IMPORTANT TERMS

This glossary explains some of the academic and administrative terms you will come across in the program and course information outlined in this publication. For further information, visit www.ryerson.ca/ce/glossary.

Antirequisite
Students may not enroll in a course that lists, as an antirequisite, one which they are currently taking or have already taken and obtained standing. Antirequisites are typically created because the course content is too similar to another.

Area of Interest
This term refers to the grouping of career-oriented programming in various subjects of study.

Career
A grouping of all academic work undertaken by a student. At Ryerson there are three careers: Continuing Education (CNED), Undergraduate (UGRD), and Graduate (GRAD).

Certificate Program
A certificate program consists of six (6) to ten (10) single-term courses that provide post-secondary level studies in specific career-related areas and result in the awarding of a Ryerson certificate at the successful completion of all courses.

Challenge Credit
An evaluation process whereby a student can earn academic credit for learning and experience outside of the traditional post-secondary environment. See Challenge Credits at www.ryerson.ca/ce for more information.

Corequisite
You must take Course X prior to, or concurrently with, Course Y.

Course Hours
The hours associated with a given course may include lecture hours, seminar hours, laboratory hours, and hours that need to be scheduled to allocate resources for such course-related activities as unsupervised studio and laboratory work, internship, and independent study.

Course Numbers
All courses offered through The G. Raymond Chang School of Continuing Education have a unique course ID beginning with the letter “C” followed by three letters and three numbers. The three letters following the “C” indicate the subject area (e.g., ACC for Accounting courses) and the catalog numbers identify the specific course. Multi-term courses have a two-digit catalog number followed by “A/B” (e.g., CBLG 10A/B).

Many, but not all, continuing education courses are the same as those offered in Ryerson full- and/or part-time programs (e.g., CACC 100 and ACC 100) and will be automatically used towards certificate graduation requirements, if applicable. The Chang School also offers courses that may be equivalent to courses offered in full- and/or part-time degree programs; these are designated as “Certificate And Degree Credit” and may require a course substitution in order to be used towards certificate graduation requirements. As well, The Chang School also offers courses that are specifically for certificate credit which do not have a full- or part-time degree course equivalency and therefore cannot be used towards degree program requirements. See also Course Series below. The credit designation of each course is clearly indicated under the course title, and equivalencies (if applicable) are stated at the end of the course description.

Course Series
A program or grouping of two or more courses in a defined area of knowledge or skill, which, upon successful completion, may result in a recognition of achievement in the form of a Professional Development Award or an Academic Achievement Award. Published course series, when applicable, clearly indicate the type of recognition available upon completion and application procedures. It should be noted that while many courses within a course series are non-credit, some courses may carry the certificate and/or degree credit designation.

Course Substitution/Directive
The term given to substituting one Ryerson course for another course or for use in an elective group that is not part of the regular certificate curriculum. See Course Substitution/Directive at www.ryerson.ca/ce for more information.

Course Weight
A single-term course has a weight of 1.00. A multi-term course has a weight of 2.00. The weight of a course is used to determine the Grade Point Average (GPA). Variances from the above will appear in the individual course descriptions.

Department Consent
Permission from the teaching department is required before enrolling in some classes. See also Interviews/Placement Assessments.

Direct Entry
Students who have been admitted to designated undergraduate degree programs from qualifying programs at Colleges of Applied Arts and Technology (CAAT) may be eligible for enrollment in courses for which they would otherwise not have the correct prerequisites. These students should consult with the teaching department responsible for the course in question to determine if they are eligible to enroll in a course that specifies an “or Direct Entry” prerequisite exemption.
Elective Groups
You must select and successfully complete a predetermined number of courses within the group in order to meet program requirements.

Elective Sets
You must successfully complete all stated courses within the selected set in order to meet program requirements.

Formerly
A change in a course number or title only; equivalent to a prior numbered course.

Grade Point Average (GPA)
The average of all the grades received while registered in a certificate program. See Grade Point Averages at www.ryerson.ca/ce for more information.

Interviews/Placement Assessments
Some courses require you to take a placement assessment or attend an interview before you enroll. These sessions help ensure that your proposed course of study is appropriately matched with your present level of knowledge and learning goals. See Interviews/Placement Assessments at www.ryerson.ca/ce/openhouse for more information.

Liberal Studies (LL) (UL)
These are studies that develop the capacity to understand and appraise the social and cultural context in which the individual will work as a professional and live as an educated citizen. LL: Lower-level Liberal Studies course UL: Upper-level Liberal Studies course

Mature Students
Students who do not possess the published admission criteria for a Chang School certificate program may be eligible to register in that certificate program under the Chang School mature student category. To be eligible as a mature student for Chang School registration, students must be 21 years of age by December 31 of the year in which they will commence studies or have been away from formal education for at least two years; must meet stated prerequisite requirements for their certificate program; and where specified, must attend interviews and/or placement assessments.

The Chang School mature student definition applies to certificate programs as noted in the certificate program’s Admission Criteria. For specific information on undergraduate program mature student guidelines, please refer to the Undergraduate Calendar.

Online Identity
All continuing education students are required to maintain a Ryerson University personal email account which shall be an official means by which they will receive University communications. Your online identity will also allow you to log into my.ryerson.ca to check your grades, update personal information, and view your course schedule. To activate your Ryerson Online Identity, visit www.ryerson.ca/accounts.

Ontario Education Number (OEN)
This is the nine-digit student identification number assigned by the Ministry of Education to elementary and secondary school students across Ontario. The number is unique to every student and is used as the key identifier on a student's school records, and will follow the student through his or her elementary and secondary education.

The number of years normally given to complete graduation requirements. To graduate, you must successfully complete the published certificate curricula (that was in effect at the time you registered) within six years from the time you were first admitted into the certificate program.

Transfer Credit
