person good? Are there moral demands that bind everyone? If so, can we know what they are? Does morality have its foundations in reason? Emotion? Social practices? Contributions from such thinkers as Hegel and Bradley, Moore, Ross, Foot, Williams, Gilligan, and MacIntyre will be studied. (UL)

★ Existentialism  CPHL 605
For existentialists, freedom is not a given, but something to achieve. Reading authors like Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Sartre, Beauvoir and Heidegger, we’ll ask what aspects of the human condition tend to thwart true freedom: Self-deception? Social norms or religious codes? Anxiety in confronting death? Longing for absolute justification for life’s meaning? Alienation arising from an overestimation of reason or technology? We’ll also consider what is required for authenticity, responsibility, freedom, and, possibly, the meaning of faith. (UL)

★ Philosophy of Love and Sex  CPHL 606
This course examines historical and contemporary philosophical perspectives on love and sex. Questions considered may include: What is romantic love? What are the relations between love, monogamy and marriage? Is adultery always morally wrong? What are the relations between love/sex and personal identity, gender and biology? What are sexual perversions? What is the moral status of prostitution and the commodification of sex? How can we know what they are? Does morality have its foundations in reason, emotion, social practices? Contributions from such thinkers as Hegel and Bradley, Moore, Ross, Foot, Williams, Gilligan, and MacIntyre will be studied. ★ Philosophy of Law  CPHL 612
What is law? What makes something a legal norm? Should citizens always obey the law? What is the relationship between law and morality? This course will explore competing theories of law, such as natural law and positivism, and touch on crucial debates over civil disobedience, purposes of punishment, and interpretation of legal texts. It will deal with contemporary controversies over the legal regulation of human behaviour, for instance in matters of sexual morality. (UL)

★ Beyond the Western Academic Tradition  CPHL 621
This course is an introduction to some major world religions and philosophies, systems which continue to inform the actions of cultures outside mainstream Euro-American tradition. Theoretical concerns can include such subjects as cultural relativism, differing cultural views on the nature of decisions and their justification, and the difficulties of adequately describing what is going on in a different cultural setting. More practical concerns can include such subjects as the problems of exporting political and economic systems across cultural boundaries, or of getting notions such as those of individual rights to make sense in a radically different conceptual milieu.

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010-2011.

★ Religion, Science and Philosophy  CPHL 709
The physical sciences have contributed to philosophical debates regarding the apparent conflict between religious and scientific outlooks. In particular, religion and science seem to suggest different accounts of human nature, the universe, and our place in it. This course is concerned with issues such as: the basis for religious and scientific claims, nature and intelligent design, causality and free-will, and the emergence of mind. (UL)

Do technical developments alter the definition of film? Is there a language of film? What can film teach us about the nature of perception? Does film contain an inherent gender bias? Has film created a captive audience, or is it the truly democratic art form? (UL)

★ Intellectual Property and Technology  CPHL 921
This course examines the multifaceted aspects of developments in intellectual property policy. Students will explore the diverse ethical norms, social practices, and legal doctrines which are used to both justify and to critique existing policies. The course will introduce students to the basic types of intellectual property rights - copyright, patents, trademarks, and trade secrets. It will survey various ethical theories or perspectives which are brought to bear on the topic.

Photography

Techniques of Photography I

For photographers who want to improve their photographic skills, and for beginners, this course offers an intensive investigation of the basics of black and white photography. Substantial time is given to learning the basic technical aspects of photography: precise exposure, processing of film, darkroom procedures, and printing skills receive particular emphasis. As well, the major approaches to black and white photography are explored through lecture and assignment projects. CDFP 320 combined with CDFP 321 is equivalent to MPS 16A/B.

Digital Capture II (CDFP 384)

This course is the continuation of CDFP 383 and aims to further the visual and technical skills developed in Digital Capture I. Students will be introduced to more advanced studio skills (basic studio lighting for product, portrait, and copy work will be covered). Further computer information with Photoshop and quality control in colour printing will form an important component of the course. The major approaches to colour and black and white photography are explored through lectures and assigned projects. Students must own a Digital SLR with manual capabilities and a computer suitable for digital imaging. Photoshop or a similar photo editing program is recommended. (CDFP 383 combined with CDFP 384 is equivalent to MPS 27A/B.)

Note: Instructor: Rob Davidson (Tuesdays)/Rob Allen (Saturdays). To find out more about your instructor, see the Photography instructor biographies.

Commercial Product Photography I (CDFP 389)

Prerequisite(s): (CDFP 320 and CDFP 321) or (CDFP 383 and CDFP 384)

This course offers an intensive investigation into all aspects of product photography. The course consists of a series of lectures and critiques based on the work generated by the students, in addition to extensive studio sessions learning the basic techniques of product photography. Particular attention is paid to controlled lighting, precise exposure, and the techniques of electronic flash as they apply to product photography. Emphasis is placed on learning to balance compositional elements within the frame to produce an articulate product photograph. Other topics include filters, special effects, and the business of commercial photography. The successful completion of this course combined with any three of CDFP 323, CDFP 325, CDFP 366, CDFP 390, or CDFP 392, is a credit for MPS 22A/B. Note: Students must own or have access to a digital single lens reflex camera with at least 10 megapixels and lenses ranging from 50mm to 150mm. Students should also own or have access to a digital flash meter.

- 18:30-21:30 Sep 14-Dec 14
- 9:00-17:00 Sep 18-Dec 11

Digital Tools I (CDFP 385)

This course introduces students to the wide range of software tools available for image enhancement and manipulation. Students will tone/colour correct, retouch, and manipulate their own photographs. Basic image assemblies will be produced from multiple photographs, and images will be combined with text and other graphic elements. CDFP 385 combined with CDFP 386 is equivalent to MPS 17A/B.

Note: Instructor: Sean Gallagher. To find out more about your instructor, see the Photography instructor biographies.

Fall 2010
- 18:30-21:30 Sep 14-Dec 14
- 9:00-17:00 Sep 18-Dec 11

Digital Tools II (CDFP 386)

Prerequisite(s): CDFP 385 or CDFP 344

This course extends the work begun in CDFP 385. Students will produce photographs specifically for assignments. Projects will include digital enhancement of commercial and other styles of photography, the application of digital filters for illustrative purposes, the incorporation of type and other graphic elements in page design, and an introduction to correct perspective and lighting techniques for image assembly. Problems of correct colour scanning and reproduction will be addressed in detail. CDFP 385 combined with CDFP 386 is equivalent to MPS 17A/B.

Note: To find out more about your instructor, see the Photography instructor biographies.

Fall 2010
- 18:30-21:30 Sep 14-Dec 14
- 9:00-17:00 Sep 18-Dec 11

History of Photography I (CDFP 391)

Students will study the evolution of photography, from the early experiments with light sensitivity of silver salts to the establishment of portable photographic technologies. A historical overview of the medium’s development from both technical and stylistic viewpoints will be examined. The course traces the development and positioning of the photographic medium within the context of modernist expression, from early attempts to contextualize photography as art, to the development of small format, handheld cameras. Cultural writings about photography will also be investigated, in relation to broader historical, theoretical, and political considerations. (CDFP 391 combined with CDFP 396 is equivalent to MPS 21A/B.)

Note: Instructor: Iain Cameron. To find out more about your instructor, see the Photography instructor biographies.

Materials

Supplies to be purchased by the student: Cost minimum $100. Students should have access to a camera.
Prerequisite(s): CDFP 391, (CDFP 320 and CDFP 321) or (CDFP 383 and CDFP 384)

This workshop course is designed to introduce students to ideas and methods of producing documentary and portfolio. The course includes instruction in practical techniques (camera use, effective metering, flash, etc.), as well as an exploration of the history and vocabulary of documentary photography. The goal is the production of a documentary portfolio (prints, slide show, PowerPoint presentations). The successful completion of this course combined with any of the three CDFP 323, CDFP 325, CDFP 366, CDFP 389, or CDFP 390 is equivalent to MPS 22A/B. Supplies to be purchased by the student: Suitable SLR camera (35mm film or digital) or access to one and printing supplies.

Note: Instructor: Ruth Kaplan. To find out more about your instructor, see the Photography instructor biographies.

42 Hours Fee: $581

Approaches to Documentary Photography

CDFP 392

History of Photography II

CDFP 398

This course continues the investigation started in CDFP 391 and examines the development of photographic practice throughout the course of the twentieth century. Different genres of photography will be explored, from approaches to documentary and landscape photography, to the development of conceptual and theoretical ideas at play in contemporary photographic expression. Discussion of the major figures and influences in photography will be supplemented by an examination of the development of traditional photographic processes and digital technology. (CDFP 391 combined with CDFP 398 is equivalent to MPS 21A/B.)

Note: To find out more about your instructor, see the Photography instructor biographies.

42 Hours Fee: $510

Creative Wedding Photography

CDFP 403

This course introduces essential photographic and business skills required by a wedding photographer. Through lectures, practice shoots, and assignments, students will learn how to enter the freelance photography field, choose the right equipment, deal with clients, be prepared to handle various lighting situations, and develop a wedding portfolio.

Note: Instructor: Margaret Diolateli. To find out more about your instructor, see the Photography instructor biographies.

42 Hours Fee: $629

Photography Assignments

CDFP 404

The successful assignment requires research, execution, the appropriate lenses and accessories, objective editing, and a compelling choice of media output. Today's sophisticated viewers expectations are higher than ever before. Images must be more communicative, articulate, and artistic in both content and presentation. This results-oriented course will concentrate on preparing, executing, and presenting the successful photo essay, utilizing contemporary output and display formats.

Note: Instructor: Larry Frank. To find out more about your instructor, see the Photography instructor biographies.

Architectural Photography

CDFP 383 and CDFP 384

This course will teach both the history and development and practice of architectural photography. The emphasis will be on practical method and skill development through creation and technique.

Note: Instructor: Andrej Kopac. To find out more about your instructor, see the Photography instructor biographies.

42 Hours Fee: $629

Photography Workshop in France

CDFP 559

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

In the spring, Ryerson University's G. Raymond Chang School of Continuing Education will offer a full-credit photography course in Paris, France, designed in cooperation with photography curators and directors of photographic institutions in that city. Combining practical, historical, and theoretical components, this unique program will take full advantage of the tremendous range of cultural resources available in Paris. The two weeks of the course will include lectures and organized visits to the city's great museums, photography collections, and archives not available to the general public. These activities will be combined with supplementary lectures and readings, as well as independent study. Students will be responsible for production of a written journal which documents work seen and lectures given.

Equivalent to NPF 559 or PP8 205.

Note: Faculty: Marta Braun, MA, teaches art history, photo history, and film theory in the School of Image Arts and the Ryerson/Eastman House MA Program. She is the author of Picturing Time: The Work of Etienne-Jules Marey, published by the University of Chicago Press. She has lived and worked in France and is thoroughly familiar with French language and culture. Her long-standing association with French artists and curators will provide students with a unique behind-the-scenes experience.

Photography Workshops

Using Your Digital Camera
CDFP 908
This workshop is designed to help you learn how to use your digital camera and how to improve your photography skills. Through a combination of hands-on demonstrations, lectures, and weekly assignments, you will learn how to get the most from your digital camera. Workshop topics include a review of basic camera operation and photographic techniques; a comprehensive study of the features and settings of digital cameras; how to manage image files and memory cards; basic editing of photographs using Adobe Photoshop; and how to share and print great looking digital photographs. You will also participate in group discussions and receive one-on-one feedback on your photographs to improve your skills as an image maker. A digital SLR camera, or compact camera with manual controls, is recommended. If you don’t already have a digital camera to use during the workshop, a “camera selection” discussion during the first class can help you decide what to purchase.

Portfolio Tools
CDFP 950
This workshop is for the advanced student stepping into the world of professional photography. It concentrates on preparing their portfolios and tools needed to successfully enter the world of photography in this new “digital age” with its advantages and headaches. A few of the topics to be covered will be promotion, business practices, art directors and talent associated with providing the outcome etc., agencies, and much more.

Sports Photography
CDFP 955
This workshop is geared to amateur photographers/sports parents who want to improve their abilities to photograph their child’s amateur sports. There will be a review of basic photography fundamentals: aperture, shutter speed, and ISO. The workshop will provide understanding of the key principles of sports photography, namely positioning and timing, and will provide students with necessary skills to photograph both indoor and outdoor activities.

Physical Activity

These courses will impart the critical physical activity knowledge and hands-on skills required to promote, assess, and develop physical activity approaches for individuals, families, and communities. For more information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ce/PracticeinMotion.

Physical Activity

Health and Physical Activity
CFNA 100
This course will discuss the determinants of health and physical activity, focusing on the specific physical activity-health connection. The course will examine the epidemiologic trends of physical activity and fitness, with special emphasis on the active living movement, health risk analysis and evaluation in North American populations.
Note: This course is restricted to students currently enrolled in a Food and Nutrition degree or equivalent or who have graduated from a Food and Nutrition program or equivalent. Permission may be granted with specific academic/professional experience by contacting the academic coordinator at dcandiot@ryerson.ca prior to enrolling in this course.

Thursday 18:00-21:00 Sep 16-Dec 16

Lifestyle and Fitness Assessment
CFNA 201
Prerequisite(s): CFNA 100 and CPLN 303
This course will discuss theoretical and practical health-related fitness evaluation. Methods of physical activity participation and lifestyle habit evaluation will be reviewed. The topic of body composition will be emphasized, describing assessment by a variety of methods and discussing the contexts of the different measurements. Musculoskeletal fitness assessment will be discussed and practiced.
Note: This course is restricted to students currently enrolled in a Food and Nutrition degree or equivalent or who have graduated from a Food and Nutrition program or equivalent. Permission may be granted with specific academic/professional experience by contacting the academic coordinator at dcandiot@ryerson.ca prior to enrolling in this course.

Physical Activity and the Environment
CFNA 202
Prerequisite(s): CFNA 100
The emerging research regarding the built environment’s impact on health will be critically examined within a small group format. Specifically urban ecology and design, and adaptive planning and policy will be explored as it related to physical engagement and the current body weight discourse. Both social and environmental circumstances will inform the framework of this course.
Note: This course is restricted to students currently enrolled in a Food and Nutrition degree or equivalent or who have graduated from a Food and Nutrition program or equivalent. Nutrition and Physical Activity
CFNA 300

The course will discuss the special nutritional needs and practices of active individuals. The course will focus on various levels of activity, discussing the metabolic needs and adaptations to the different levels of stress and types of activity. A variety of sports will be examined through the perspective of nutritional requirements and adjustments. It is recommended that students complete FNN 201 and PLN 203 prior to enrolling in this course.

Exercise Science and Physiology
CPLN 303

Prerequisite(s): PLN 203

The course will discuss the various mechanisms and principles of the body's acute responses to different levels of physical activity. The course will focus on the essentials of movement and the functionality of the musculoskeletal system, on the impact of exercise on basic energy systems, and on the cardiorespiratory function and performance.

Note: This course is restricted to students currently enrolled in a Food and Nutrition degree or equivalent or who have graduated from a Food and Nutrition program or equivalent. Permission may be granted with specific academic/professional experience by contacting the academic coordinator at dcandiot@ryerson.ca prior to enrolling in this course.

Physics

These introductory courses in physics have applications across a wide variety of professional fields. A basic understanding of the principles of physics is an important step in your understanding of science.

Physics

Physics I  CKPS 115

Meets the Grade 12 U Physics requirement for admission to a Ryerson program. Introductory physics. Kinematics in one and two dimensions, dynamics, gravitation. Work, power, and energy. Heat quantities. This course is laboratory and problems oriented. Equivalent to the first half of PCS 15A/B.

56 Hours  Fee: $661

Spring/Summer 2011

Monday & Wednesday  18:00-22:00  May 2-Jun 20

An Academic Bridging Course. Both CKPS 115 and CKPS 215 are required to meet the Grade 12 U Physics requirement for Ryerson admission purposes. Please note that Mature Student applicants will be considered on an individual basis and may be required to present only one of these courses to meet Mature Student Physics admission requirements. Please contact Undergraduate Admissions and Recruitment for details.

NEW!

* Physics I Laboratory

Corequisite(s):  CKPS 120

This course in an introductory laboratory course in physics, which complements Physics I (CKPS 120).

NEW!

* Physics for the Health Sciences

Corequisite(s):  CKPS 106

An introduction to the physical ideas related to the fields of environmental and occupational health; mechanics, work/energy, fluids, sound, thermodynamics, basic electricity, the electromagnetic spectrum and nuclear quantities.

56 Hours  Fee: $829

Spring/Summer 2011

Tuesday & Thursday  18:00-22:00  Jun 23-Aug 9

and Thursday (lab/tutorial)*  18:00-20:00  Jun 23-Aug 11

*Lab meets alternate weeks.

* Physics

Corequisite(s):  CPCS 120

Units and vectors. Motion: linear, projectile, circular and oscillatory motion. Newton’s laws: Force, mass and acceleration; work, energy and power; linear and angular momentum. Electrostatics: Electric force and field; potential and potential energy; capacitance. Electric current and DC circuits. Magnetic field and force: magnetic force on currents and charges; Hall effect; torque on current loops; Waves: classification of waves; energy transfer; light and electromagnetic waves; diffraction and interference. MAPLE used for simulation/visualization of physical phenomena and problem solving.

56 Hours  Fee: $683

Spring/Summer 2011

Tuesday  18:00-22:00  May 3-Jul 5

and Thursdays (lab)*  18:00-22:00  May 5-Jul 7

*Lab meets alternate weeks.

Physics I  CPCS 120

A calculus based course covering fundamental physics concepts: units, vectors, linear motion, circular motion, force and motion, work and energy, collisions, gravitation, electrostatics, capacitance, and simple DC circuits.

70 Hours  Fee: $833

Winter 2011

Tuesday  20:00-21:00  Jan 11-Apr 12

and Tuesday (tutorial)*  18:00-20:00  Jan 11-Apr 12

and Thursday  18:00-21:00  Jan 13-Apr 14

Physics: Waves and Fields  CPCS 125

Simple harmonic motion; motion of mechanical waves, wave speed, interference, standing waves and resonance; ray and wave models of light and its reflection, refraction and interference; gravitational fields and potential energy; electric fields and potential energy; electric potential; magnetic fields.

56 Hours  Fee: $683

Spring/Summer 2011

Monday & Wednesday  18:00-21:00  May 2-Jun 20

and Friday (lab/tutorial)  18:00-20:00  May 6-Jun 17

Physics II  CPCS 130

Prerequisite(s):  CPCS 120

Antirequisite(s):  SCI 104

A continuation of Physics I, calculus-based course. An introduction to oscillations, mechanical waves, magnetism, gravitation, electrostatics, optics and nuclear physics. The laboratory is an essential and autonomous part of the course.

84 Hours  Fee: $1066

Spring/Summer 2011

Tuesday  18:00-20:00  May 3-Aug 2

and Thursday  18:00-22:00  May 5-Aug 11

Introduction to Astronomy  CPCS 181

This course will examine astronomical ideas both in relation to their times and in the light of current scientific theory and technical data. Application of the scientific method will be emphasized in evaluating these data and theories. Method of collection and analysis of data will be presented to help the nontechnical student in asking fundamental questions about scientific theories. Topics covered include cosmology, origin of the stars and galaxies, evolution of stars, the solar system, exobiology, death of stars, stellar remnants and the age of the universe. (LL)

Politics and Public Administration

The Department of Politics and Public Administration offers a full-time undergraduate program in Politics and Governance and a part-time undergraduate program in Public Administration and Governance, the latter of which consists of a certificate, advanced certificate, and a degree. This program is specifically designed for people working in the public and para-public sectors, nongovernmental organizations and advocacy groups. These courses may also be of interest to those aspiring to careers in the broader public service, private-sector employees in regular contact with the government, and those interested in gaining knowledge about public administration and public policy in Canada.

Politics and Public Administration

Canadian Politics
CPOG 110
Antirequisite(s): POC 180

Against a backdrop of political culture and ideology, this course will examine citizen participation in Canadian democracy through parliamentary and extra-parliamentary mechanisms. In particular, the course introduces the central components of the contemporary Canadian political system most visible to citizens: political parties, elections, the media and polling, and pressure/interest groups. (Formerly POL 402) (Canadian)

Research and Statistics
CPOG 230

This is a one-semester course with a format of two one-hour lectures and a one-hour lab per week. No familiarity with the fundamental elements of research or statistics is assumed. The course gives politics students the practical methods needed to statistically describe and analyze phenomena and to present those results. Emphasis throughout the course is on practical uses and application of these techniques, rather than on their mathematical derivations. (Formerly PPA 524.)

CPOG 310

Prerequisite(s): CPOG 210 or CPOG 27B or CPOG 122 or POL 123 or CPOL 332

Provincial governments are where much of the action is in the Canadian political system. Many important issues confronting citizens are dealt with here, yet most Canadians know little about their provincial governments. This course examines the main elements of provincial governance, using the Province of Ontario as the basic unit of comparison. Looking at ideological, economic, social and political factors, the course follows a critical and explanatory approach to understanding and evaluating provincial governance. (Canadian)

Equity and Human Rights  CPOG 315
This course encourages students to think critically about what public policies might advance "human" rights. It examines the development of human rights thinking in Canada as reflected in the Charter of Rights and Freedoms, the Canada Human Rights Act, provincial codes, landmark Supreme Court rulings relating to Aboriginal peoples, disability, race, religion, gender and sexual orientation, and internationally, in United Nations conventions, covenants and declarations. Students are encouraged to situate an understanding of human rights issues within a broader social, political and economic framework. (Formerly PPA 521)

The Politics of Work and Labour  CPOG 319
This course examines how labour, employers and government interact to regulate how Canadians work. Students will acquire an enriched understanding of the employment environment in their career field. An historical context is first established to explain the evolution of work, unions and government labour policy in Canada. The course then examines the legislative framework before exploring such controversial employment issues as union organizing, public sector collective bargaining, strikes, minimum wage, overtime, and health and safety issues. E-Government and Restructuring  CPOG 413
As governments transform their delivery of services and interactions with society by making use of innovative information and communications technologies (ICTs), they must manage a host of unprecedented issues, reconfigure internal structures, and redefine relations with the public, elected officials and the global community. Drawing on Canadian, American, and European experiences, the course examines the adoption of e-government processes and structures and their multiple consequences for state and society, emphasizing three major topics: e-administration, e-service, and e-democracy.

Canadian-American Relations  CPOG 417
Prerequisite(s): CPOG 210 or CPOL 27B or CPOL 332
This course provides a comparative analysis of US and Canadian politics and of international relations between the two countries. To this end, it explores the comparative history and political cultures of the two countries; the institutions of their respective political systems; elections, political parties and voting; regionalism; federalism; public policies; and specific Canadian-American issues like NAFTA, softwood lumber, mad-cow disease, security and the war against terrorism, Arctic sovereignty, Iraq and Afghanistan and other topics. Human Rights and Global Politics  CPOG 424
Prerequisite(s): POG 225 or CPOL 208 or CPOL 540
Should universal human rights be considered a global norm? Or should concerns of national sovereignty and cultural pluralism take precedence? Discourses of human rights are powerful and ubiquitous and are used in many varied and complex ways in the contemporary world. This course will examine the historical emergence of human rights discourses in the West, their institutionalization, and their deployment in the contexts of the Cold War and the war on terror. A range of theories, critiques, and contemporary debates about human rights will be explored. (Global)

Politics, Media, and Technology  CPOG 444
Prerequisite(s): CPOL 540
This course examines the interplay of media, technology and politics. The mass media has affected politics and society from the earliest times, and has profoundly transformed how we communicate about, and perceive, political ideas. Possible issues to be discussed in this course include the relationship between print and the rise of modern democracy; the damaging impacts of television on contemporary politics, especially election campaigns; and the emerging political influences of the Internet. In addition, the course will analyze the structure of ownership of global media systems and its impact on international communications. (Comparative)

Public Sector Leadership

COPA 501

The course will offer an overview of literature in public sector leadership in a comparative context, focusing on the Canadian experience, however readings will also shed light on other Westminster systems as well as in republican regimes. The course will also include a speaking series of public sector leaders in Canada. Drawing on the vast network of faculty contacts, students will have an opportunity to meet and discuss leadership with individuals who have experienced it firsthand. The capstone assignment will focus on how leadership has been used or can be deployed in a chosen field of inquiry.

Intergovernmental Relations

COPA 650

By means of experts’ presentations and dynamic class discussion, this workshop focuses on situating within the context of Canadian democracy the mechanisms of federalism, including fiscal federalism, checks and balances, by answering the questions where does federalism happen and who are the players involved in intergovernmental relation. Participants will share their views on the main issues and debates including the division of powers; regional and party influences; the emerging mosaic of Aboriginal multilevel governance, the “taking stock” of federalism and the legitimacy, and effectiveness of intergovernmental relations in Canada.

Social Movements that Change the World

In December 1999, what has come to be known as the “anti-globalization movement” burst onto the world stage through its shut-down of the Seattle meetings of the World Trade Organization. This course will examine this movement, its historical roots, its manifestations North and South, and the ways in which it is continuous and discontinuous with the “new social movements” of the late 20th century. Students will be introduced to the major approaches and debates in the academic study of social movements. Emphasis will be placed on understanding social movements historically and in context, especially in view of developments in political economy, expansions/contractions in popular democracy, and the impact of information technologies. Canadian Public Administration I

This course looks at contemporary public administration in democratic society. It is examined in light of alternative methods of organization, including that of the private sector, as well as our fundamental requisites for democracy, such as the rule of law. It also examines the role of the machinery of government in maintaining the public system of administration as it undergoes contemporary attempts to restructure the role of the state under the ongoing demands of its leaders and citizenry.

Canadian Public Administration II

This course introduces the process of leading and managing the public sector in Canada with an emphasis on the problems of political and administrative accountability. Students are introduced to the structure and process of policy formulation, implementation and evaluation; as well as to topics in intergovernmental relations; and the impact of public-private partnerships. The prime foci are the budgetary process, issues in personnel management and the drive for economies and efficiencies; government regulation, and e-government.

Program Planning and Evaluation

This course examines the expanding use of “partnerships” between government and other agents, both public and private, in the delivery of “public goods”. Challenged by fiscal pressures and demands for more involvement in policy-making and delivery of services, governments have experimented with new mechanisms ranging from integrated procurement to networked regulation. This course will consider the ideological drivers, management practices and consequences of these new administrative arrangements on governance, public administration and democracy.

Issues in Public Administration
CPPA 604
Prerequisite(s): CPOG 413 and CPPA 525 and CPPA 601 and CPPA 624
Antirequisite(s): CPPA 704

In recent years, the public sector has undergone significant changes. Nothing less than a “reinventing” of how the administrative state functions, its role within society and the economy, and its size and scope is under way. Transformations within the public sector have been both broad and rapid. In this environment of fundamental restructuring, many new and pressing issues related to public administration continuously arise. This course is designed to be responsive to addressing key issues which emerge in the rapidly evolving public sector of today. Consequently, the issues covered by this course will change from year to year.

Public Policy
CPPA 623
Prerequisite(s): CPPA 422
Antirequisite(s): POG 314

This course offers both a thematic and a practical introduction to the Canadian public policy-making process, beginning with the context in which ideas, institutions and interests inform public policy. With the use of a variety of contemporary social, economic and environment policy cases, the course examines the process by which public policy is formulated, implemented and evaluated - including its success rate. Lastly, the changing nature of, and contemporary challenges to, policy making are explored.

Theories of Bureaucracy
CPPA 624
Prerequisite(s): CPPA 422

This course surveys different approaches to organization and bureaucracy in advanced industrial societies. The major focus is on the exercise of power and control in organizations and the implications of this for different organizational groups. The course also examines a number of areas about which traditional approaches have been relatively silent, especially those dealing with race, gender and class. Another major theme of the course involves analysis of the changing nature of work, focusing on how new information technologies have affected the distribution of power and control in the workplace.

NEW!

Organizational Strategy Through Projects  CKPP 140

Prerequisite(s):  CKPP 110 or CKPP 120

Ultimately, the success of any organization can be measured by its ability to achieve its strategic plan. Projects are the means through which organizations ‘get things done’, while portfolios are the link between projects and strategy. This course will review the basic elements of strategic planning, how they are developed and maintained, and how organizations can use programs and projects to deliver strategic objectives.

21 Hours  Fee: $500

NEW!

Financial Measurements for Success  CKPP 210

Prerequisite(s):  CKPP 110 and CKPP 120

Project success is typically measured as ‘on time’, ‘on budget’, and ‘on scope’. However, the success of programs and portfolios is measured in terms of contribution to the organization, i.e., the achievement of strategic objectives or the advancement of their organization’s strategic plan, including whether the program returned its investment, increased market share, improved customer satisfaction, or increased productivity. This course explores various metrics for calculating success, and how they can be used to effectively communicate the success of programs and portfolios to stakeholders.

21 Hours  Fee: $500

NEW!

Managing Programs and Projects Virtually  CKPP 220

Prerequisite(s):  CKPP 110 and CKPP 120

Virtual teams are now common, but present challenges to most organizations. Traditional models of team building offer only anachronistic means for dealing with the increased complexity of managing global teams. This course looks at tools and techniques that will assist in project governance, team building, task coordination, scheduling, cost management, and other project-related areas for virtual teams.

ACT II STUDIO: Lectures/Forums for Theatre Lovers

Reading Plays: Modern British Playwrights

CSAC 359

An ideal discussion seminar for theatre lovers and students of playwriting, directing, and acting. Contemporary British drama pushed the boundaries of the art to the breaking point. Its subject matter was shocking, its structural approach revolutionary, its sheer audacity and iconoclasm so upsetting that it often invoked legal retribution and long-lasting controversy. We will examine five of the greats: “The Homecoming” (Harold Pinter), “Saved” (Edward Bond), “Rosencrantz And Guildenstern Are Dead” (Tom Stoppard), “Top Girls” (Caryl Churchill) and “The Pillowman” (Martin McDonagh). We will ponder how their innovations proved both dangerous and vital. Please read “The Homecoming” before the first class.

Reading Plays: The Crazy Canucks I

CSAC 458

From amateurish beginnings, Canadian drama exploded in the late Sixties with new theatres and playwrights and has grown to take its place in world theatre. We’ll trace its growth by examining themes, perspectives, variety of styles from realist to absurdist, and the social and ethnic concerns that reflect our national identity. Please read the following plays before the first class: “The Ecstasy of Rita Joe” (George Riga), “Les Belles Soeurs” (Michel Tremblay), “Crackwalker” (Judith Thompson), “Balconville” (David Fennario), and “Zastrozzi!” (George F. Walker).

 Método Acting: From Stage to Screen
CSAC 509
Discover the American acting style that brought out new depths of psychological realism and produced the stage and screen talents of actors such as Marlon Brando, Julie Harris, James Dean, and Montgomery Clift. This course examines how Method Acting, from its stage origins with Stanislavski and the Moscow Art Theatre, transformed the style and subject of American movies. We’ll also learn to distinguish good from bad Method acting.

High Comedy and American Films
CSAC 510
High comedy, invented by late 17th Century Restoration playwrights, created subversively funny language to satirize class structure in American society. This course explores how adaptations of the high comedy playwrights Philip Barry (Holiday, The Philadelphia Story), Vicki Baum (Grand Hotel), George S. Kaufman and Edna Farber (Dinner at Eight, The Royal Family of Broadway), Claire Booth Luce (The Women), and John Guare (Six Degrees of Separation) brought a sophisticated form of comedy to international audiences.

❖ Acting: Dead Simple  CSAC 418
Prerequisite(s): CSAC 315, CSAC 316, or CSAC 415

We’re going to strip the acting process down to its barest essentials. We won’t worry about character work, preparation, textual analysis, or interpretation. We’re going to start from the idea that the character is you. Essentially, we will avoid ‘acting’. We’ll stay in the simple present and work with a pared down approach that you will find liberating and true. Class limit: 12 students.

Note: Instructor: Bill Ballantyne
12 Hours HST included Fee: $174

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

❖ Advanced Scene Study: Comedy  CSAC 515
Prerequisite(s): (CSAC 180 or CSAC 181) and (CSAC 315 or CSAC 415 or CSAC 416)

Good comedy requires a high degree of craftsmanship. It demands fine-tuned technique, playful inventiveness, shaping, character definition, and timing. You will be working on acquiring and honing these skills, both in and outside of class. Extra rehearsal with your scene partner(s) is a must. Scenes will be presented at a matinee. Class limit: 12 students.

ARCHIVE: Courses 2010-2011
Prerequisite(s): CSAC 156

Directing Seminar I: Directing as a Shared Vision CSAC 329

The great balancing act: How to read an actor’s instincts and help them to achieve their own objectives within the overall shape of the play and director’s vision. You’ll have a chance to discover this dynamic at work while you direct guest actors in one of two scenes.

Note: Instructor: Richard Beaune

- 3 Hours HST
- Fee: $85

Reading Plays: Classic American Drama CSAC 259

An ideal course for students of playwriting and directing as well as actors and theatre lovers who want to discover what makes a play tick. We will study five great American plays: ‘Long Day’s Journey Into Night’ (Eugene O’Neill), ‘Night of the Iguana’ (Tennessee Williams), ‘Death of a Salesman’ (Arthur Miller), ‘True West’ (Sam Shepard) and ‘Glengarry Glen Ross’ (David Mamet). We will examine each writer’s approach to character, plot, theme, and structure, and discuss the common motifs of family ties, individual freedom, and the American Way. We’ll look at how each play is a unique theatrical expression destined for posterity.

Note: Instructor: Bill Ballantyne

- 3 Hours HST
- Fee: $85

Playwriting Lab IV: Building Suspense CSAC 354

How do you grip an audience and hold them on the edge of their seats? We keep them in suspense. Learn about moving the action, things said and unsaid, pregnant pauses, secrets, mysteries, and pay-offs.

Note: Instructor: Bill Ballantyne

- 2 Hours HST
- Fee: $33

Playwriting Lab V: Generating Ideas CSAC 356

“Where do I get the idea?”, is the beginning playwright’s most commonly asked question. With a view to writing a play, we’ll dig for ideas in the themes and dreams of our imaginations and our attitudes, desires, fears, and experiences. We’ll look at possible characters and settings and different methods of expression. Through this process you’ll gain the confidence of knowing that the creative spark may come from the intermingling of many conscious and unconscious streams.

Note: Instructor: Bill Ballantyne

- 3 Hours HST
- Fee: $51

Reading Plays for Playwrights, Directors, and Theatre Lovers CSAC 258

Note: Instructor: Bill Ballantyne

- 12 Hours HST
- Fee: $174

Playwriting Lab I: Creating Conflict CSAC 352

Develop skills in creating conflict with careful use of language, strong character motivation, a steady growth toward the climax, and step-by-step structuring.

Note: Instructor: Bill Ballantyne

- 2 Hours HST
- Fee: $33

Playwriting Lab II: Text/Subtext CSAC 353

We’ll experiment with one of the playwright’s most useful tools - subtext - to unlock its dramatic power.

Note: Instructor: Bill Ballantyne

- 2 Hours HST
- Fee: $33

Playwriting II CSAC 257

More in-depth work on the playwright’s craft: character, monologues, dialogue, and shaping your play. Class limit: 12 students.

Note: Instructor: Bill Ballantyne

- 12 Hours HST
- Fee: $160

Playwriting I CSAC 156

Write a short play. Using the imaginative tools from an actor’s toolbox, explore playwriting from a character point of view.

Compelling characters make compelling theatre - bring yours to life. We’ll tackle dramatic structure, learn what makes dialogue snap, define overall shape and express your playwright’s vision as we get inside what makes theatre tick. Class limit: 12 students.

Note: Instructor: Ray Storey

- 12 Hours HST
- Fee: $241

Playwriting Lab II: Blocking CSAC 427

By examining some approaches to staging, we’ll discuss the following: How do we block without blocking actors’ impulses? What makes a good stage picture? How can movement and placement of actors reinforce action, atmosphere, and characterization?

Note: Instructor: Richard Beaune

5 Hours HST included Fee: $85
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Directing Seminar III: Text Analysis

CSAC 429
Using ‘A Streetcar Named Desire,’ we will analyze its pristine structure, its inevitable movement, and how themes and conflicts are intertwined. We’ll discuss the fullness of characters and setting and debate how best to realize this play on the stage, how to bring out what’s there and leave out what isn’t. Also open to non-directing students.

Note: Instructor: Bill Ballantyne

3 Hours HST included Fee: $51
Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Writing Comedy for the Stage

Essential Movement for Actors
Prerequisite(s): CSAC 124

In this gentle but dynamic beginner’s class, you’ll experience whole body acting: how to be open and expressive, even if you are shaking in your boots. We will stretch, breathe, move, make sounds, and dance. Working with text we will take the first steps to releasing the physical/emotional blocks to self expression. Each person will get specific feedback on their challenges and strengths as well as personalized exercises.
Note: Instructor: Liz Rappeport

15 Hours HST included  Fee: $181

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Voice and Speech Works I
Prerequisite(s): CSAC 220

Students will continue the process of freeing and expanding their voices as actors, developing more vocal flexibility and strength. In the Speech component, we’ll explore the sounds and rhythms of the English language technically and creatively to connect with the vital energy and movement of sounds within a text.
Note: Instructors: Kennedy C. MacKinnon and Paul de Jong

8 Hours HST included  Fee: $246

Please wear clothes you can move in and bring a copy of memorized text.

Movement Lab I: Grounding and Taking Space
Prerequisite(s): CSAC 322

Develop physical presence on and off stage. We’ll do movement which will help you feel more connected to your intention and character and help you develop more ease and stability in movement and performance. Class limit: 12 students.
Note: Instructor: Liz Rappeport

4 Hours HST included  Fee: $48

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Movement Lab II: Fluidity and Expressiveness
Prerequisite(s): CSAC 323

Increase your comfort, depth, and range of expressiveness. We’ll work with simple and gentle movements which will engage your whole body to help you release energy blocks and feel more free to move.
Note: Instructor: Liz Rappeport

4 Hours HST included  Fee: $48

Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Voice Work Tutorial
Prerequisite(s): CSAC 411

Do you have a monologue or scene you’d like to work on with emphasis on breath and voice? Call the office to let us know and we will arrange a time to work together in a small class. Class limit: 8 students.
Note: Instructor: Kennedy C. MacKinnon

2 Hours HST included  Fee: $125

Please contact us before you enroll at 416.397.5000, ext. 6297. Not offered in fall/winter/spring 2010–2011.

Transformative Movement Intensive
Prerequisite(s): CSAC 424

This workshop will transform you by changing the way you think about your body, by uniting body and mind in movement and by opening you to the kind of presence that actors need to commit to an intention, take space, find ease, and feel energized. We’ll work with deep relaxation, alignment, self-discovery through movement, authentic movement, dance, sound, and Neutral Mask. The class will be held in an airy studio; location TBA.
Note: Instructors: Liz Rappeport and Vrenia Ivonoffski

Music of Women Through the Ages
CSPI 115

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

Women's music-making has always been a profound part of human life, from the singing of lullabies to the ritual keening for the dead. Yet in the privileged world of Western art music, women were long subjected to numerous forms of repression and prejudice. Drawing on decades of corrective scholarship, this course will introduce and celebrate 13 brilliant women of the "classical" music tradition: from 12th-century visionary Hildegard of Bingen to contemporary Toronto composer, Ann Southam.

For over 70 years, moviegoers have been drawn to the ambiguous and cynical world of film noir. In this lecture series, we will examine the reasons for the genre's longevity. Derived from hard-boiled crime fiction in the years following World War II, film noir has its roots in German expressionist films of the early 20th Century. We will delve into classic noirs and show how this cinematic tradition continues in contemporary works.

This course is loosely based on an anthology of movie reviews published by The National Society of Film Critics in 1990. It introduces some of the gems that Hollywood ignored and audiences forgot or may never have seen, e.g., Carroll Ballard’s stirring drama, Duma and Richard Rush's comedy, The Stunt Man. Besides exploring how this phenomenon emerged, we'll also examine how and why numerous films from a variety of genres ended up produced and abandoned.

One of the most misunderstood and least appreciated aspects of moviemaking is the film score. Even though music has been an integral part of movies since the silent era, many believe that the best film score is the kind that you don’t notice. This course addresses that perception by tracing the long and fascinating history of movie music, while also examining the works of many of the art form’s great and varied composers.

Forbidden Desires

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

Voyeurism has always been an integral part of the appeal of motion pictures. But what film directors Alfred Hitchcock and Brian De Palma did in their work was to make it an acceptable dramatic strategy. This workshop examines how both directors, with cunning intent, force us, the viewing audience, to face our hidden fascination with our own perverse fantasies, our own forbidden desires.

The Enigma of Robert Altman

Prerequisite(s): Department consent

Although film director Robert Altman worked in Hollywood for most of his career, he didn’t make typical Hollywood movies; even his non-Hollywood, low budget productions differed from conventional independent fare. Because his films transcended their genre, they rarely became hits. Despite this, Robert Altman was one of the most prolific and idiosyncratic of American directors.

CPSY 124

Prerequisite(s): CPSY 102 or CPSY 105 or PSY 11

This course examines the influence of social factors on the behaviour of the individual. Topics include affiliation, aggression, prejudice, social cognition, the development and measurement of attitudes, persuasion, socialization, conformity and group behaviour. These topics are explored from a North American and cross-cultural perspective.

42 Hours  Fee: $502

Introduction to Psychology II

CPSY 202

This course continues the introduction to psychology from PSY 102, with a focus on applying psychological principles in different contexts. The course surveys some core areas of psychology, including personality, development over the life span, behaviour in a social context, and psychological disorders.

42 Hours  Fee: $504

Psychopharmacology

CPSY 214

Prerequisite(s): PSY 111 or CPSY 105 or CPSY 102

This course examines a variety of issues surrounding the use, mechanisms, and actions of psychoactive or mind-altering drugs. The course focuses on two main contextual topic areas: drug addiction, and drug treatment of mental illness. Each of these areas is explored in depth, including the role of genes, biochemistry, cognition, and personality factors.

42 Hours  Fee: $490

Psychology of Addictions

CPSY 215

Prerequisite(s): PSY 111 or CPSY 105 or CPSY 102

This course introduces students to basic principles and issues in the area of addiction, the factors that influence its development, and the methods used to treat it. The similarities and differences between addictive disorders and other forms of psychopathology are discussed. The course studies both experimental and clinical issues.
This course discusses human information-processing abilities and limitations in critical-thinking contexts such as solving problems, making decisions, testing hypotheses, and understanding probabilities. Individual and social factors that affect the efficiency of these processes will be examined, and the consequences of poor thinking processes for the individual and for society will be considered. Restriction: Criminal Justice, Politics and Governance, Psychology, Sociology, Undeclared Arts. (LL)

Psychology's empirical perspective sometimes complements the legal system's rule-based nature, and sometimes the two disciplines are at odds. This course focuses on the application of psychological theory, methods, and data to various procedures and issues in the legal system, including eyewitness evidence, the detection of deception, jury selection and jury decision-making, and sentencing.

This course introduces students to the methods, theories, findings and practical applications of research in the area of child development. The focus is on describing the significant changes in physical, cognitive, social and emotional development and on explaining why these changes occur. This course also discusses the immediate contextual influences of families, peer groups, and schools as well as on the broader contextual influences of subculture, culture, and historical era.

This course involves an examination and critique of psychological theory, methods, and data to various procedures and issues in the legal system, including eyewitness evidence, the detection of deception, jury selection and jury decision-making, and sentencing.

Clinical psychology concerns the assessment, diagnosis, and treatment of individuals who experience social, emotional, behavioural, and mental health problems. Topics covered include the history of clinical psychology, professional and ethical issues, assessment and diagnosis of mental health problems, modalities of treatment (e.g., individual, group, family), therapeutic orientations and their methods and techniques, and current issues. This course combines a study of theory, research, and practice. (Formerly the second half of PSY 040.)
Environmental Psychology

Prerequisite(s): CPSY 102 or CPSY 105
Antirequisite(s): CPSY 217

Environmental psychology examines the interaction between people and their physical, natural, and human environments both large scale such as cities, and small scale such as residences. The course studies how we perceive and think about our environments, how our thoughts, emotions, and actions are influenced by our environments, and how we in turn affect the environments we inhabit and use.

Public Relations

This program provides a curriculum that is relevant to the current and emerging practice of public relations in order to equip students with the skills necessary to perform.

Planning Programming and Budgeting

Prerequisite(s): CDPR 201

This course explores the relationship of public relations management to organizational structure and communication functions. Topics include objectives, planning, approvals, staffing, budgeting, and administration of public relations programs.

Research and Program Evaluation

Prerequisite(s): CDPR 201 and CDPR 104

This is a self-directed course which provides an opportunity for learners to apply the techniques of research and evaluation to investigate public relations issues. Working in small groups, students will conduct a quantitative or qualitative (or both) public relations research project from problem statement to finished report.

Media Relations

Prerequisite(s): CDPR 201

This course will concentrate on providing the public relations student with the tools to effectively deal with the public media, news gathering services, and news personnel. A discussion of the more important types of news media and their needs and characteristics, together with practice in specific activities such as press conferences, preparation of news kits, and news room operation will provide the basis for a comprehensive media relations policy. In addition, this course will provide an overview of other mass communications activities such as special events, conferences, and meetings.
This course will provide learners with an opportunity to assess the theory and skills required by an actual public relations challenge. Students who work in public relations are expected to submit a program or project report including an assessment of their work based on best practices. Students who, because of employment or other sufficient reasons, are unable to submit a program or project report may receive the required credit by doing a major paper.

Note: All program courses must be completed before or concurrently with this course.

Writing for Public Relations
CDPR 111

Prerequisite(s): CDPR 201

Learners will study the strategy and the basic concepts of effective public relations writing, including the use of a variety of communications tools used in public relations programs. The emphasis will be on the preparation of materials such as media releases, newsletters, brochures, letters, memos, reports, proposals, backgraders, and public service announcements within the context of program planning and audience targeting.

Advanced Publishing Workshops

NEW!

Editing Translations CDPB 502
For editors, the challenges and joys of editing text that has been translated into English include understanding and incorporating the “cultural translation” required, understanding of the translator’s craft, and liaising between publisher, author, translator, and, at times, the designer. The workshop covers forging productive communication with translators, avoiding pitfalls when editing translation from or into a familiar language, editing translations from an unfamiliar source language, and accommodating design-specific requirements for bilingual editions.

Spring/Summer 2011 Saturday 10:00-17:00 Apr 16

NEW!

Photo or image research often needs the strategy of sleuthing, the knowledge of a lawyer, the insight of an editor, and the eye of an artist. It is a critical activity in much of publishing. This workshop explores the range of available sources and services; relevant copyright and other legal considerations; editorial factors that affect photo selection, such as the need for diversity and pedagogical focus; and characteristics that typically make an image striking.

Note: Industry experience or a completed Certificate in Publishing or the equivalent is recommended.

Graphica: Editorial and Design CDPB 505
This workshop is for publishing professionals who are new to the graphica medium, its storytelling conventions, and the unique challenges it poses. Topics include common problems at each stage of development, from concept to final artwork; acquisitions; matching the right artist to the writer; defining roles and responsibilities within the editing process; dynamics of collaboration among author, artist, editor, and designer; and a brief overview of the types of graphica and graphica publishing in Canada.

Note: Enrollment for this course is available by fax. Please print and fill out a Mail-In Enrollment Form and fax the form, including your credit card number and expiry date, to: Anne Grady, The G. Raymond Chang School of Continuing Education, Ryerson University, Fax Number: 416-979-5277.

Publicity for Book Publishers

Generating publicity for a book and author plays a key role in a publisher’s overall marketing plan. The quality of publicity can determine whether a book succeeds or not. In today’s publishing world, creative publicity counts; the competition for people’s attention is fierce. This course looks at the many types of book publicity practised today. These include author media appearances, special events, tours, and a growing number of online initiatives. We will discuss campaigns, trade shows, and the need to position clearly the book and author. Students will look at case studies, undertake research, and create media kit materials. The course will also introduce the related field of public relations, which includes developing a publisher profile, improving brand awareness, involvement in the community, and occasionally a little crisis control.

Literary Rights Management
CDPB 201
Prerequisite(s): CDPB 100 or CDPB 200

This course provides an in-depth look at the exploitation of book subsidiary copyrights from the perspective of a rights manager or literary agent. Topics include serial and book club, foreign and translation, and film, television and ebook rights; working with scouts and co-agents; strategies used in relationship building, such as attending book fairs; and techniques used in the selling and negotiation of these copyrights. Students will gain a better understanding of copyright issues today.
Note: Students with equivalent experience may be admitted by permission of the coordinators.

Scholarly and Reference Publishing
CDPB 304

This course provides a detailed examination of the publishing process for scholarly and reference books. Discussion focuses on the stages of publishing, including acquisition (proposal evaluation and developmental editing), editing (substantive and copy editing), production, and marketing of scholarly books. The central concerns of the editorial and marketing departments are explored at each stage, with attention to the ways in which the scholarly publishing industry differs from the trade and educational publishing industries. Other topics covered include the peer review process; budgeting for and funding of scholarly books; scholarly journals; CD-ROMs and reference books; and electronic publishing. Homework and assignments involve specific editorial skills related to scholarly and reference publishing (treatment of illustrations, tables and figures, notes, bibliographies, indexes).
Note: Students with experience in editing may be admitted by permission of the coordinators.

Grammar Essentials for Writers and Editors CDPB 400

This course demystifies a subject that many people today find daunting. It is aimed at native English speakers who feel they write competently but who wish to improve their understanding of grammar and syntax for their own writing or in preparation to study editing. It will focus on building a useful vocabulary of language terms; identifying types of words (parts of speech) and their function in a sentence; studying groups of words (phrases and clauses) and how they interrelate; reviewing fundamental grammar rules and punctuation as it relates to grammar; and understanding the evolving nature of ‘correct’ English. If English is your first language and you would like to feel more confident in your writing skills, this course will interest you.

Note: Students with experience in business or publishing may be admitted by permission of the coordinators.

Sustainability

Fundamentals in Sustainability I  CKSS 100
Prerequisite(s): Department consent
This course provides conceptual and theoretical frameworks for understanding how society addresses sustainability issues. It facilitates the development of critical thinking skills, based on an integrated, multi-faceted, and interdisciplinary approach to historical, philosophical/ethical, economic, political, social, and legal aspects of societal decision-making concerning sustainability issues. Its purpose is to provide an integrated and holistic understanding of the socio-economic context underlying local and global sustainability decision-making in the public, private, and voluntary (third) sectors.

Fundamentals in Sustainability II  CKSS 101
Prerequisite(s): CKSS 100
This course will identify and analyze key sustainability problems that society faces today and in future. The course will explore how decisions made by society and its constituent parts have led to unsustainable activities. These decisions will be explored in depth to provide students with an understanding of political, social, cultural, and environmental elements. The course will explore consequences of these decisions by considering a broad range of sustainability problems that have resulted.

Capstone Experiential Learning Course  CKSS 102
Prerequisite(s): Department consent
As the final course in the certificate, students will be required to undertake a project to integrate and apply competencies acquired... through coursework, experiential learning, professional experience, and personal interest to a selected sustainability issue. The project will allow students to demonstrate a broad mastery of learning across the curriculum and the ability to propose specific strategies and solutions that incorporate best practices and meet regulatory requirements.

Introduction to Voice and Speech
CDTH 385
This course is an introduction to voice and speech which will facilitate gaining awareness of breath, alignment, and articulation. This awareness will bring clarity and effectiveness to what you have to say, and the ideas you need to get across without vocal strain or nervousness. If you are training to be in a profession where you will be required to make presentations or speak to groups of people, whether it is for business presentation, teaching, or as an actor, the basics of voice production remain the same. This course will help identify your vocal needs and how to work towards more effective speaking.
Note: Comfortable clothing (suitable for movement) should be worn to class.
Instructor: Irene Pauzer holds an MFA from York University with specialties in teaching voice, speech, and movement as well as over 25 years of experience in theatre, film, and television as an actor and dancer. Teaching/coaching credits include Ryerson Theatre School, the Stratford Festival, the Voice Intensive, West Virginia University, York University, Randolph School of Performing Arts, and Equity Showcase.

Urban and Regional Planning

Courses in Urban Planning are designed to prepare students with substantive knowledge about cities and regions, and with thinking and problem-solving skills for those who contribute as leaders in the community and the profession of urban and regional planning.

Planning

Selected Topics in Planning CPLE 845
Prerequisite(s): PLG 420 or in UP002 or UP003
This one semester course will address current topic relevant to the practice and profession of planning.
42 Hours Fee: $510
Spring/Summer 2011
Monday–Friday 8:30-18:00 May 2-May 6

Conflict Resolution and Dispute Negotiation CPLE 895
Prerequisite(s): PLG 420 or in UP002 or UP003
Antirequisite(s): CINT 905
Conventional ways of handling public disputes no longer seem to be working. Planners who are involved in building new facilities, dealing with community opposition, developing environmental standards, or allocating limited resources to meet emerging social standards, face stiff opposition no matter where they turn. The result is costly, time-consuming, and erodes public confidence in our basic institutions. This course will use case studies, projects, and participatory techniques to show how public dispute management can lead to consensus building strategies that not only save time and money, but produce broadly acceptable agreements.
42 Hours Fee: $506
Spring/Summer 2011
Monday–Friday 8:30-18:00 May 16-May 20

Foundations of Planning CVUP 100
Prerequisite(s): Department consent
This course will address the following areas: planning concepts; planning techniques; planning theory; policy in the planning realm; and the institutional context of planning. While the course will address the basis of physical design and related planning concepts and techniques, it will also focus on contextual factors impacting on planning practice and the theoretical underpinnings of planning.

Autobiographical Writing

True to Life: Writing Your Own Story

Adventures, turbulence, joy; we all contain a universe of stories. Is it time for you to get started, or restarted, in putting your personal narratives on paper? This relaxed, supportive workshop will help you find the tales you want to tell and the craft and technique to make them compelling to read, whether as memoir, personal essay, or a beginning exploration. Each week students are given a choice of topics and asked to bring in a short piece of new writing. The instructor provides encouragement, structure, and practical feedback to help students discover and hone their unique voices. Learn how to dig deep and stay on track; how to cut, sharpen and polish; and where to send the work you want to share with the world.

Creative Travel Writing

“What am I doing here?” was the late travel writer Bruce Chatwin’s guiding question. Creative travel writing, as practised by such noted writers as Bill Bryson, Mary Morris, and Paul Theroux, is more than a catalogue of places visited, buses missed, and cathedrals toured. It is the story of the author's relationship to place; it is both outer and inner journey. In this workshop you will be taken through exercises designed to trigger memory, sharpen your powers of observation, and create travel stories and articles using techniques borrowed from the craft of fiction: characterization, description, dialogue, etc. Beginning writers are welcome.

Genre and Specialty Writing

Writing for The Children’s Market

This lively workshop is jam-packed with concrete advice, gossip about the industry, and anecdotal information. We move from picture book to young adult novel, non-fiction to science fiction, with many stops along the way. The works of well-known Canadian authors are studied to deconstruct the writer’s craft, and each student is encouraged to read aloud their own works in progress. By the end of the session, you will have the tools to tackle your children's book and a thorough understanding of the wonderful world of children's lit. Beginning writers welcome.

Beyond Writing Romance Novels

Writing commercial fiction for women doesn't mean writing a cliché romance novel. Thanks to novelists like Diana Gabaldon, Janet Evanovich, and Helen Fielding, modern romantic fiction has expanded to include chick lit, mystery, suspense, comedy, family sagas, and more. If you’re interested in writing commercial fiction for women, this course will help you understand where you want to go within the genre and how to get there. Using building blocks of fiction (characterization, view point, dialogue, character arc, conflict, etc.), you’ll learn how to develop a story that will grab an editor’s attention and hold on until the happy ending. Beginning writers welcome.

Writing Television Situation Comedy

This course teaches the craft of writing for today’s television situation comedies. Scripts of classic and current shows are analyzed for form and style, but the primary goal is for each student to complete an original script for an existing show. He or she will participate in the entire process, beginning with the story pitch, on to the outline and through the various stages of writing and rewriting, ending with the final round-table polish. This project-oriented course gives the student a sense of the TV sitcom workplace. Beginning writers welcome.

Works in Progress: A Ten-Month Workshop
This is a highly participatory workshop series in the Novel, Short Fiction, and Personal Non-Fiction, designed for those who have already taken one or more writing courses at Ryerson and who would like to meet regularly with their instructor and colleagues to receive ongoing feedback on their work.

The first session (1 1/2 hours) will be devoted to discussing the format of sessions and establishing a submission schedule. Subsequent sessions will be 2 1/2 hours in length.

Over the course of 10 sessions, each participant will have the opportunity to submit several pieces of work. Where appropriate, manuscripts will provide the basis for review of style elements learned in the introductory courses.

Participants will be responsible for bringing to class enough copies of their work for each class member and the instructor. Instructors will only review materials presented in class.

Class size will be limited to 12.

Writing

Whether you’re a budding novelist or a seasoned scribe, you’ll find a wide range of fascinating and enriching opportunities to hone your skills and expand your repertoire. Study in class or online – either way, you’ll be part of a dynamic writing community.

 Writers and the New Media CWWR 369
This hands-on course is for writers who want to create and maintain a website featuring their own work. You will learn web authoring software (such as Dreamweaver), design a site made up of several pages, get a domain name and server, and post your site to the web. There will be time during class to work on your web pages. We will examine usability and design issues, web strategy, and web presence. Homework will include bringing in content for your site such as your bio, written material, photos, and links. The goal of this course is to have a website completed and online by the end of the course.

Note: Instructor: Lewis DeSoto. To find out more about your instructor, see the Writing Workshop Instructor Biographies.

The Writer’s Tools CWWR 400
Every passage of writing uses a number of essential elements: the point of view, verb tense, what will be exposition and what will be action (telling and showing), necessary descriptions, suitable rhythms of sentences and paragraphs, and how much to reveal to the reader and how much to withhold. Using students’ exercises and analyses of passages from the world’s literature, students will gain an understanding of how to structure and improve their own work.

“Don’t tell me the moon is shining; show me the glint of light on broken glass.” -Anton Chekhov
The course includes thoughtful discussion of the elements of novel writing: inspiration and the sustaining of ideas, plotting, setting, character, and point of view. Students will receive feedback on their work from both the class and the teacher. Each class will be structured around writing exercises to build practical skills, a discussion of student manuscripts, as well as a lesson on important facets of narrative technique. Students will learn how to build a novel narrative (a novel outline) and how to write scenically (one strong chapter). Beginning writers welcome.

❖ Short Fiction and Novel Writing - Level III CWWR 425
The focus of this workshop will be rewriting; learning to look at a manuscript critically, with an eye toward developing the story or novel’s potential. Participants will present at least three chapters or stories from a work-in-progress for discussion and evaluation. Objectives will include strengthening structure, narrative drive, deepening characterization, trimming exposition, and intensifying scenes. Participants will be encouraged to experiment, to make mistakes, to scratch out, and, if necessary, to start over. Rewriting is often perceived as difficult, but anything can be changed, shaped, and reshaped. This workshop will communicate to its participants that there is no fear in rewriting, only promise.
